BROOKS WARNS AMERICA IS ON BRINK OF WAR

Blames Ship Convoy Propagandists.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 3.—American convoying of war materials to Britain means "fighting, shooting participation" in the European conflict—and the war may last from 3 to 30 years—Senator Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] declared here tonight.

Sen. Wayland Brooks.

In a denunciation of the "clever and deadly" propaganda campaign which has inched the country to the brink of war, Senator Brooks, who was himself wounded and decorated for bravery in the world war, asserted one thing was sure. That was the propagandists and the sons of many high in the government would not die when American boys went to watery graves.

Speaking before a Town Hall Forum of the Air meeting, which was broadcast on a national network, Brooks debated the question of American convoys with Ernest W. Gibson Jr., national chairman of The Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, the leading interventionist organization.

Australian Asks Questions.

Mrs. Linda Littlejohn, Australian feminist and a visitor in this country, took an active part in the question period from the floor following the debate. In an unmistakable British accent she recalled that Senator Brooks had said that convoying might risk lives of American boys and asked whether some things in life weren't worth the risk.

"Of course, I took a risk coming here and subjecting myself to these questions," replied Brooks amid laughter, "but I am not prepared to take the risk of sending our American boys 3,000 miles away to bring war home to us.

"If we send that flag of ours with our soldiers and our marines into that war zone, and they go down, then we'll declare war and Hitler won't have anything to say about it."

Replace White as Chairman.

Gibson replaced William Allen White, Kansas editor, as head of the committee several months ago when eastern backers of the group were infuriated because White said convoying meant war and "our organization and, I, personally, are deeply opposed to it."

Tonight, Gibson came out flat-footedly for the use of American ships manned by American sailors to see that war materials reached England. He argued the British Isles were our

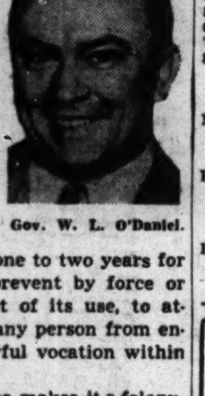
TEXAS LEGISLATURE MAKES VIOLENCE IN STRIKES A FELONY

Austin, Tex., April 3 [Special].—Without a dissenting vote the senate today passed Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's bill making violence during labor disputes a penal offense. The bill has passed the house and it now goes to the governor for signature.



Gov. W. L. O'Daniel.

Under the new law it is a felony punishable by imprisonment from one to two years for "any person to prevent by force or violence, or threat of its use, to attempt to prevent any person from engaging in any lawful vocation within this state."

The measure also makes it a felony, subject to the same penalty, "for any person acting in concert with one or more other persons, to assemble at or near any place where a labor dispute exists," or to promote, encourage, or aid any such assemblage.

DON'T MOLEST NONSTRIKERS, CIO IS WARNED

Company Accuses Communist Party.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Pictures on back page.)

Detroit, Mich., April 3.—United States District Judge Arthur J. Tuttle issued a temporary injunction tonight restraining the CIO United Automobile Workers' union from interfering with operation of the strikebound Ford Motor company plant or molesting Ford employés. The communist party, a codefendant in the petition for the writ, was not included in the restraining order.

Judge Arthur Tuttle.

Whether an attempt will be made, in view of this court action, to open the motor plant, with its $150,000,000 in armament orders, remained to be seen. Ford representatives were in conference tonight with Federal Labor Conciliator James F. Dewey. They agreed yesterday not to try to operate during mediation. Emerging from the conference, Dewey said progress was being made.

Plea Against Communists.

Attorney Frank Nolan, representing the Ford company, said that the petition for a restraining order against the communist party can be renewed next Tuesday in a hearing to make the writ permanent. At that time evidence can also be introduced, he said, in support of an allegation in the petition that the 500 million dollar manufacturing property has been damaged to the extent of $1,000,000 by the strike.

"I think this is a great emergency," Judge Tuttle said. "When thousands of people gather and blockade roads it is time we showed it to be an emergency, and every one, plaintiff, defendants, and every one else, should do everything they can to end it."

Terms of Injunction.

The injunction forbids the CIO and its UAW affiliate from:

1. "Interfering, by threats, intimidations or otherwise," with any employés of the company.

2. Molesting or disturbing employés "in the quiet and peaceable pursuit of their lawful vocations."

3. Preventing ingress, egress, and regress of employés to the plant.

4. Molesting or disturbing "any person or persons having business" with the company or its officers, directors, agents, or employés.

5. "Maintaining barricades upon the highways and across the entrances of said plants."

6. "Intimidating, coercing, or humiliating" any officers, etc., "or assaulting or offering to do violence" to any officers, etc.

Statement by CIO.

The CIO issued a statement charging that Ford's court action was "a clear and deliberate violation of its pledge to the governor to make no attempt to reopen the plant during mediation." The statement further charged that the company was in court without clean hands, that it was responsible for picket line violence, and that Dearborn [industrial suburb] police were in league with factory strong-arm men.

"The injunction," said the statement "is an attempt to injure the morale of the strikers. We'll move to dissolve the writ tomorrow."

Petition by AFL.

The possibility of an attempt to reopen the plant was enhanced by a request by American Federation of Labor representatives this afternoon to the motor company and Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner for permission and protection to return to work. The AFL group, at a meeting with the governor's mediation board, claimed to represent a majority of the 85,000 men at the Ford factory.

Dewey this afternoon personally inspected CIO picketing at gates of the 1,200 acre plant. Conditions were quiet as compared with yesterday's localized clashes in which a score or more persons were stabbed or beaten. There were two casualties this morning. One man was struck on the head with a baseball bat and another was stabbed.

U. S. SEIZING HAIR WAVER AS POISON

Lotion Blamed for Death; Survey Beauty Shops.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—Inspectors of the food and drug administration were ordered on a nation-wide search tonight to track down and seize shipments of a preparation for heatless waving of hair, which, it is charged, caused the death of a socially prominent woman in Atlanta, Ga.

Beauty parlors thruout the nation, including those of highest reputation, were ordered surveyed for supplies of the product after its contents were found to be poisonous, and a warning was issued thru the press against use of the liquid in what is known as the Willat method of heatless hair waving.

Beauty Shops Raided.

Dr. P. B. Dunbar, assistant commissioner of the food and drug administration, announced tonight that two raids were made on beauty shops in the capital today.

This action was taken after the District of Columbia federal District court issued an order to the United States marshal to seize the preparation in the district. The action was instituted by the food and drug administration.

Some lots of the preparation are also being analyzed in Chicago and other large cities by local offices of the administration.

Some consignments of the waving solution are expected to be taken in Atlanta tomorrow, Dunbar said. The first reported fatality from use of the treatment occurred there in the death of Mrs. Agnes Scott Searcy, her physician ascribing death to "acute hydrogen sulfide poisoning," which apparently had entered the blood stream thru lesions in the scalp. Dr. Dunbar said Mrs. Searcy had just recovered from measles and had scars or lesions thru which the poison was absorbed.

Three Agree on Cause.

Three Atlanta physicians, in the Journal of the American Medical association published this week, also reported on the Atlanta death, describing the symptoms and giving

Bengazi Abandoned by British; Nazis Claim Foe in Full Retreat

A 'Strategic' Action

CAIRO, April 4, Friday (AP).—British general headquarters announced early today that the army of the Nile had withdrawn from Bengazi, important Libyan seaport, but had inflicted "considerable casualties on personnel and tanks" of axis mechanized forces.

A headquarters communique said:

"In the face of the determined advance by strong Italo-German forces, using numerous tanks, and in pursuance of the policy so successfully adopted at Sidi Barrani of waiting to choose our own battleground, our light covering detachments have been withdrawn to selected concentration areas.

[The Italians took Sidi Barrani last Sept. 17 after a swift offensive, but the drive stalled there for months. The British recaptured it on Dec. 11.]

Captured Stores Destroyed.

"In the course of this withdrawal the town of Bengazi has been evacuated after all captured military stores and equipment had been destroyed.

"Bengazi is indefensible from a military point of view and it has not been used by us as a port.

"As in the autumn of 1940 the enemy is evidently seeking propaganda success at the expense of stretching still farther an already extended line of communications."

[London dispatches said the abandonment of Bengazi jolted the British public. It was estimated Germany has three motorized divisions in Libya (perhaps as many as 45,000 troops).]

Give Up "Worthless Desert."

An earlier British announcement had said imperial forces had given up the town of Agedabia, some 80 miles south of Bengazi, and "between 75 and 80 miles of worthless desert."

Bengazi was captured by the British on Feb. 7 after a 61 day drive from Egypt which carried the British forces west of El Agheila, 180 miles down the coast from Bengazi.

British officers at the middle east headquarters today were optimistic about the prospects of an early finish to the East African campaign.

A British unit driving westward along the Awash river valley from Diredawa, Ethiopia, toward Addis Ababa claimed today the capture of Miesso, within 180 miles of the capital city.

A Blitz, Berlin Says

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 3.—The Italian-German offensive in Libya is developing into a "blitzkrieg," the Germans declared tonight after the scope of the German advance in Africa was made known. After smashing their way thru Agedabia, the Italian-German motorized divisions have reached a point some 20 miles northeast of Zuetina, about 60 miles south of Bengazi.

"For the first time since the battle of Flanders the Germans and British have crossed swords on a larger scale," the Germans declared. "The British were routed."

The number of prisoners, tanks, and other equipment captured was stated to be "considerable, but our own casualties were exceptionally low," a communique said.

"Still in Full Retreat."

The British Libyan forces, according to the Germans, are still in full retreat to the north and to the coast, where they are supported by their navy's guns.

The British-German encounters in Libya took place wholly between motorized forces, which were exclusively employed by both sides. "It was a tank battle," the Germans said. The Germans claim that their tanks and other war materials, as well as the training and standard of the German tank crews, proved superior to the British. The advance of the German columns was reported heavily supported by Italian and German air squadrons.

The Germans assert that the advance was the more remarkable because German troops are accustomed to neither the climate nor to the terrain of Africa.

Writes of Italy's "Sorrow."

ROME, April 3 (AP).—Italy's "sorrow at Eritrea and Ethiopia"—apparently a substantial admission of the imminent fall of all East Africa—was publicly acknowledged today in preparing the people for news of further "painful losses" to the British imperial armies.

Writing in Premier Mussolini's own newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia of Milan, the Fascist military commentator, Mario Appelius, reported that 300,000 British soldiers "flanked by Haile Selassie's savage hordes and aided by formidable armament and abundant aviation" were now stabbing Ethiopia from 13 directions.

Woman Tells of Air Crash in Florida Storm

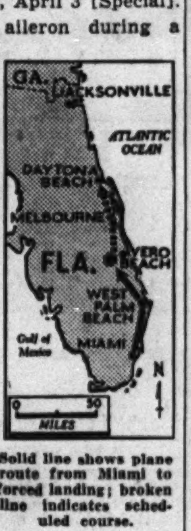
Vero Beach, Fla., April 3 [Special].—Failure of an aileron during a severe storm forced down an Eastern Air Lines plane with 16 aboard in a swamp near this east Florida coast town this morning. This was the explanation given by Capt. Gerald O'Brien, pilot of the ship, to Mrs. George W. Crile, according to the story she told when passengers and crew were rescued from the mud and water late tonight.



Solid line shows plane route from Miami to forced landing; broken line indicates scheduled course.

O'Brien, who suffered a broken leg and other injuries when the plane was forced down during a terrific storm, lapsed into unconsciousness shortly before the rescue and could not be questioned on his arrival at the hospital here.

None of the passengers was critically injured but bore marks of the crash. Among them were Mrs. Crile's husband, the famous Cleveland surgeon, and Mrs. James M. Cox Jr., daughter-in-law of the former governor of Ohio and Democratic Presidential nominee in 1920.

Heads for Daytona Beach.

The plane left Miami on a run of 170 miles to Daytona Beach this morning and stopped at West Palm Beach to pick up two passengers. It was last reported at 8:57 a. m., when it flew over Fort Pierce, 60 miles north of West Palm Beach. The exact time of the crash was not known, but the ship's normal gasoline supply deadline passed at 1:20 p. m.

The ship was located by searching planes about 10 hours later. Guides from a fishing camp on the mainland hurried to the rescue in 15 flat-bottomed boats. They were compelled to row five miles to reach the craft mired in mud and water.

Dr. and Mrs. Crile, both suffering from broken ribs and lacerations, were the first victims brought to the mainland. They were taken to the Vero Beach hospital, where Mrs. Crile, exhibiting a black eye and complaining of a slight back injury, told of the crash. She said:

"I don't think any one is critically hurt. The pilot is apparently the worst injured. He suffered a broken leg and other injuries. He lapsed into unconsciousness several minutes prior to the rescue. The steward is badly cut but not seriously.

Bearings Lost.

"Shortly after leaving Palm Beach we ran into the most terrible storm I have ever seen and I have flown tens of thousands of miles. The plane was tossed around and we didn't know where we were for awhile. The blankets and cushions flew about the cabin and the tossing was so severe we didn't even know when we were going down.

"The plane hit with a terrific crash in the mud and water. There was no panic. The conduct of the crew was superb. The water poured in the open windows and we have been sitting in it up to our hips all day long.

"Immediately after the crash several of the men got outside in the mud but the women stayed in the plane.

Jarred from Seats.

"It was so black outside when the plane landed that we did not know we had hit the ground until we were jarred from our seats.

"Everyone was very sane. There was no crying. The captain was magnificent."

Mrs. Crile was unable to explain what Capt. O'Brien meant by failure of the aileron, altho she said she understood it occurred during a sharp turn in the midst of the storm. After the plane crashed it remained upright, Mrs. Crile said, but both motors were torn off, the landing gear smashed, and the wings damaged.

WAR PREDICTED BETWEEN NAZIS AND JUGO-SLAVS

Belgrade Blacks Out in Fear of Raids.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, April 4, Friday (AP).—The Jugo-Slav government early today designated Belgrade, Zagreb, and Ljubljana as open cities in the event of a war which departing German diplomats freely predicted would begin, barring the most unexpected developments, with air attacks in the next few days. Some Germans even said that armed conflict might be only a few hours distant.

Vladimir Macek.

Altho hoping to escape a rain of Nazi bombs, Belgrade just before midnight blacked out for the first time in a half hour emergency air raid drill.

Call Special Cabinet Session.

The Jugo-Slav cabinet was summoned into extraordinary session today to consider a long awaited declaration of foreign policy on which diplomatic circles expected the question of war or peace with the axis would depend.

As 42 members of the German legation left for Berlin in an ordinary day coach, one of them disclosed that their last official act was to buy sandbags to protect German buildings from the Nazi bombs "which probably soon will be dropping."

Belgrade, the national capital of more than 270,000 population, is scarcely 50 miles from the Rumanian frontier, where German troops and planes are massed.

Near Hungarian Border.

Zagreb, a city of 185,000 and capital of old Croatia, is about the same distance from the German concentrations on the Hungarian border, and Ljubljana, chief city of old Slovenia, is barely 20 miles from the Italian frontier. It has a population of 79,000.

For the practice blackout, master switches extinguished every electric light in Belgrade, and even cut off telephone service. Traffic was paralyzed. Authorities in Zagreb ordered householders to make shelters of their cellars quickly and issued other invasion instructions.

Communities in the vital Vardar river valley, which a German southward thrust toward Greece would follow, began all night blackouts. The army began requisitioning big resort hotels for use as hospitals.

New Charges of Terrorism.

The German radio hurled new charges of terrorism against Jugo-Slavia, and this country in turn dropped its polite tones to slap back.

In this atmosphere, white haired Vladimir Macek, the leader of the powerful Croat minority, accepted the Jugo-Slav vice premiership in the cabinet of Gen. Dusan Simovitch to establish national unity.

Macek expressed confidence that peace was still possible with Croats and Serbs thus united to face the common peril. Most persons, however, said war with Germany was inevitable and imminent.

Named Serb Army Chief.

White haired Peter Bojavitch, who led the Serbian army that defeated Bulgaria in the second Balkan war in 1913, was named inspector general [commander in chief] of the Jugo-Slav army.

Dimitrije Zhivkovitch was designated as the likely director of Jugo-Slav field operations.

Diplomatic reports from German occupied countries told of massing of Nazi troops which indicated the German general staff is planning four definite thrusts if war comes:

1. A sweep down from Hungary and old Austria thru the comparatively flat Banat district of northeast Jugo-Slavia toward Belgrade.

2. A drive west from Rumania thru the frontier town of Vrsac in an attempt to take Belgrade within two days.

3. A heavy force sent northwest from Bulgaria to attempt the capture of the vital rail junction of Nish.

4. The main attack, from southern Bulgaria thru the mountain passes westward to try to seize Skoplje and get to the Albanian frontier to keep the Jugo-Slavs from driving the Italians into the Adriatic.

ITALIAN NAVAL POWER BELIEVED BROKEN IN BATTLE

Trace Strategy in Fight with British Fleet.

American naval experts believe that Italy's sea power was broken by the British Mediterranean battle fleet in the action fought in the Ionian sea west of Crete on March 28 in black night.

Final tabulations yesterday set the British bag at three Italian cruisers and three destroyers known to be sunk, with the possibility that another cruiser and the 35,000 ton battleship Vittorio Veneto also went to the bottom. The British came thru unscathed.

Information from the British admiralty, from the RAF, from the story of refugees and from Rome dispatches, as well as reports to the United States navy department in Washington indicate the chronology of the big naval battle to have been as follows:

The 10,000 ton cruisers Pola, Zara, and Fiume, based at Pola steamed out of the Adriatic with a destroyer escort. One report in Washington was to the effect that this action was at the urging of the Nazis. This squadron effected a rendezvous on the 27th of March in the Ionian sea off Cape Passero, Sicily, with heavier Italian units and escort vessels which had come either from Sardinia or Spezia, on the west coast of Italy.

Divided Into Two Sections.

As the Italian fleet steamed eastward toward Crete, it divided into two sections: the southern group consisting of the Vittorio Veneto, the Pola, Zara, and Fiume, and several destroyers, among them the 1,729 ton Vincenzo Gioberti and Vittorio Alfieri, and the 1,449 ton Maestrale, while there were two battleships and several cruisers and destroyers to the north in the second section.

All told, there were three Italian battleships, nine cruisers, and 14 destroyers in the two groups of warships. The British never joined action with the northern section. The action was between the British war ships and the southern group of Italian ships.

The sister ships from Pola had been traced down the Adriatic by British scout planes, and a British submarine on patrol off Sicily was reported to have signaled word to Alexandria when the Italian squadron was sighted off Cape Passero.

Lured by Cruiser Orion.

The British destroyer Orion was in the Ionian sea. Supposedly on orders from Alexandria it made contact with the Italian southern squadron and for four hours lured it east and south toward the British fleet steaming at top speed from Alexandria.

The British force consisted of the 30,600 ton battleships Warspite and Valiant, the 31,100 ton Barham, the new aircraft carrier Formidable, and at least eight destroyers. While the full Italian fleet was evenly matched with the British, half of the Fascist units were out of contact with the remainder and did not figure in the battle.

Torpedo planes from the Formidable opened the action in the evening by scoring three hits on the Vittorio Veneto, which was 30 miles from the main British fleet. Its speed was cut from a possible 32 knots to a limping 15. British light units raced after the damaged ship and made a circling movement at full speed, but failed to contact the big battleship. Whether it escaped or sank has not been stated authoritatively.

The lighter Italian units had fled at the start of the torpedo plane attack, but the engine room and gun controls of the Pola were blasted by an aerial torpedo and it was rendered helpless. Then the other Italian ships which had outdistanced the British attempted under cover of darkness to return and assist the Pola.

The British, prowling with all lights blacked out, got word from the lookout about 10 p. m. that a line of darkened ships was on the starboard bow. These were the Pola and the returned Italian vessels.

Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham brought his ships around in battle line, so that the British line was about to pass the Italians on a parallel line in the opposite direction. The night was so dark, according to captive Italian survivors, the Italians were unaware that the British had come up with them.

Three Battleships Open Fire.

Suddenly the British switched on searchlights and fired star shells. The Italian vessels were fixed in the light at a range of three or four miles. The three British battleships, all hurling broadsides of 15 inch shells within 4 minutes and 6 seconds, ripped the Fiume, Zara, Gioberti, and Maestrale wide open. The Italian vessels didn't fire a shot.

The Italian ships that did not sink immediately were finished off by British destroyers which closed in and torpedoed them. The Greyhound, Jervis, and Havock were prominent in the action.

Admiral Cunningham turned away after Italian torpedoes endangered his big ships. Another Italian cruiser of the 5,069 Bande Nere class may have been sunk in this part of the action while attempting to escape under a smoke screen.

Perhaps Fought Each Other.

Later that night the retiring British saw flashes on the horizon and heard detonations. They surmised that the remaining light Italian units had come up in the darkness on the damaged Vittorio Veneto, and that both, mistakenly believing the other to be British craft, had fought each other.

Survivors from the cruiser Vittorio Alfieri were picked up later, but it is still undisclosed whether the ship was sunk in this final catastrophic combat or whether it went down under British fire after the unsuccessful attempt to torpedo the British battleships.

HUNGARIAN CHIEF TAKES LIFE OVER 'HOPELESS' TASK

Teleki Sought Check on Nazi Influence.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 3 (AP).—Count Paul Teleki, the premier who aligned Hungary with the axis but fought to keep her from falling completely under German domination, was found dead in bed today. Authoritative sources said he had put a bullet thru his brain.

Most Hungarians agreed that the man they knew as the great tight rope walker took his life because he could not continue his precarious balancing act.

He left farewell notes to his invalid wife and to the Hungarian regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy.

Impossible to Hold Out.

There were reports that in the note to Horthy he detailed his feeling that Hungary no longer could hold out against German domination and that his two year efforts had failed.

[The Swiss telegraphic agency said the note explained that "he no longer felt himself capable of fulfilling his difficult and unhappy task."]

Teleki was reported to have told the cabinet last night: "The future is hopeless."

The foreign office at first said the statesman, who was 62 years old, died of a heart attack, but friends said he had taken poison, and subsequent reports said he shot himself in the head.

Appoint New Premier.

Foreign Minister Dr. Laszlo de Bardossy was designated as premier to form a government succeeding that of Teleki, which resigned when Teleki's death became known.

Teleki, a gentle, retiring scholar and Boy Scoutmaster, went to church with his scouts Wednesday afternoon, held a cabinet meeting last night, and then visited his wife in a sanitarium before going home to write his farewell notes. Servants found his body this morning.

Two Murder, Inc., Slayers Get 2d Death Sentence

New York, April 3 (AP).—For the second time in less than a year, a Kings county jury tonight convicted two Brooklyn Murder, Inc., operatives of first degree murder in the slaying of a police informer. The convicted men are Harry [Happy] Malone and Frank [The Dasher] Abbandando, charged with the slaying of George Rudnick, whose stabbed body was found in a garage May 24, 1937.

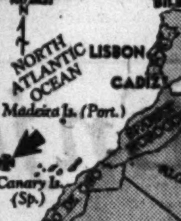
SHARKS DEVOUR MANY AS BRITISH VESSEL IS SUNK

Survivors Tell of Horrors Seen from Life Rafts.

SANTA CRUZ, Tenerife, Canary Islands, April 3 (AP).—The sinking of the 8,799 ton British steamer Britannia was disclosed today by survivors who arrived here and told of seeing scores of their companions devoured by sharks as they struggled in the water.



Arrow indicates where ship was sunk.

The ship was sunk by a German warship on March 24, and the survivors were picked up five days later by the Spanish steamer Cabo Hornos, 700 miles off the African coast.

There were 77 survivors, who reported the Britannia was carrying 480 soldiers in addition to other passengers when it was sunk.

The Cabo Hornos left Buenos Aires on March 17 with 40 passengers for Cadiz and Bilbao, Spain.

Sight Survivors on Rafts.

At 5 p. m. on March 29 its lookouts sighted a raft bearing three survivors from the Britannia. The survivors said five companions had been pulled from the narrow raft by sharks.

A little later seven more of the sunken ship's crew were found on another raft.

Passengers on the Cabo Hornos said that the occupants of still another raft were so overjoyed at the sight of their rescuers that one of them thrust a leg into the water to help the raft along and a shark tore it off.

The survivors said the German ship which halted the Britannia gave the passengers and crew a half hour to abandon ship. Later a shot from the raider destroyed the Britannia's radio and another put a hole in the prow which sank the ship.

Count Up Atlantic Toll.

BERLIN, April 3 (AP).—The German navy operating in the Atlantic sank 367,800 tons of British merchant shipping from March 16 to 23, informed circles reported today. The sinkings were shared by German battleship units and submarines, it was said.

Former U. S. Ship Sunk.

New York, April 3 (AP).—Marine circles said today they had received a report that the 5,759 ton British freighter Western Chief, formerly an American ship, had been torpedoed off the Irish coast while en route to New York in ballast.

BERLIN PAPERS HURL A UNITED BLAST AT U. S.

BERLIN, April 4, Friday (AP).—Berlin morning papers, with a unanimity indicating orders from "higher ups," attacked the United States today for returning escaped German prisoners of war to Canadian authorities.

Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter said: "The government of the United States established a record for violating international law. . . ."

[Two German naval officers, Lieuts. Bernhardt Gohlke and Heinz Rottman, escaped recently from old Fort Henry in Canada, were intercepted at the border and returned to Canadian officials by United States immigration authorities, who denied them admission.]

BRANDS SEAWAY PLAN AN OLD PET IN NEW REGALIA

Washington, D. C., April 3 (AP).—Representative James E. Van Zandt [R., Pa.] denounced the St. Lawrence seaway proposal tonight as an old "political pet" clothed in "new regalia—the armor of national defense."

In a radio speech Van Zandt said thousands of coal miners, railroad employés, and American seamen would lose their jobs, and ridiculed statements that the waterway would aid defense. He declared the country is being led to believe the seaway is strongly supported by Canadians.

"It is common knowledge that not only high government officials in Canada, but the people in general, have opposed this project for years as being economically unsound," said the Pennsylvanian.

BRANCH OFFICE ROBBED.

Theft of a safe containing $127 and of sewing machines and vacuum cleaners worth $800 was reported to police yesterday by Michael Wiezien, manager of the Singer Sewing Machine company branch office at 3349 26th street.

BRITISH SMOOTH OVER GIBE AT U. S. IN AIRCRAFT BOOK

Hit Claim U. S. Will Help 'to the Last Englishman.'

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 3.—What for a time seemed to be reaching the importance of an "international incident" was deflated today after a storm had been raised in the British press over a statement in the new issue of "Jane's All the World's Aircraft" that America would assist Britain financially "to the last Englishman."

While government heads admitted the statement was "inimical to the friendly relations existing between Britain and the United States," the ministries of aircraft production and information said the publication had no official backing and that the publishers are recalling all the copies to remove the "offensive sentence."

The Phrase in Question."

The phrase in question appears in the historical service aviation section of Jane's Aircraft under a photograph of a Lockheed-Hudson plane being drawn along by two horses. The caption reads, "American Express," and underneath the following appears:

"Delivering Lockheed-Hudson air liner bombers across the border from the United States to Canada. Horse traction was used in the early part of the war because the flying of warplanes between the two countries was regarded as nonneutral. Since then the United States has decided to support the war financially 'to the last Englishman' and preparations are being made to fly 'Flying Fortresses' direct to England."

American correspondents attempting to send this yesterday discovered there was a censor's ban on the news, altho it was mentioned in British papers this morning. The foreign office was understood to have put on a temporary ban lest it impair Anglo-American relations at a particularly important period. Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production, were said to have been furious over the statement.

Aimed at Isolationists.

Replying to the critics, C. G. Grey, joint editor of Jane's Aircraft, who wrote the offending caption, stated:

"The caption was written and passed for publication just before or after Christmas, when the lease-lend bill had not been heard of and all we had was the assurance that America would give all assistance short of war. The difference between all assistance short of war and financing the war to the last Englishman is not very wide, in my opinion. I used the expression ironically at the expense of American isolationists."

The London News Chronicle said Grey's writings before the war had been "notable for their admiration of the Nazis in general and of the Luftwaffe [air force] in particular."

TWO ARE SEIZED BY CUBANS AS SPIES FOR AXIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAMAGUEY CITY, Cuba, April 3.—Two American citizens, Otto Mayer Mosley of West Frankfort, Ill., and his niece, Ennice Lipowac Tomic of Iowa, were arrested today and charged with being spies for Germany and Italy. The two denied the charges but were jailed after police said a search of their homes had yielded several maps of the American naval base at Guantanamo, other maps of several bases and harbors in Oriente province, and a map of Nuevitas harbor in Camaguey province.

Several letters written in German and Italian and addressed to officials in Germany and Italy also were found, police said.

Unknown in West Frankfort.

West Frankfort, Ill., April 3 [Special].—An Otto Mayer Mosley is not known here, but police said they knew of an Otto Mayer whose middle name they believe is Mosley. He formerly worked as a clerk in the postoffice here, and often took winter trips to Mexico, Panama, and other southern countries.

Leahy Goes to Marseilles as U. S. Mercy Ship Arrives

VICHY, France, April 3.—Admiral William D. Leahy, the American ambassador, left Vichy tonight for Marseilles. While there he will inquire into the distribution of the cargo of the freighter Exmouth which arrived today with milk, clothing, and medical supplies for the residents of unoccupied France. The ship was under charter of the American Red Cross. Before leaving, Admiral Leahy conferred for half an hour with Chief of State Petain.

Spring Valley, Ill., April 3 [Special].—Joseph Flenghi, 66, gas station operator for 18 years, died today following a cerebral hemorrhage.

GERMANS LAUNCH SHARP NIGHT AIR RAIDS ON BRITAIN

LONDON, April 4, Friday (AP).—German bombers sharply attacked a west country sector for several hours last night and early today and subjected London to two night alarms without bombing the capital. Other raiders fanned out over Wales.

The night raids followed scattered daylight attacks in which three raiders were downed. The air ministry reported that British planes had scored bomb hits Wednesday on two armed merchant ships off the Netherlands coast and left one of the vessels sinking. The RAF bombed Brest, France, tonight.

Sink Ships in British Waters.

BERLIN, April 3 (AP).—The high command announced today that two ships of 4,000 tons were sunk yesterday and six others "so severely damaged that their loss is apparent" in waters around the British Isles.

Britain Rejects Proposal to Banish Horse Racing

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 3.—Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, today refused to suspend horse racing for the duration of the war, despite a complaint from a member of parliament that "the shortage of feeding stuffs necessitated the slaughter of large numbers of hens and pigs." Morrison said that a decision to "close down racing altogether" would be a very serious action to take against "an industry of some importance."

IODINE VICTIM TREATED.

John Green of Washington, D. C., assigned to duty at Scott field, near East St. Louis, was treated at County hospital yesterday after he swallowed poison in the Union station. Police turned him over to army authorities at Fort Sheridan.

FAIL TO LOCATE TWO AMERICANS SEIZED BY NAZIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 3.—At 5 p. m. today the American consulate said that two American citizens had "not yet been located" since last night's raids by German police.

The two still missing were John Wesley Welch, described as a young American Negro student of music from New York, and another young student named Cavanaugh, a graduate of Yale in the class of 1935, and reputedly from California. The American consulate is trying to locate them.

AXIS' PROTESTS ON SHIP SEIZURE REJECTED BY U. S.

Hull Cites International Law for Action.

Washington, D. C., April 4, Friday (AP).—The United States has flatly rejected German and Italian protests against the seizure of 30 merchant vessels in American harbors, it was learned authoritatively today, and refused axis demands for release of the ships and 875 crew members now in custody.

The state department notes—dismissing the allegations made in protests from Dr. Hans Thomsen, the German chargé d'affaires, and Prince Colonna, the Italian ambassador—were drafted late yesterday, and are understood to have been dispatched during the night.

Reaffirms U. S. Rights.

In rejecting the axis protests Secretary Cordell Hull was reported to have reaffirmed vigorously the right of the United States to take the axis vessels into "protective custody" after discovery that at least 26 vessels had been seriously damaged in what officials believed was a concerted sabotage plot.

The notes also were understood to have cited precedents in international and domestic law for the course pursued. This was in answer to the assertions of the axis powers that there was no justification in law or in treaties for the American action.

Diplomatic Problem

ASKS ATTACHE'S RECALL

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Admiral Lais.

Washington, D. C., April 3.—Diplomatic relations between the United States and Italy were near the breaking point tonight as a result of this government's demand for the immediate recall of Admiral Alberto Lais, Italian naval attaché, on the ground that he was connected with the sabotaging of Italian merchantment seized by this country last week.

Acting under explicit instructions from President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull sent a note to Prince Don Ascanio Colonna, Italian ambassador, designating the naval officer as "personna non grata" to this government.

The note bluntly stated that President Roosevelt had decided that the continued presence of Admiral Lais "would no longer be agreeable to this government."

Italian Retaliations Foreseen.

As Prince Colonna forwarded the note to the Italian foreign office, it was expected here the Italian government might retaliate by breaking off or curtailing diplomatic relations with the United States.

The Italian embassy refused to comment on the American action or the Italian government's probable course of action. The embassy met all inquiries with the statement it is awaiting instructions from Rome.

The drastic American action marked the first time since the world war that the United States has demanded a foreign diplomat's recall, except for a minor legation official involved in bootlegging in the dry area.

The last demand for recall of foreign diplomatic officials also involved a naval attaché and the action came in the critical days before this country's entrance into the last world conflict. A demand for recall of diplomatic officers led to severance of diplomatic relations with Germany in 1916.

On Dec. 1, 1916, Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador, was summoned to the state department by Secretary of State Robert Lansing and told that Capt. Karl Boy-Ed, German naval attaché, and Capt. Franz von Papen, military attaché, were "unacceptable" to the American government because they had been engaged in activities that "involved violations" of American laws.

Recall of these two officials was urged on President Wilson by Col. E. M. House, who occupied a position of intimacy at the White House at that time such as is now enjoyed by Harry L. Hopkins. On a secret mission to England as President Wilson's personal ambassador, Col. House had virtually pledged the British foreign office that the United States would enter the war on Britain's side.

The recall of Admiral Lais also was asked on the ground he had violated United States laws, presumably in instructing the crews of Italian merchantmen to damage the vessels which were taken into "protective custody" by this country last week.

Held Violation of 1917 Act.

It is the position of the state department that it is unlawful, under the 1917 espionage act, to cause or permit the damage or destruction of vessels detained in American waters by warfare. In some administration quarters it is argued that the sabotage attempts make the vessels subject to seizure and forfeiture to the government.

The recall demand came as government legal experts were considering all problems involved in the move by which this government took 69 German, Italian, and Danish ships into "protective custody" and the state department began drafting a note rejecting Italo-German demands for release of the vessels and their crews.

Admiral Lais, a veteran of the last war, has an American wife, the former Eleanor Sutton Evans of New York, who may have to choose between accompanying her husband to Italy on recall or remaining here.

Their daughter, Edna, who is active in the younger set of Washington society, makes no secret of her dislike of Fascism and has applied for American citizenship. A son, Lucio, is in the Italian naval academy at Leghorne. Admiral Lais came to his present post in January, 1940.

In announcing this government's action Secretary Hull made public this note to the Italian ambassador:

"Excellency: I have the honor to state that various facts and circumstances have come to the attention of the government of the United States connecting Admiral Alberto Lais, naval attaché of the royal Italian embassy, with commission by certain persons of acts in violation of the laws of the United States.

Cites President's View.

"The President has reached the conclusion that the continued presence of Admiral Lais as naval attaché of the embassy would no longer be agreeable to this government.

"The President has directed me, therefore, to notify your excellency that Admiral Lais is persona non grata to this government as naval attaché of the royal Italian embassy at Washington, and to request that your excellency's government withdraw him immediately from the United States.

"The royal Italian government will no doubt realize that the government of the United States has, in view of all the circumstances, no alternative course."

THREE OFFICERS OF BIG ITALIAN LINER ARRESTED

5 in Travel Agency Also Seized at Cristobal.

CRISTOBAL, Canal Zone, April 3 (AP).—United States Marshal John E. Hushing and military authorities today arrested and held without bail three officers of the 23,255 ton Italian liner Conte Biancamano and five members of the Italian steamship agency staff including the agent, Giovanni Bruni, who also is the Italian consul.

They were put in the Cristobal jail after the agency's offices and Bruni's quarters were searched. It was understood the ship's officers were held on a deportation order. It also was learned that military and health officials inspected and searched the Conte Biancamano, which was taken over by United States officials last week-end. It is planned to intern the crew at Balboa quarantine station.

Mexico Jails Italians.

TAMPICO, Mexico, April 3 (AP).—The captain and chief engineer of the scuttled Italian tanker Atlas were jailed tonight by federal police, who quoted the master as saying he carried fascist orders to "blow up" his ship if it ever was threatened with seizure. An agent of the federal attorney general's office said the two confessed responsibility for the sinking of the Atlas Monday night.

The Atlas was pumped out and refloated today, and examination showed the engine cylinder heads had been smashed with a sledge hammer.

May Keep Ships for Oil Debt.

In Mexico City a responsible foreign office source said Mexico has virtually decided to expropriate the 12 German and Italian ships under custody in Tampico and Vera Cruz harbors.

In return, this source asserted, Mexico would cancel German and Italian indebtedness to Mexico for prewar petroleum shipments. This debt has been unofficially estimated at around $12,000,000.

Believe Nazi Crews Captured.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, April 3.—It was believed virtually certain here tonight that the 130 members of the crews of the German steamers Hermonthis and Meunchen, which were discovered burning 200 miles off the Peruvian coast yesterday, had been transferred to the Canadian auxiliary steamer Prince Henry. The German vessels, which fled Callao harbor Monday, presumably were intercepted by the Prince Henry, dynamited, and set afire by their crews. Peruvian warcraft which located the burning wrecks, with no trace of their crews, returned to Callao today.

HELD BY U. S. FOR THEFT OF DESIGN OF PLANE PUMP

New York, April 3 [Special].—An alien who admitted to police that he had engaged in military espionage during the world war and had served as a secret agent for the French and Italian intelligence services in the capitals of Europe, was arrested today on charges of having stolen 1,500 blueprints of airplane pumps used on military aircraft.

The prisoner, J. Dutar de Benque, 55 years old, a native of France, who came to the United States in 1902, was seized in his furnished room. The blueprints were found in his possession, police said. He was locked up on a charge of grand larceny.

The blueprints were taken from the office of the Pump Engineering Service corporation last March 10. De Benque was acquainted with some of the people working in the office, and often visited it, the police said. Detectives learned that the blueprints had been checked in a public parcel room and traced to De Benque's room by a messenger who called there for the prints. De Benque denied he now is engaged in espionage.

British May Issue Stamp Hailing U. S. Co-Operation

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 3.—The house of commons today was told that the British postmaster would consider issuance of a "victory" stamp and also a commemoration stamp in celebration of coöperation between the British empire and the United States.

Ice Out of River

AMERICA FIRST SIGNS UP 100,000 NEW MEMBERS

More than 100,000 new members have been signed in the drive to bring one million persons into the Illinois America First committee, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman, announced yesterday.

"Membership cards are rolling into the office in response to letters sent members and persons who signed protest petitions against the war dictatorship bill," Mrs. Fairbank said. "We have sent 700,000 letters asking the recipients to get 10 new members each."

"We are concentrating all our efforts to organize the citizens of Illinois into a peace army. To do this we are holding numerous rallies under the auspices of units and chapters thruout the state."

Committee officials said they expect to enroll 500 members at the first major rally of the Lincoln Park chapter of the committee at 8 o'clock tonight. The Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor of law at the University of Notre Dame, will address the rally at 3730 North Clark street.

Senate Ratifies Treaty on Planes with Mexico

Washington, D. C., April 3 (AP).—The senate ratified today an agreement between the United States and Mexico for the transit of military planes across each other's territory. Approval came on a voice vote after a brief explanation of the agreement by Chairman Walter F. George [D., Ga.] of the foreign relations committee.

100 BACK OF YARDS GROUPS SUPPORT HOOVER FOOD AID

Herbert Hoover's plan to feed the small democracies of Europe was indorsed in a resolution yesterday by the Back of the Yards Neighborhood council, representing 80,000 persons in more than 100 civic organizations. Five churches, nine church organizations, five labor organizations, and numerous other groups voiced their support to the Midwest Committee on Food for the Small Democracies. The countries Hoover proposes to feed are Finland, Norway, Holland, Belgium, and Poland.

ITALIANS BOMB GREEK SEA BASE, SUPPLY CENTER

ROME, April 3 (AP).—Italian warplanes bombed the Greek naval base of Volos and the supply center of Florina yesterday, the Fascist high command reported today.

Two "enemy" planes were shot down in air fights accompanying these actions, while three Italian planes failed to return to base, the daily war bulletin said.

Ground operations in Albania were said to have been limited to artillery activity.

REVEALS CONVOY BACKERS ADMIT IT MEANS WAR

Wheeler Quotes Petition Sent to Roosevelt.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] revealed in the senate today that eastern interventionists who are clamoring for American convoys of war munitions for Great Britain now boldly concede that it would mean a state of war with the axis powers, declared or undeclared.

The Montana senator read a petition to President Roosevelt, drafted by Grenville Clark, a Wall street lawyer, and now being signed by prominent advocates of American convoys. The petition, dated March 31, said:

"We recognize that the action for which we petition [convoys] will involve a state of war, declared or undeclared. We think, however, that it is time to quit trying to have it both ways. We should no longer declare, on the one hand, our determination that Hitler must be defeated, and yet fail, on the other hand, to take the necessary practical steps to accomplish his defeat."

Backs Warlike Petition.

Grenville Clark was one of the 170 signers and a prime mover in the circulation of a warlike petition to President Roosevelt which the White House released, with implied approval, last Dec. 26, three days before Mr. Roosevelt made his fireside radio chat on the war dictatorship program. That petition urged the President to "make it the settled policy of this country to do everything that may be necessary to insure the defeat of the axis powers."

Clark's first outstanding contribution to the administration's war program was his authorship of the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill, which was passed by congress under administration sponsorship.

Senator Wheeler exposed the petition of the war mongers as members of congress, including administration leaders, anxiously awaited information of a decision by President Roosevelt on the convoy question. The President intimated at his press conference Tuesday that convoying is being considered.

Pledged Their Support.

A showdown on the convoy issue will be sought by antiwar senators and representatives who pledged their support, at a meeting Tuesday night, of bills in the senate and the house forbidding use of the naval forces for convoy purposes. Senator Wheeler today appointed an executive committee of the informal antiwar group and announced that plans for a series of mass meetings in a nationwide crusade to keep the country out of war are being completed. Members of the executive committee are:

Senators Wheeler, Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], William J. Bulow [D., S. D.], Robert M. La Follette [P., Wis.], and Robert A. Taft [R., O.]; Representatives Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], James E. Van Zandt [R., Pa.], Karl E. Mundt [R., S. D.], Knute Hill [D., Wash.], John M. Costello [D., Cal.], and James F. O'Connor [D., Mont.].

Use of Convoys Considered.

"President Roosevelt has said that 'convoys mean shooting and shooting means war.'" Wheeler said in discussing the antiwar crusade. "Surely every patriotic American now realizes the issue is war or peace. Those who have led us step by step toward war have done so with promises that those steps would keep war away from our shores and keep us out of war. Are the American people to be betrayed? Not without a fight on the part of us who have counted the cost of such betrayal."

In his senate speech Wheeler referred to Mr. Roosevelt's press conference statement that the question of delivering war munitions to Great Britain had been under consideration for 18 months.

In Court Battle

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. HELEN CLARKE EGAN.

Judge George Fred Rush yesterday dismissed the separate maintenance suit of Mrs. Helen Clarke Egan, 23 years old, 5945 South California avenue, after her husband, James, 28, denied her charge that he had beaten her 10 times a month since their marriage June 4, 1938. Because the couple continued for a time to live together after the alleged acts of cruelty, the judge told Mrs. Egan early in the hearing that he would only hear evidence toward a divorce.

Egan, a city fireman, said that not only did he not beat his wife, but that she left home on numerous occasions, saying she wasn't satisfied to be a cook and nursemaid. They have a son, James Jr., 1. Egan added that his wife's parents frequently told her she had married beneath her station and that she actually belonged in Hollywood.

ROOSEVELT HAS WAR CHIPS ON HIS SHOULDERS—NYE

Sees U. S. in Conflict If Ships Are Escorted.

San Diego, Cal., April 3 [Special].—If the United States is dragged into war by such acts as convoying supplies to Britain thru war zones, it will be a conflict entirely of one man's making—that of President Roosevelt—Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] warned a San Diego audience tonight.

Speaking under auspices of the America First committee at Russ auditorium, the city's largest public meeting place, Nye assailed Roosevelt as "carrying chips on his shoulder too long, and somewhere along the line we're going to find those chips disturbed.

"If in spite of his promises to the contrary, the President undertakes to convoy ships thru war zones, he will have taken the United States to war," Nye declared.

Invitation by President.

"Let us hope that at that time the American people will be prepared stubbornly to assert that what has happened is only in answer to an invitation by the President and not a threat to 130 million Americans."

Referring to San Diego as one of dozens of communities where war armament activity has brought unprecedented prosperity, the senator asserted:

"Your city is witnessing tremendous returns from the government's easy spending program. Great manufacturing plants have sprung up in your midst. New residents have been brought here from all over the country to man these factories.

Calls it Momentary Prosperity.

"But this is a momentary prosperity. When the present madness is over, these plants will be looking on you as ghosts and thousands of their former employés will be seeking places on relief rolls for want of employment that peacetime is not affording. All this planning has been on the basis of a war economy."

Nye said that Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford university, has come close to characterizing the Roosevelt attitude when he stated, "If anyone believes the American people can go out and force other nations around to our way of thinking, he has a Hitler complex."

PROPAGANDA HAS PUT U. S. ON BRINK OF WAR—BROOKS

Says Convoying Will Shed Blood of Americans.

advance base and the country should be prepared to risk the possibility of war as a result of convoying aid rather than take the chance of slavery here as a result of England's downfall.

Gibson said he was content to leave the method up to the administration. One way might be to lease additional destroyers and other warships to Britain, another to use American naval vessels under American command to keep the sea lanes open. A third alternative was to extend the American neutrality zone to Iceland.

Same as War Declaration.

Senator Brooks asserted the use of American convoys was the same as a declaration of war.

"The state question we discuss tonight is 'Shall we use our ships to convoy material to Britain?'" said Senator Brooks. "What we actually are debating is shall we voluntarily become a fighting, shooting participant in this war?

"Convoying doesn't mean ships. It means sending the American ship of state into the bloody waters of Europe's century old hatreds and wars. It means sending our American ships, flying the American flag, manned by American boys in our navy and in our marine corps to fight and lead the way—to be followed by our American soldiers wherever they can find a place to land them.

"It means not 'short of war'—not 'all-out aid'—it means 'all-out war' with all its complications, and it may last from 3 to 30 years.

Violates Party Promises.

"It means war, shooting, fighting war in Europe, in Asia, in Africa, in complete violation of our public officials' statements and our political parties' promises that 'We will not engage in any foreign wars.'

"By subtle subterfuge this great, free country, blessed by God Almighty, and favored by geographic location, is being forced to stick its neck out more than 3,000 miles, to be sure that its gets into a war.

"We've called the axis powers names. We have furnished their enemies guns, tanks, planes and ammunition. We've opened our ports to the nations fighting against the axis powers, and will recondition their warships when crippled. We've confiscated the axis ships in our ports. We've changed our laws to help defeat them. They have chosen not to declare war upon us. But, no, we won't let them get away with that.

"The Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies and some members of the present administration insist that we force our way—that we shoot our way—that we fight our way into the war, and that we go 3,000 miles to do it.

"When we are fully in the war, when the first American boys go to their watery graves 3,000 miles away from home, their mothers and loved ones can thank Mr. Gibson and his committee for their clever, for their deadly steps in forcing us into that war. But, one thing is sure—Mr. Gibson and the members of his committee won't be there to die, nor will the sons of many high in the authority of our government. The boys who will die will be the boys, who with their parents, believed the words of our leaders, who said, 'We will not engage in foreign wars.'"

Recalling his words in opposition to the lease-lend bill in congress, Senator Brooks declared if the persons who caused war and voted for it had to fight there would be much less war in the world.

"I came here tonight particularly to say to you and to the millions across the country who are listening in—if this still be a country where the government is a government of the people—let the people speak tonight!" he asserted.

"If you want to stay out of war this is your last chance. Don't you go to bed without sending your message to the chief executive—to your senators and congressmen. Say to them in your messages:

"'We don't want convoys.

"'We don't want union now.

"'We, the people, don't want war!'"

Senator Brooks recounted the steps one by one up to the "fateful hour" at which the nation now finds itself.

The "march toward war," according to the senator, was the President's speech at the dedication of the Chicago link bridge proposing a quarantine of the aggressors. Then came the repeal of the neutrality act and the "cash-and-carry" proposal. Along came conscription which was sold to the people as "home defense."

Next in the Fateful March.

Next in the fateful march was the selling of vital planes, cannon, ammunition, guns and tanks to the British with the excuse to America that they were "obsolete," said Brooks.

Then along came the destroyer deal in which 50 "obsolete" warships were swapped for bases in a deal which the President had shortly before called "silly," the senator went on. He recalled the lease-lend bill [the dictator bill] was passed "to keep out of war," and now, finally American convoying of materials was being urged by the war propagandists.

Chairman Gibson cited figures on ship sinkings to prove that 16 per cent of American production would go to the bottom if this country did not set up a convoy system.

"A policy that will allow our defense material, created by our sweat and our sacrifice, to be thrown away as so much waste material is wrong," Gibson contended. "These products must reach the front, where they can do the job of keeping war away from America. Our sacrifice must not be in vain. Only those people who believe that there is no danger to America if England falls can urge any other course. Those people maintain that we can sit quietly and smugly and disbelieve Hitler's proclaimed ambition to be a world conqueror. Those people are prepared to take the chance of slavery rather than accept a risk of war.

"We must be honest with ourselves. We recognize that the use of the American navy for convoy purposes involves risk. I believe that the American people are prepared to take these risks because they believe the risks are far less than those we would face if we permitted the British Isles, our advance base, to fall into the hands of the man who has boasted he is going to conquer the world."

27c A DAY FEEDS ALIENS HELD IN FRENCH CAMPS

For Breakfast—Well They Just Skip That.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, April 3.—Kitchens and their equipment and food supplies stood out as the most difficult problem at refugee interment camps visited last week by American correspondents in southern France.

Roughly, the French government allots 11 francs [about 27 cents] daily for rations for each person. This probably provides much less than an average of 1,000 calories, which maintains life but is less than a growing child requires. An extra milk and cheese ration sent to the camps by the Swiss Red Cross, therefore, is a Godsend.

This penury of food in the camps for foreigners was no worse, however, than conditions observed among the poorer French classes in the neighboring towns of Toulouse and Mountauban, where even the children are underfed.

Whole Area Hungry.

Three of the camps visited on the first day of the tour were near Toulouse. They are Recebedou, about three miles; Noe, about 15 miles, and Vernet, about 30 miles from the city.

Toulouse and the whole region north of the Pyrenees mountains have been especially hard hit by the scarcity of food. Lunch in a decent restaurant costs 70 francs [about $1.75].

After a call at a Toulouse 50 bed hospital where severe cases of illness in the camps are sent, the correspondents were shown Recebedou. This camp is for old and ill people. It now has 2,060 inmates, mostly Polish and German Jews and Spanish refugees.

The camp lies on a plain having no trees and little vegetation. It was organized during the Spanish civil war to hold the stray foreigners rounded up by the French police. A wire fence incloses 50 barracks. Notices on bulletin boards were mostly in German and most of the people who swarmed around the visiting newspaper men to beseech them for aid in getting to America spoke German. Nearly all were Jews, except the Spanish. No armed guards patrol the camp but its limits are under surveillance.

Breakfast? There Is None.

There is no breakfast in camp and sustenance is designed to fit the fearful shortage which the whole country suffers. The noon meal on the day of the visit was a salad, macaroni with tomato sauce, and a glass of red wine. The night meal on the same day was leek salad and boiled dried peas. The camp lacks knives, forks, plates, and sleeping sacks.

The people complained mostly about not being able to get swiftly to America. They have no books, no newspapers, and no distractions, and are bored. Some said they felt almost happy to be there after their experiences at Gurs, farther down in the Pyrenees, from where they had been evacuated. We did not see Gurs.

One Ounce of Meat.

The camp at Noe houses 1,600 elderly chronic invalids and a few children. It has 64 unfenced barracks and there are a few trees and grass plots. It probably is the best of all the camps. Men and women use separate barracks and dining halls, but may circulate freely in the open. The dining barracks and kitchens were clean and well organized. Tables had oilcloth covers.

Eight hundred inmates are Spanish, the others German and Polish Jews. The camp also has 53 Spanish children who do not go to school and have no school books. Camp officials said American Quakers were extending much aid. The cost of food here was estimated at 550,000 francs [about $13,750] a month.

Tough Men at Vernet.

The Vernet camp, a semipenal kind, has 3,500 tenants. It has three sections. Section A is for those with police or criminal records, section B for extremists and agitators, and section C for suspects. Many of the latter do not know why they were arrested.

The men have nothing to do outside of enforced chores, except to pace the dusty alleyways among the hundred barracks. The area is surrounded by a high barbed wire fence and is patroled by armed guards. Men sometimes escape, but usually they are caught. The prisoners represent 40 nationalities, and among them are 1,200 Spanish men. Many of the prisoners are ragged but others are well dressed. Camp officials said clothing and shoes were much needed.

Sleep on Bare Boards.

Drab, dismal, and barren, the camp is on a dusty plain in the foothills and within view of the snowclad Pyrenees. The barracks are of standard type and seemed to be crowded. The men sleep on bare boards with scant covering.

The food at Vernet seemed about the same as in the other camps. It provides for a bare maintenance diet, yet the camp doctor reported there was little sickness.

Lunch on the day of the visit consisted of three small sardines, a ladle of soup, Jerusalem artichokes, and a glass of red wine. For dinner there was more soup and chick peas. There were no dining halls. The men eat on their beds or on card tables in the dormitories.

NAZI PRESS ACCUSES SERBS OF AGGRESSIVE DESIGNS ON AUSTRIA

BERLIN, April 3 (AP).—The German press tonight began to accuse Jugo-Slavia of aggressive designs on Austria.

Observers remarked on the similarity of the situation to the dark days of the Polish crisis of summer, 1939. Then, Germany was astir with stories that certain Polish generals were talking about Polish occupation of East Prussia.

Today German refugees, coming from Jugo-Slavia by train, boat, and motor car, were quoted as saying that the Serbs were widely acclaiming a remark attributed to a Serbian general: "I and my north army will be in Vienna in two days."

Say Italy, Nazis "Freed."

ROME, April 3 (AP). — Virginio Gayda, the Fascist editorialist, wrote today that Jugo-Slavia's virtual repudiation of axis membership had freed Germany and Italy of the obligation assumed in that pact to respect that country's independence and territorial integrity.

U. S. AND BRITISH NAVY MEN CONFER ON CONVOY PLAN

Washington, D. C., April 3 [Special].—Staff talks between American and British naval representatives are under way to determine how a joint convoy system could be operated in case President Roosevelt decides to employ American naval vessels for protecting shipments to Britain, an authoritative source said today.

It was emphasized that no final determination of policy had been made, and that alternative methods of attempting to insure safe delivery of billions of dollars worth of American war supplies and food to Great Britain were under consideration.

One plan, it was understood, was for United States vessels to convoy merchant ships as far as Iceland with British sea units taking over their protection from there into British ports. Plans on convoys were being perfected under the custom by which the navy draws up detailed arrangements for any possible contingency as far as could be learned today, President Roosevelt has not yet approved the convoy principle.

2 SLAIN IN BREAD RIOTS IN SYRIA; PICK NEW CHIEF

VICHY, France, April 3 (AP).—Rioting and street battles between police and natives at Beirut, in French mandated Lebanon, were disclosed by the government today after appointment of Khaled Bey Azem to form a new Syrian government.

Its reports called the demonstrations bread riots, and said police and native constabulary were unable to halt them, despite firing which killed two persons. Troops closed all stores in Beirut, a city of 16,000, and other towns of Lebanon, altho calm prevailed elsewhere.

The fighting was the latest in a series of native riots which began in Syria early in February.

[Dispatches from Damascus said strikes and accompanying disorders there had ended and the city reopened to normal trade.]

BRITISH WARNED OWN ACRES MUST GROW MORE FOOD

Told It's Necessary as an Aid to Shipping.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 3.—Robert Hudson, minister of agriculture, informed the house of commons today that for every 1,000 acres of cultivated land in Britain 1,524 human beings had to be fed as against 1,195 in the last war.

David Lloyd George, the veteran statesman and farmer, who sat in parliament, had the satisfaction during the debate of hearing Hudson emphasize the same dangers and suggest the same remedies which he [Lloyd George] had been hammering at, even before the war began.

Hudson confirmed what Lloyd George already had pointed out, that a "general decline in fertility of the soil" existed thruout the country. Hudson also said that "between the outbreak of the last war and this war the production of fodder and root crops for livestock has fallen by no less than one-third." Since 1914, Hudson admitted, the amount of arable land under crops "actually decreased by 4,500,000 acres."

Relief for Shipping.

To relieve the strain on shipping it is absolutely essential, Hudson said, that Britain "grow increased crops of wheat, potatoes, sugar, and vegetables, and largely increase the supplies of food for live stock."

He said he hoped that by next spring 1,750,000 acres of new land will be reclaimed for agriculture. During the last war 2,300,000 acres were plowed up.

Hudson predicted "that there is bound to be a shortage of meat." He said he expected imports would be small for several months and that British agriculture would have to step into the breach to maintain the meat ration. A large number of cattle would have to be killed, he said.

"We should keep our dairy herds," he said, "but we must get rid of poor yielders. The numbers of sheep will have to kept up. More grassland, however, must be plowed up and the difference must come from intensified drainage and better cultivation."

Calls for Drastic Treatment.

Lloyd George said he feared something very unpleasant would happen in Britain "unless the problem of food production is dealt with more drastically, more comprehensively, and more thoroly than it had been, either in the last war or in this one."

He complained that agriculture was always a "political boredom," always playing "to an empty house," even in the hour when the "life of the nation depended on it."

Lloyd George, emphasizing an old theme, said, "Germany was beaten [in the last war] because she had no food." Britain, he insisted, must not make that mistake in this war.

Dublin Protests to Berlin on Sinking of Irish Ship

DUBLIN, Ireland, April 3 (AP). — Prime Minister De Valera told the dail [parliament] today the Irish charge d'affaires in Berlin had been instructed to protest the sinking of an Irish ship by German planes and attacks on three others in the last four weeks. Compensation also will be demanded, De Valera said. He also said the government had unsuccessfully urged Washington, D. C., early in the war to remove restrictions on American shipping to Ireland, which had offered to buy American ships.

CAPITAL CLAMOR GROWS FOR CURB ON ARMS STRIKES

Roosevelt Sticks to His 'Watch-Wait' Policy.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—The halls of congress resounded again today to the cries of legislators for action to curb strikes against the nation's armaments program. At the same time Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson was asserting that dangerous delays in the delivery of army equipment are being caused by labor disputes.

Apparently unperturbed by the growing clamor, President Roosevelt stood firm by his "watch and wait" policy. The President was still determined, White House Secretary Stephen T. Early announced, to see whether his new labor mediation board could not solve the problem.

Blame Communist Leaders.

More than a dozen speakers in the house and senate arose to appeal for decisive steps by either congress or the President to save the arms program from destruction. Most agreed that communist leaders were behind the strikes, having embarked on a program of civil war intended to disrupt the production of military weapons.

Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] of the house military affairs committee, announced his group will begin its investigation of the arms program next Monday. Summoned as first witnesses were Chairman Clarence A. Dykstra of the labor mediation board; Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, and William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, co-directors of the Office of Production Management.

The house yesterday authorized a joint investigation by the military and naval affairs committee by a 324 to 1 vote. The naval affairs committee will start its quiz on April 14 when congress returns from an Easter vacation.

Serious, Stimson Asserts.

Secretary Stimson said the strike situation is getting worse. The stretching out of the Allis-Chalmers strike at West Allis, Wis., Milwaukee suburb, into the 10th week is extremely serious, he said. He hinted that the war department is ready to take over the plant, adding:

"The patience of Uncle Sam is very long, and rightly so, for the power of Uncle Sam is so great that it ought to be used very carefully. But nobody makes a greater mistake than to take Uncle Sam's patience for weakness."

Stimson declared states should set up home guard units as soon as possible to replace National Guardsmen called into federal service. He referred to "the piteous appeal" of Gov. Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin for federal aid in keeping order at the Allis-Chalmers plant. The appeal thus far has gone unheeded by the President and government heads.

Reveals States' Preparations.

Nine states have already requisitioned rifles, cartridges, belts, bayonets, and other equipment from the army for their home guards, Stimson revealed. They are Indiana, Florida, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Connecticut, and New Hampshire. Wisconsin has authorized four infantry regiments of home guards "on paper," the secretary said, but has done "nothing else."

Chairman Dykstra of the mediation board asked officials of the Allis-Chalmers company and representatives of the strikers to meet with the board here Saturday morning. In a telegram to Max W. Babb, president of the company, Dykstra said he was eager to expedite settlement of the strike. A similar telegram was sent to Harold Christoffel, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers local at Milwaukee.

The board was not asking for an immediate reopening of the Allis-Chalmers plant, Dykstra said.

Calls Situation Different.

"A very different situation appears in this case," he declared. "Gov. Heil requested that the plant be closed because of violence. We feel that we ought not to request its reopening until we are fully informed of the situation."

President Roosevelt was attacked in forthright terms in a number of congressional speeches for his inaction in the labor crisis.

"The President has laid down on the job long enough," Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.], told the house. "I feel that when we're having strike after strike designed to sabotage the national defense program, it is time for congress to act."

A highly beneficial result might come from the 11 day recess which the house agreed to take, beginning tomorrow, Taber said.

"I hope that members, going back home, will receive enough real reaction about this matter from the American people so that we'll get action when we reassemble on April 14," he said.

Charges Sabotage by Reds.

Representative Joe Starnes [D., Ala.], a member of the Dies committee on un-American activities, declared that the communist party is promoting civil war in the United States with a view to destroying the arms program.

"The Stalin-Hitler pact was not an empty document," he told members. "It was crammed with sinister import for the world. Appeasement of communists, whether they be in our labor unions or elsewhere, is a form of aid to Hitler.

"All over the United States, wherever there is opportunity to sabotage our program of national defense, the communist party is working night and day under the auspices of the CIO. Philip Murray [CIO president] has evaded the issue and resorted to a campaign of abuse against those who have called the country's attention to the communist menace in the ranks of the CIO.

"The International Harvester and Allis-Chalmers strikes are virtually civil warfare."

Foresees Community Action.

Unless the President uses his authority to protect arms production plants, asserted Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.], local communities will organize home defense units to "protect their citizens and industries."

Prolonged applause from both Democratic and Republican sides of the house greeted a verbal concession by Democratic Majority Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts that President Roosevelt should speak out in condemnation of unjust labor strikes in armaments industry.

McCormack was defending the President's course in the preparedness program. He was interrupted by Representative Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.], who asked whether McCormack did not think the time had come for the President to "speak out."

"Yes," said McCormack, "and I'm satisfied he will."

Assails Mme. Perkins.

In the senate Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] renewed his charge that Secretary Perkins was guilty of "undue delay" in seeking a settlement of the Allis-Chalmers strike. The secretary did not "certify" the case to the labor mediation board until last midnight.

"Delay may have been justified," said Byrd, "until March 29, by the feeling that a settlement was possible because of the efforts of Secretary Knox and Mr. Knudsen. After that date, however, the strike should have been certified immediately."

CIO CALLS OFF GENERAL STRIKE IN ALLIS DISPUTE

Rival Group Also Pulls Up to Await Mediation.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 3—Rival workers' groups of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company today called off demonstrations planned for tomorrow morning at the closed plant. This followed a call by the federal defense mediation board for a conference in Washington Saturday in an effort to settle the 72 day CIO strike.

The Milwaukee county industrial union council [CIO] announced last night that there would be a one day general strike of 60,000 CIO workers in the county tomorrow. A parade had been scheduled to begin at 8 a. m. near the plant.

4,000 Want to Work.

Four thousand employés of the factory, many of them members of the striking United Automobile Workers' union, had chosen the same hour for a back to work movement.

Meanwhile at Madison a resolution was introduced today in the state legislature asking the President to intervene to preserve order at Allis-Chalmers. The measure was made a special order of business to be called at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Police Powerless.

The resolution did not specifically request the use of federal troops, but urged the President to take needed steps to protect life and property, pointing out that the state was without protection "except by local police forces that are unable to cope with large scale rioting."

The plant and vicinity were quiet today. Crowds of strikers congregated when the office and supervisory force went to work, but made no effort to interfere.

MIGRANTS TRYING TO FIND ARMS JOB CREATE PROBLEM

Washington, D. C., April 3 (AP).—Congress was told today that upwards of 5,000,000 migrants, more than twice the number needed and including many destitute job-seekers and their families, were being attracted to industrial centers and military communities where they constitute a "serious handicap" to the preparedness program.

A special house committee investigating interstate migrations of destitute citizens submitted a report asserting that immediate government aid for the homeless unemployed was as urgent as federal assistance to communities, and that appropriation of funds for construction of plants or employment of workers on preparedness jobs to begin rather than end federal responsibility arising from the rearmament program.

The committee predicted that destitution and its prevention would become a primary problem for the nation with the end of the emergency effort because of the population dislocation caused by the preparedness program.

3,000 LAID OFF HERE BECAUSE OF FORD STRIKE

Three thousand workers at the Ford Motor company's assembly plant at 12600 Torrence avenue, were laid off yesterday pending the outcome of the strike at the company's River Rouge plant in Dearborn, Mich. The plant here is dependent on supplies from Dearborn. Until yesterday, 440 passenger cars and 100 trucks were being assembled each working day. An office staff and maintenance crew will remain on the job.

AMERICAN CAR CO. WORKERS SETTLE TWO DAY STRIKE

Resume Production of British Shells.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 3 (AP).—A two-day work stoppage at the American Car and Foundry company plant which curtailed production of shells for Great Britain ended today with AFL and CIO leaders accepting a second basis for settlement.

An agreement was announced by United States Labor Conciliator Thomas M. Finn after conferences with representatives of the company, employing 1,400, and the AFL local which called the walkout yesterday.

Three hours after employés reported for duty at the 4 p. m. shift, an AFL spokesman said the management had agreed to the union's demands for Sunday pay adjustments and promised to consider granting a general pay increase.

The AFL had charged the firm violated a contract signed concerning overtime payments, piecework rates and seniority rights. The CIO group joined the stoppage.

Other news of strikes follows:

BUTLER, Pa.—Operations of the American Bantam Car corporation plant, turning out midget reconnaissance cars for the army, have been suspended because of lack of materials, President Francis H. Fenn reported today. As a result of a strike of grinding machinist operators at the Hillsdale, Mich., plant of the Spicer Manufacturing company, the Bantam plant was unable to obtain an adequate supply of transfer cases to equip the cars.

POTTSTOWN, PA.—An official of the CIO SWOC announced 50 crane men stopped work at the Bethlehem Steel company plant here because, he said, the firm refused to negotiate over wage increases. Production in several departments of the plant where approximately 1,400 men are employed was hampered.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. — Officials of the strike-bound Interwoven Stocking company were faced today with a prospect that the American Federation of Hosiery Workers union [CIO] would attempt to organize employés in two more plants at Hagerstown, Md., and Chambersburg, Pa. About 250 persons are employed in each plant.

UNION PROTESTS DISMISSALS AT CONTINENTAL CAN

Ten members of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee [C. I. O.] distributed pamphlets in front of the Continental Can company plant at 5401 West 65th street yesterday morning protesting the discharge of a group of members who had been meeting daily with the plant management to discuss grievances. The management admitted that three or four members of the union had been discharged.

A police detail of 16 men from the Chicago Lawn station and 10 deputy sheriffs from the county highway police station at Willow Springs were stationed at the plant from 6 a. m. to 8 a. m., but there was no trouble.

The pamphlets said that a committee of local 2374, of the SWOC, had been discussing grievances with the management for several days, but that the management suddenly put an end to the meetings. When the grievance committee protested, its members were discharged, they said. The plant employs about 800 men.

LABOR EXPERT NAMED TO PROBE CIO CHARGES AT HARVESTER PLANTS

Clarence A. Dykstra, chairman of the defense mediation board, yesterday appointed Dr. Don Lescohier, University of Wisconsin economist and labor expert, to investigate CIO charges of discrimination in the Chicago plants of the International Harvester company.

Striking CIO employés returned to their jobs this week, but the CIO has not signed an agreement for resuming production reached by the mediation board.

At the Harvester company's tractor plant, where 6,200 of 6,500 employés have returned to work, three types of tractors ordered by the army began rolling off the assembly lines again. The army has ordered 100 tractors with hoist cranes for construction work, 250 with bulldozers for moving dirt, and 500 with cable winches for pulling heavy artillery.

1,000 Hoosiers Made Idle by CIO's Ford Strike

Logansport, Ind., April 3 [Special]. —About 1,000 employés of the RBM Manufacturing company were laid off today because of the Ford strike in Detroit, Mich., Ralph Dafhner, general manager of RBM, announced. The company manufactures electrical switches for Ford.

STOCK HANDLERS CONTINUE PARLEY TO AVERT STRIKE

Negotiations for a new contract between the Stock Handlers' union [CIO] and the Union Stockyards and Transfer company are to be resumed today. John L. Connor, conciliator for the department of labor, reported last night that progress toward a settlement of differences had been made yesterday in an all day conference.

The threat of a strike of the 600 handlers, who unload cars bringing meat animals into the yards, has been held out by CIO officials. It was reported by Connor and the union head, Frank McCarthy, that every effort was being made to avert a walkout.

The union has demanded an eight hour day, 40 hour week, and a raise in basic pay from 55 to 75 cents an hour.

U. S. WARNS COAL MINES MUST BE OPEN BY MONDAY

Demand Is Made as Wage Deadlock Lasts 48 Hrs.

New York, April 4, Friday (AP).—The government today demanded that the nation's soft coal mines, idle since Monday midnight because of a wage dispute, be reopened by next Monday.

The demand was made by Dr. John R. Steelman, director of the United States conciliation service, who said:

"It is imperative that the mines be reopened. The public cannot condone quibbling while 400,000 men and 85 per cent of the nation's bituminous mines stand idle."

Steelman's demand was made after the United Mine Workers of America [CIO] and operators in the eight state Appalachian area failed to break their deadlock even after a 48 hour period of extended negotiations had expired at midnight Thursday.

Must Prevent Stoppage.

Last Tuesday night, President Roosevelt urged the joint conference to continue negotiations to prevent a stoppage in the industry and lessen any danger to the country's defense effort.

With the deadlock and the stoppage still in effect, Steelman emerged from the weary group of conferees and announced that while "much progress was made, full agreement has not been reached."

Steelman said that because the week-end is approaching and miners do not work Saturday and Sunday, the mines could not be reopened sooner than Monday anyway. Therefore, he continued, the negotiators would resume their efforts to break the deadlock during the next 24 hours, and if by that time no contract is agreed upon, the government asks "that the United Mine Workers of America and the bituminous coal operators agree to reopen the mines."

Wages Must Be Retroactive.

"Further conferences looking to a negotiated agreement should proceed as soon as possible with the understanding that any changes made affecting earnings be retroactive to the date that work is resumed," Steelman added.

The conferees agreed to resume deliberations at 1 p. m. [Chicago time] today.

The federal conciliator did not indicate what position the government might take if the negotiators fail to make some arrangement to reopen the mines as soon as possible, but appeared optimistic over the prospects of the country's soft coal production being renewed next week.

No Hour Reduction Asked.

Contrary to expectations, the anthracite scale committee did not propose a reduction in the present working hours—a seven hour day and five day week—commenting that "in the interest of national defense we deem it advisable not to press for the six hour day."

Quiet reigned at Harlan, Ky., where the death toll in clashes between mine workers and CIO pickets rose to five yesterday. None of Harlan county's 43 mines was operating and there was no picketing under a truce which union leaders said would last as long as operators do not attempt to reopen pits until the new contract is obtained.

WORK OF BRITISH WAR RELIEF SOCIETY TOLD

Work of the British War Relief society was described in Chicago yesterday by Leon Fraser, New York banker and business leader, who came here to confer with local leaders of the organization. Fraser, a member of the society's executive committee, said its aims are purely humanitarian, and that that group takes no sides in the question of this nation's involvement in the war.

Plans are being completed for a drive to raise 40 million dollars for civilian war relief in Great Britain. Seven millions have been raised nationally, Fraser said. Chicago's share of the total is 1 million dollars.

One of the latest bits of aid dispatched by the society was $50,000 cabled to Cardiff and Swansea following appeals from the mayors of those towns after bombings, Fraser said. He described immediate needs for blankets and wool necessary for knitting sweaters and other wearing apparel.

Bond Stores Set Record in Furnishings

Three short years ago the Bond chain of men's stores, having acquired a nation-wide reputation for fine quality, popular priced men's clothing, decided it was only fair to the thousands of Bond customers to include in their service a department of up-to-the-minute furnishings and accessories. Established on the basic Bond policy of giving the maximum in style and quality for a minimum price, the idea met with instant success. Today the growth of Bond's men's furnishing business is one of the outstanding stories in the men's wear field.

Space Increases 60%.

In the Chicago stores the volume of business done in these lines has exceeded all expectations and the merchandising space for furnishings at the West Madison street store has been increased 60% to take care of the constantly growing sales. The department now features practically everything in men's accessories, including neckwear, shirts, hats, jewelry, hosiery, belts, underwear, pajamas, collars and all types of sports wear, including corduroy, suede and flannel jackets.

1941 Record.

In the tremendous country-wide sale held in all of the entire 60 Bond stores throughout the nation during January and February of this year, more than 1,000,000 shirts alone were sold. Other items brought total sales figure up to a record breaking volume. Naturally, with such response, the Bond organization is planning still further improvements and facilities to make their accessory departments second to none, both for fashion and value.

Set for Easter.

In Chicago the one name that typifies Easter for hundreds of men is Bond's. Here it is possible to get a complete Easter outfit, furnishings and all, for an amazingly small amount with no sacrifice of style or wearing qualities.

All Bond stores are replete with last minute styles in famous Bond two trouser suits, Rochester styled topcoats and all of the trimmings that go with them—all available, of course, on the convenient Bond 30 or 30-60-90 day charge account plan at no extra cost or carrying charge.

ENGEL CHARGES BIG WASTE AT ANOTHER CAMP

Demands Ouster of Army Officials Responsible.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—Charging an outrageous waste of the taxpayers' money, Representative Albert J. Engel [R., Mich.] on the floor of congress today demanded the ousting of army officials responsible for the plans and increased costs of construction of army cantonment facilities at Fort George Meade, Md. Any civilians sharing in the responsibility, he declared, "should likewise be kicked out of the government service and prosecuted if criminal laws have been violated."

It was the second charge of waste, inefficiency and graft in the rearmaments program made by the Michigan representative this week. Two days ago he centered his fire on Fort Blanding, Fla., charging that 20 per cent of the $18,944,034 increased cost of that project was directly chargeable to an improper selection of a cantonment site.

Rumors of Scandals.

In recent weeks there have been growing rumors of armament spending scandals about to burst in the face of administration leaders. The first of two house committee investigations into the huge rearmament expenditures is scheduled to start Monday.

The estimated original cost of the Fort Meade project, which is near Laurel, Md., 20 miles north of the capital, was $9,053,187. It is now estimated that the completed camp will cost $23,117,000, Engel said.

A large part of the increase, he asserted, is due to the failure of the army to utilize the site of the world war cantonment and the insistence of army officials upon an almost entirely new site which required new utility construction plus grading and clearing of "hilly and uneven" land.

1,200 Foot Tunnel.

"The hilly nature of the site selected necessitated cutting one sewer line as deep as 25 feet and further necessitated the construction of a 1,200 foot tunnel from 25 to 40 feet underground, which would have been eliminated had the site recommended by the engineers been adopted by the army," said Engel, who visited 33 new army camps in making his investigation. "The grading and clearing cost of $536,000 could have been materially reduced had the proper site been selected. This includes the additional cost due to the fact that materials used on 50 per cent of the camp site had to be dragged thru mud on improvised sleds drawn by tractors.

"In my judgment, hundreds of thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' money could have been saved had the old site been utilized as it was utilized in some of the other projects."

Different Pay Scales.

Another reason for the added expense of the Fort Meade camp to taxpayers, Engel charged, was the different pay scales decreed by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins at Fort Meade and at Fort Belvoir, Va., only 40 miles away. Pay for skilled and unskilled workers at Fort Belvoir was higher in all cases.

This resulted in large numbers of workers leaving Fort Meade and flocking to Fort Belvoir, Engel declared. The only inducement that Fort Meade contractors could offer was overtime.

"The amount of premium paid for overtime," Engel said, "was $1,808,320. This means that 13.7 of the money paid on the pay roll was paid for services not actually rendered. This represents 8 per cent of the total cost of the job.

"The ratio between labor and material on this project was 65.5 per cent labor to 34.5 per cent material. This was out of all reasonable proportion even after one considers weather and emergency conditions."

FARLEY ON STAND GIVES SCHENCK GOOD CHARACTER

New York, April 3 (AP),—James A. Farley, former postmaster general, testified as a character witness today for Joseph M. Schenck, movie magnate who is on trial on income tax evasion charges.

The one-time chairman of the Democratic National committee bowed to Schenck, the press, and the judge as he was called to the witness stand. He gave his occupation as chairman of the Coca-Cola Export company and said he had known Schenck for "at least 10 years."

Asked by Harold Corbin, defense counsel, what Schenck's reputation was for integrity, honesty, and square shooting, Farley replied that so far as his personal knowledge was concerned, it was "excellent."

SENATE PASSES FARM AID BILL OF 1,340 MILLION

Boosts Parity Payments Despite Warnings.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—Only nine senators heeded warnings of uncontroled inflation, financial collapse, chaos, and disaster today when the senate voted to boost farm "parity" subsidies in the 1 billion, 340 million dollar agriculture department appropriation bill to a total of 450 million dollars. By a vote of 61 to 9 the senate added 238 million dollars for parity payments to the 212 million dollars recommended by the budget bureau and approved by the house.

The farm bill was passed without a record vote and returned to the house for consideration of senate additions. Also approved by the senate without a record vote was the conference agreement on the 4 billion, 389 million dollar fifth supplemental armaments bill, which went to the White House.

Add Millions for Subsidies.

The senate voted unanimously—56 to 0—to add 35 million dollars to the figure of 100 million dollars approved by the house for farm surplus removal subsidies, including the operation of the food stamp plan. With 100 million, available from customs receipts for this purpose, the total for the 1940 fiscal year will be 235 million dollars, the same as in the current fiscal year.

The bill also includes 500 million dollars for the payment of "soil conservation" subsidies, the same as in the current fiscal year.

The overwhelming vote for the 238 million dollar boost in so-called parity subsidies represented a fear, expressed by many senators, that it would be difficult to explain the appropriation of 7 billion dollars for aid to Great Britain and her allies if the farmers were denied the relatively modest increase.

Taft and Byrd Hit Increase.

The political fortitude of the senate's foremost economy advocates was strained to the breaking point by the proposed farm subsidy boosts and the spendthrift background which produced them. Senators Robert A. Taft [R., O.] and Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] vigorously assailed and voted against the 238 million dollar parity increase. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Senator Taft's rival as a Republican Presidential prospect, quietly absented himself from the chamber when the senate voted on the parity boost.

On the other hand, Senators Taft and Byrd found it convenient not to vote on the $35,000,000 surplus removal subsidy boost, which benefits the relief populations and some of which goes for Virginia apples.

Senator Vandenberg had a general pair and did not announce his position on the surplus removal subsidy boost.

Sees 16 Billion Deficit.

Both Illinois senators — Wayland Brooks [R.], and Scott W. Lucas [D.], voted for the parity increase. Lucas voted for bigger surplus removal subsidies, on which Brooks was not recorded.

Senator Taft estimated federal expenditures during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1942, at 25 billion dollars and the deficit at 16 billion dollars.

Senator Byrd reminded the senate that appropriations for the department of agriculture have increased under the New Deal from 58 million dollars for the fiscal year 1933 to 1 billion, 36 million dollars for the current fiscal year.

Deplores Farmers' Condition.

Senator Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.], manager of the farm bill, presented voluminous data purporting to show that agriculture is in a deplorable condition and must have more handouts from the federal treasury.

Under the senate bill, Russell explained, 150 million dollars of the 450 million appropriated for parity payments is to be made available immediately for additional subsidies on the 1941 crops of wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, and rice. With 212 million dollars already available, the total for distribution this year will be 362 million dollars, and the total for 1942 will be 300 million dollars.

"Parity" is defined as a price that would give the farmer a purchasing power in terms of nonagricultural products equivalent to the farm purchasing power during the 1909-1914 base period.

Payment by Commodities.

The following table, presented by Senator Russell, shows [in cents] the parity price as of Jan. 1 and the rate of payment by commodities for the 362 million dollars to be distributed this year:

Commodity.	Rate of parity pymt.	Farm price.	Farm price plus pymt.	Parity price.
Corn, bu..........	9	62.4	71.4	82.2
Cotton, lbs........	2.35	9.39	11.74	15.87
Wheat, bu........	16.9	67	83.9	113.2
Rice, cwt.........	36.5	156	19.5	231.3
Tobacco:
Flue cured, lb.	1.0	16.5	17.5	18.5
Fired cured, lb..	.7	8	8.7	10.5

If the house accepts the senate amendments farm subsidies for the current fiscal year, not including federal loans of various kinds, will aggregate 1 billion, 97 million dollars—235 million for surplus removal, 500 million for soil conservation, and 362 million for parity. For 1942 the subsidies will aggregate 1 billion, 35 million dollars—235 million for surplus removal, 500 million for soil conservation, and 300 million for parity.

ROMANCE AND ARMY REDUCE ROSTER OF AIR LINE HOSTESSES

Romance and the national preparedness program are making it difficult for the air lines to obtain hostesses, Gladys Entrekin, chief hostess for Transcontinental and Western Air, said yesterday. TWA is seeking 75 applicants for student hostess classes.

The hostesses must be registered nurses and many young women with that training are being called to duty at army, navy, and marine posts. In addition 25 TWA hostesses are resigning between now and June 1 to be married.

"Girls who are interested in air hostess work should not be deterred from applying because they feel they are not pretty enough," Miss Entrekin said. "General attractiveness and a pleasing personality are the key requirements and are far more important than mere looks."

MORE TESTIMONY LINKS BRIDGES TO REDS' ACTIVITIES

Defense Wins a Delay in Cross-Examination.

Ezra F. Chase.

San Francisco, Cal., April 3 [Special].—Harry Bridges' attorneys fought against time today, as the federal government continued to introduce testimony to link the California CIO director and waterfront labor leader with anti-American organizations at his second deportation hearing.

After a heated clash between government and defense counsel, Judge Charles Sears granted the latter a 24 hour delay in cross-examining Ezra F. Chase, former Los Angeles communist, who testified as a prosecution witness that he had been ordered by communist party leaders to attend a meeting addressed by Bridges.

Seek to Make Checkup.

Bridges' attorneys told the court they wished to "check up" on Chase before questioning him. Then the government called its third witness to the stand. He was Farrell Schnering, who said he formerly was an active communist in Wisconsin.

Highlights of Schnering's testimony included charges that the communist party used the Workers Alliance to maintain contact with persons on relief and as a means "of building up the revolution"; that the communist dominated National Student league had "worked on student groups" until it was later liquidated in favor of the American Student union, and that the International Labor Defense was a "recruiting agency" for the communist party and that ILD attorneys instructed witnesses to give false testimony in "capitalist courts."

Battle Over Delay.

In the battle to delay cross-examination of Chase, after Aubrey Grossman, assistant defense counsel, had announced "we have certain suspicions about Mr. Chase," Clarence Goodwin, former Chicago jurist who outlined the government's case Monday, commented he'd "never heard of such practice as allowing suspension of cross-examination to permit investigation of a witness."

Judge Sears ended the argument by granting the defense request, which Albert Del Guercio, chief prosecutor, branded an attempt to "indulge in fishing expeditions."

Chase testified he attended a communist meeting at which Bridges "laid down the line" on the question of the movement of AFL unions into the CIO and "took quite a shot at Red baiters." Bridges told the meeting, Chase said, that those who were loudest in Red baiting were usually agents of bosses and should not be trusted.

ARRAIGN CREDIT UNION OFFICIAL AS EMBEZZLER

Harry W. Burmeister, 46 years old, treasurer of the Associated Credit union, 140 South Dearborn street, yesterday was arraigned in Felony court charged with embezzlement of $1,500. Judge Jay A. Schiller released him on $5,000 bail and set April 24 for a hearing.

Clement Cody, assistant state's attorney, said he expects to go before the grand jury with the case as soon as an audit of the union books is completed.

The union has a membership of 700 employés of the Commonwealth Edison company.

Find Preparation Poisonous.

Analysis of the preparation which is manufactured by the Heatless Permanent Wave company of San Francisco, showed that it contains between 8 and 9 per cent of ammonium hydrogen sulfide. The chemical was sufficiently poisonous to cause the death of a rabbit within one hour yesterday when the hair waving lotion was applied to the rabbit's skin, which Dr. Dunbar explained is very similar to that of a human in absorption qualities.

The death of Mrs. Searcy on March 19 was the first indication that the beauty preparation was poisonous, but since then other reports have been received of illness following use of the treatment.

It is difficult to explain why it has not caused more illness or deaths, Dr. Dunbar said, but the reason probably lies in the differences in susceptibility to absorption of the chemical thru the skin and the presence in the Atlanta case of lesions thru which absorption was hastened.

Three Liquids Used.

The treatment is applied only in beauty parlors and consists of three liquids which are applied to the hair. The first is a shampoo. The second is the waving solution—the one containing the ammonium hydrogen sulfide. The third solution is merely a neutralizer applied to the hair to remove the odor of the waving solution.

The waving solution is applied thru use of a tight-fitting rubber cap which is sealed on the head with wax. This also serves to bring the solution into close contact with the scalp.

Under the revised food and drug law, as passed in 1938 three courses of action are open to the department in such cases: [1] To get the product off the market thru seizure; [2] the responsible shipper is subject to criminal prosecution, and [3] the food and drug administrator can apply to the courts for a permanent injunction against manufacture and shipment of the product.

PLAN SEIZURE IN CHICAGO.

J. O. Clarke, district director of the federal food and drug administration in Chicago, said last night that federal marshals probably would begin seizing shipments of the preparation today.

"We have found the preparation in use in several Chicago beauty shops within the last four or five days," Clarke said. "Analysis in our laboratories shows that there is a definite presence of ammonium hydrogen sulfide. We have sent our evidence to the attorney general, who will in turn order the United States attorney here to take out seizure warrants before the federal court. The warrants should be taken out within the next day or two."

Marshal William H. McDonnell will serve the warrants.

462 Waves in One Shop.

One of the beauty shops employing the preparation in Chicago is that operated by Mrs. Pearl Upton at 952 North Michigan avenue. Mrs. Upton, who is Chicago and Illinois representative for the company, reported to federal agents that 462 waves had been given in her shop since June 12.

"I have the utmost confidence in this preparation and in the integrity of the people who make it," she said. "I have mentioned the Atlanta incident to many of my patrons and none of them seem alarmed."

"The other day one of the federal inspectors sat in my shop and watched the preparation being applied. When he left he took three five ounce bottles of the preparation with him saying he was going to have it analyzed. I feel certain that the government will find that use of the preparation is in no way a violation of the law. When the product was accepted by the Federal Trade commission, it was not found necessary to mark 'poison' on its containers."

How Preparation Is Used.

Mrs. Upton explained that the preparation remains in the hair a maximum of 10 minutes. First, the hair is shampooed, then hollow curlers are adjusted in the hair. A tight fitting rubber cap containing a number of rubber tubes, each of which is attached to a curler, then is put on the head. The preparation is injected into a rubber "neck" or valve from which it is distributed to the various tubes and thence into the hollow curlers.

After a setting period of from five to ten minutes, depending on the texture of the hair, the cap is removed and the hair is rinsed in a neutralizing solution, the beautician said.

KIN OF CIVIL WAR VETS TO BANQUET AT G. A. R. RALLY

More than 200 descendants of civil war veterans are expected to attend the annual sons and daughters banquet of the Grand Army of the Republic tomorrow evening in the Hotel Sherman. The Illinois division of the G. A. R. will observe the 75th anniversary of the founding of the organization in conjunction with the banquet.

Veterans expected to attend are James H. Lewis, Negro Union army veteran who will be 100 years old in September; Dennis Finley, 94, who saw service after the civil war in the Dakotas and Colorado; Thomas Ambrose, 92, national senior vice commander of the G. A. R., Milton Myers, 99, chaplain; Hiram Schumate, 94, commander, and Albert Gage, 96, chief of staff of the Illinois department.

VIGOROUS G. O. P. TO GUARD RIGHTS URGED BY MARTIN

Calls on Party to Police, Audit New Deal.

Washington, D. C., April 3.—The Republican party must function as a policeman and auditor for the New Deal administration as it spends 30 or 40 billion dollars for the arms program, Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr., minority leader of the house and chairman of the Republican National committee, declared in a radio address tonight.

"There is a vital need today for a vigorous, virile Republican party," Martin declared. "We are in the midst of a great national crisis. Vast and unprecedented powers have been given to the chief executive. Bewildering sums are being spent for defense—and in the name of defense. Enormous taxes are soon to be imposed upon our people. We stagger along in the direction of war. We face the possibility of national bankruptcy.

Cites Unprecedented Powers.

The picture was not a pleasant but a realistic one, Martin said.

"A vigorous, courageous Republican party is essential to police and audit the New Deal administration as it revels in the spending of 30 or 40 billion dollars, and in the possession of vast and unparalleled powers granted it only because of the urgent needs of national defense," he continued. "We must police and audit the New Deal administration to protect our country from financial, political, and social bankruptcy.

"We must police these great powers granted the President to assure, as far as possible, their wise administration. We must be ready to restore those powers to the people's representatives when the emergency has ended."

Martin recalled the extravagance and inefficiency in the first world war when billions were wasted and asserted that the scandals of 1918 must not be repeated.

Blasts Partisan Spending.

"This is no time to reward political henchmen with juicy contracts or luscious loans," he said. "Such acts would be just as dangerous to American security and freedom as a gun aimed at the breast of an American soldier. Profiteering, contract racketeering, or partisan spending will not be tolerated by a people who see their very future menaced."

The nation, the Republican leader said, was confronted by two great dangers.

"The first," he asserted, "is that some groups may seek to make use of our present emergency and the great burden of debt we are piling up to destroy our economic and political system. The second is that the Republican party, suddenly returned to reaction against the New Deal, might lack a carefully prepared program of action.

"As to the second danger, any party called upon in 1944 to meet the grave problems which the New Deal administration has for more than 8 years left unsolved will have an extremely difficult task. We Republicans are busy studying those problems now. We will be well prepared for the task that lies ahead."

LIPMAN FIGHTS EXTRADITION ON PERJURY CHARGE

Springfield, Ill., April 3 (AP).—Constitutionality of Michigan's one man grand jury law was questioned today in a hearing on a petition to extradite William S. Lipman, Chicago contractor, for prosecution in Detroit on perjury charges in connection with the awarding of contracts for a $8,300,000 housing project.

Counsel for Lipman contended the one man grand jury statute under which Lipman was indicted by Circuit Judge Homer L. Ferguson violated the due process of law section of the constitution.

Edward C. O'Connor, administrative assistant to Gov. Dwight Green, heard arguments and took the case under advisement.

Maurice L. Bein, another Chicago contractor under indictment for attempted bribery of Detroit council members in connection with the housing project, previously fought extradition but surrendered yesterday to Judge Ferguson.

SEIZE BROTHER OF MEXICO'S CHIEF IN FATAL SHOOTING

MEXICO CITY, April 3 (AP).—President Manuel Avila Camacho was reported tonight to have ordered the arrest of his younger brother, Gabriel, in connection with the fatal shooting today of Manuel Cacho, son of Mexico City's leading jeweler. The president's 32 year old brother was reported held in the penitentiary. Camacho was described as "outraged" by the incident.

Evidence was said to have indicated Gabriel Camacho shot Cacho after a political argument in a local tavern.

The young Camacho surrendered after the shooting. He was released on his own recognizance, but subsequently arrested, it was said, on orders from the president.

CORONER'S JURY ACCUSES UNCLE IN SLAYING CASE

Held in Deaths of Niece and Sweetheart.

Watseka, Ill., April 3 [Special].—A coroner's jury recommended tonight that Robert Fiester, 55 years old, farmer of nearby Woodland, be held to the grand jury on charges of murder in the gunshot deaths of his niece, Miss Royalene Hinkle, 26, and her sweetheart, Lowell Gray, 25.

Robert Fiester.

Fiester was returned to the Iroquois county jail where he has been held without charge since he was taken in custody last Saturday, the day after the shootings were disclosed.

Fund in Bedroom.

The bodies of the young couple, who were soon to have been married, were found in the young woman's bedroom at the farm which she owned and where she lived with her bachelor uncle. Gray, employé of a canning factory in Hoopeston, Ill., had been boarding at the farm for several weeks.

In testimony before the coroner's jury, Fiester told the same story he previously had related to authorities: That he found the bodies early Friday and assumed it was a case of murder and suicide because he had heard the couple quarreling the night before. He said he had spent the previous evening at Milford, Ill., and Rossville, Ill.

Clarence L. Farber, a fingerprint expert from Springfield, told of examining the death gun, a .22 caliber rifle belonging to Fiester, and finding only two fingerprints on the weapon—both of them Fiester's prints.

Stories of Threats.

Three witnesses testified that Miss Hinkle had told them her uncle had made threats against her life. Authorities previously had disclosed that under a deed by which she obtained from Fiester ownership of the $10,000 farm by satisfying numerous debts against it, title of the property would revert to him if she died without a husband or children.

Sheriff Guy E. Redman said the young woman told him of the threats and declared she was fearful for her life. Attorney Kenneth Smith testified she visited him concerning legal affairs of her property and gave him a similar account.

Earlier in the day Miss Hinkle's father, Jake Hinkle, filed suit in Circuit court here seeking an injunction to restrain Fiester from encumbering the farm and asking that certain clauses of the deed he gave the young woman be set aside.

One-Third of Income.

The clauses related to permission given Fiester to live on the farm for the rest of his life, to collect one-third of the 120 acres' net income, and to become owner again in the event of his niece's death without direct heirs.

"In order to prevent her from marrying and having descendants," Hinkle's suit stated, "Fiester conceived a plot resulting in her murder in order to cause title of the premises to revert to him. On March 27 Fiester did murder or cause to be murdered Royalene Hinkle."

'A STEEPLEJACK 'ASKS PARACHUTE JOB WITH ARMY

Six hundred and ninety-one men from 14 Chicago draft boards reported yesterday at the induction station. One of them, Edward Grenko, 27 years old. 1515 Garfield boulevard, desires to change his direction in life. He has been a steeplejack and now he wants to try for the parachute corps.

Others who reported included Rudolph Uhlik, 22, of 4155 21st street, a flute and piccolo player with the Indianapolis Symphony orchestra, and Clarence Cevak, 30, of 4347 Cermak road, a state inheritance tax examiner.

Army officials announced that on Wednesday they inducted 599 men, rejected 115, and held over 35 others for further examination.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR ILLINOIS AND CHICAGO

Save Our Republic

THE TIDE HAS TURNED.

The first Tuesday in April saw local elections in St. Louis, a metropolitan city; in Duluth, one of the great ports of the world; in Peoria, the second city of Illinois. All along the line the Republicans won. At the same time they carried the elections in many smaller communities. Quincy, which had been Democratic for eight years, went Republican. So did Bloomington. Republicans were victors in three judicial elections in Illinois.

The Democrats carried St. Louis last November with 40,000 votes to spare. The Republicans carried the city on Tuesday by as wide a margin.

Duluth had gone Democratic in the last two Presidential elections. Bloomington gave its Republican mayor a majority 15 times as large as he had obtained four years ago against the same candidate.

The significance of these Republican victories will not escape any one who is politically astute. They indicate that the people of this country and of the middle west in particular are aroused. Such overturns do not just happen. Today we have startling proof that the Democrats cannot carry the industrial cities which have been their stronghold in the north for decades and for the last dozen years in particular.

Last November the Democrats promised peace and a majority of the people took the platform and the candidate at their word. Now the people know that the promise was a vote-catcher and nothing more. They have seen the country advance closer and closer to the war. They have seen the outbreak of civil disorder. They recognize that the Democratic party is the party of war abroad and war at home. The people abhor both tendencies. In Tuesday's election the voters seized the first opportunity they have had to express their opinion.

The pendulum is swinging fast. Public opinion at last is recognizing the kinship between the New Deal and communism, between the New Deal and all forms of totalitarianism. The voters are expressing their opinion of an administration whose foreign policy, dictated by Park avenue pushovers, is colonial groveling and whose domestic policy is industrial anarchy and national bankruptcy.

The people don't want their cities taken over by rioters. Workingmen do not want to be placed under the domination of racketeers and pimps posing as labor leaders. Men and women who have saved something do not want to lose it in an inflation.

The results of these elections have their explanation in the widespread sense that the party now in power in this country has betrayed the nation with false promises and is leading it swiftly into war, domestic strife, and economic chaos.

We have had our first large referendum since the lease-lend bill was passed. The people have given their answer. They want to save their republic.

BUS FARES AND BUS SERVICE.

Ald. Paul Douglas reminds the city council that it has been trying without success for seven years to get the Illinois Commerce commission to conduct an investigation of the rates of fare charged by the Chicago Motor Coach company. During that period the hearing on the city's petition has been postponed 81 times.

The commerce commission has been derelict in its duty. The earnings of the company on the 10 cent fare have been far in excess of a fair return on its properties. This return has, in sequence, been made the basis of a wholly unjustified price demand in discussions of the sale of the company for merger with other local transportation facilities.

Ald. Douglas should be encouraged to keep up his fight. In view of the apparent obstructionism of the commerce commission, it is suggested that as an immediate palliative, pending action on a reduction in fares, the bus company be required to give its riders better service.

The company offers no owl service. It should be required to do so. The 10 cent fare it gets should provide something approaching luxury service in the mass transportation field. It does not provide that now. Buses on the main routes are jammed to suffocation during rush periods and service on less heavily traveled routes is scanty and irregular.

For its 10 cent fare the company could very well be required to give every passenger a seat. Its officials may reply, as they have in the past, that this was tried once and caused small riots when passengers were refused admittance to filled buses. They probably would not have rioted so vigorously if they had not faced the prospect of standing in the snow or rain for five or ten minutes before another bus, also filled up, appeared. If passengers were restricted to the number of seats available long loading stops would be avoided and the present halting progress of the buses speeded up.

BLACKOUT.

Some persons considering the test blackout planned for Washington will contend that the gloom shrouding Capitol hill has already attained the ultimate density. It's a rare New Dealer who can see his hand in front of somebody else's face. On the other hand, the more charitably disposed may feel that the administration is making progress if it achieves cordial relations with a utilities company even for no longer than it takes to ask the management to throw the main switch.

While blackouts are being contemplated those defending the ramparts might consider a trial out at the Nez Percé Indian reservation in the state of Washington. The Nez Percés have been induced by the Great White Father to let him supply them light for their tepees from the Grand Coulee hydroelectric development. There are 183 of them, and so far they're the only takers. The dam itself cost 200 million dollars and is designed to generate 1,944,000 kilowatts. This figures out at about one million dollars and 1,000 kilowatts per Indian. But the Nez Percés retire early and perhaps it would be superfluous to turn out lights when they're already out.

A PROPAGANDA ARMY OR A FIGHTING ARMY?

Reports from the camps where the Illinois National Guard regiments were sent for training continue to be disturbing. The officers are looking after the physical well-being of the soldiers, but the purpose for which they were mobilized, training in modern warfare, is handicapped by lack of modern weapons.

Only one of the three artillery regiments in the 33d division at Camp Forrest has modern guns. The infantry has less than half as many modern Garand rifles as it should have and its mortars and antitank guns are deficient in numbers and obsolete in type.

THE TRIBUNE's correspondent finds the 106th cavalry at Camp Livingston, La., in even worse shape as regards equipment. It has its scout cars, but few of them are radio equipped. The horse cavalry is short of horses and the vans that are to transport the horses to the scene of combat under the plan of modernized warfare are useless for lack of tractors to pull them. The regiment is deficient in every type of automatic firearm and for some reason has not been provided with its full complement of motorcycles and sidecars. Why the war department should have difficulty in finding motorcycles is incomprehensible.

The shortage of some of the heavier arms, such as the 105 millimeter howitzer that is to replace the obsolete French 75, is not unexpected. The ordnance corps may be able to establish that it warned of shortages of other items of equipment. Why, in that event, troops were called for training before weapons were ready for them is another question, and one the administration should be required to answer to congress.

It will be recalled that the departure of the 33d division was postponed several times because Camp Forrest had not been completed, and that even so the camp was not finished when the troops arrived. These delays have been duplicated at most other training centers, altho private industry, building defense plants for the government at the same time, has in many instances finished them ahead of schedule.

The army spent 20 years drafting and redrafting a plan for industrial mobilization for defense purposes. Whether the plan was worth the effort spent on it the country will probably never know, because the plan was tossed into the ashbarrel when the need for it arose. Our whole defense effort has been a series of bungling improvisations because the advice of the army has been largely ignored on matters of major policy.

The army has been ignored because the national administration is more concerned with whipping up the fears and excitement of the people to lead them to war than it is with preparing to fight. The draft was pushed thru as a propaganda measure, not a military measure. Only now, eight months after the draft act was passed, is the army taking draftees in any considerable number. The order for mobilization of the National Guard saw an equal period elapse between the passage of the enabling act, in the heat of a political campaign, and the induction of most of the Guard troops. The army still has far more men than it can arm properly.

The regular army, the National Guard, and the conscripts have been called to service as a propaganda army. If, thru the efforts of their officers and the willingness of the men, they are molded into a modern fighting army, no credit will be due the war shouters in Washington. They are looking for hysteria, not military efficiency.

Editorials of the Day

MARIANNE IN ECLIPSE.

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

With so much that is strange happening to France, the emblem of the republic is to disappear, together with most of its liberties—perhaps only for a time, but definitely to vanish. The familiar effigy of the French government, the bust of a woman, wearing a Phrygian cap of liberty, will be no longer seen for the present in schools or other public buildings. It will be replaced by a bust of Petain, bare-headed and wearing a field marshal's uniform. Marianne was originally the name of a French secret society formed in 1852 to establish a republic. Members were prosecuted and imprisoned. The name was then transferred from their society to a personification of their ideals. It still signifies to a Frenchman a republican form of government, altho to foreigners it usually means France herself. Friends of that unhappy country will take comfort and renewed hope from a speech made in Grenoble this month by Marshal Petain, which was loudly acclaimed and which doubtless was not uttered without full realization of the effect it was certain to have on the audience. Discussing possible future reorganization of government, the marshal declared no new constitution would be promulgated "until France has become free." When that time comes and the marshal has concluded his immensely difficult task there can be little doubt that he will gladly retire from his position as the embodiment of French hopes, and that Marianne, Phrygian liberty cap and all, will once more represent to the world the spirit of a free and enlightened people.

MIGHT PUT HIM TO WORK.

[Memphis Commercial Appeal.]

Revelations of his activities as a communist and Gestapo agent have focused attention of Washington governmental agencies on the status of the author of a current "best seller" as an undesirable alien. Some reports say that his deportation is being considered.

We cannot picture the government doing Nazi Germany the favor of turning over to it this particular individual who has penned about as damning an indictment against its espionage and police methods as has yet been produced. And that applies, too, to the Russian government.

Any one who would confess the offenses to which this author has admitted is no hero in our eyes, but he has rendered a service by producing a volume which has public appeal and which should serve the purpose of awakening the people to the dangers which are communism and Nazilsm.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

OUT OF THE MAGAZINE RACK.

At Victor Hugo's jubilee celebration, says Ortega, the Spanish philosopher [now sojourning in Argentina], there was a reception for literary representatives of other countries. France's great man leaned against a mantelpiece in a superhuman attitude while the introductions were made.

"Monsieur, the representative of England."

Hugo lifted his eyes toward the ceiling, put an emotional quiver into his voice, and answered:

"England! Ah, Shakespeare!"

"The representative of Spain."

"Spain! Ah, Cervantes!"

This ran on thru a large amount of material for a literary league of nations until a little dark man at the end of the line stepped up to the Master.

"Monsieur," intoned the chairman, "the representative of Mesopotamia."

Victor Hugo had not expected this and was staggered, but only for a moment. With sublime aplomb, he repeated his stage business and answered:

"Mesopotamia! Ah, Mankind!"

* * *

Ortega tells this story in the current Atlantic Monthly to hint at a cynical opinion which he seems to entertain. He apparently believes that the idealistic rigmaroles of world leaders today bear some relationship to Victor Hugo's Mesopotamian "Ah, Mankind!"

"This habit of speaking to mankind at large," he writes, "the most sublime and at the same time the most contemptible form of demagogy, was adopted around 1750 by certain wayward intellectuals, ignorant of their own limitations."

* * *

"Ah, Mankind!" might be a good title for a comic weekly. We herewith toss it up for grabs.

IF IT'S A GIRL.

Her eyes shall be filled with the starlight,
  Her lips shall be kissed by the moon.
Her ears shall be pink-tinted seashells
  To hear all of life as a tune.
Her soul shall be tossed with a longing
  To know all the things only guessed,
Her heart shall be rippled with loving
  The people forgot by the rest.
Her step shall be all of a tip-toe,
  Her charm shall be that of an elf!
Her grin shall be that of a gamin,
  And her smile shall be heaven itself!
She'll have just enough of her father
  To tug at the heartstrings of me,
And her name shall be Pamela—Sweet One—
  The fairest of daughters-to-be!

Fantasia de la Saison.

Hooray, boys and gals, Spring is here! Tra-la-la! Robins are sweating on window sills, journal boxes, and other rotogravure spots; woodpeckers are machine-gunning our roof; shiny, enameled strawberries are here from the deep south; shiny smelt are here from the deep north; Capricornus is foaming at the bars; crocuses and night crawlers are sticking out inquiring snoots; the cellar is knee-deep in ashes, unpaid bills, and empty bottles whose melodies linger on; and we received a letter from the prettiest school teacher we ever had. She traced us thru the Line.

(Enter imps, nymphs, lambs, Easter rabbits, dandelions, and rhubarb pies gayly singing and dancing.)

O, she traced him thru the Line,
She traced him thru the Line,
Hi, ho, the cherry O,
She traced him thru the Line.

(Imps, nymphs, etc., fade and reappear as Venus, Aphrodite, Helen of Troy, Annette Kellerman, Hedy Lamarr, Cleopatra, and Ann Sheridan. They sing above chorus, then fade and blend into close-up of the prettiest school teacher. Slow curtain, very, very slow; in fact, let's stop it and all join in "Auld Lang Syne," "She's a Jolly Good Fellow," and the last stanza of "We Come from Indiana with the Wabash on Our Knee.")

Hooray for Spring! Jake Irmiter.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

COLD SORES AND SHINGLES—VIRUS INFECTIONS.

THE so-called "cold sore" does not appear following exposure to a draft. On the contrary, it is an actual disease—an acute infection caused by a virus. We do not know much about this culprit other than the fact that it cannot be seen with the most powerful microscope. Nevertheless, we can inoculate animals with the fluid and produce the characteristic outbreaks.

The medical term "herpes" and the common name "fever blister" refer to a reddish irritation accompanied by a small bleb. Sometimes these lesions arrive singly. In other instances they are grouped, or one may come after another—spreading as they go. The first sign is a slightly raised, red spot which is tender to the touch. Later the outer layer of cells is forced upward by the accumulation of fluid. The bladderlike affair soon breaks.

The lips are the most common sites. When rupture takes place a raw surface remains which may increase in size considerably before healing ensues, which usually requires about 10 days.

If one is prone to routine bouts, the importance of more rest, better elimination, and the correction of diet must be considered. Once the ailment has manifested itself, however, frequent applications of spirits of camphor or of a 5 per cent solution of tannic acid will be of benefit. The condition apparently is not serious, altho the invader is a second or third cousin to the organism which is responsible for encephalitis [sleeping sickness] in both man and animals.

As a rule, there is a strong similarity between this disorder and herpes zoster, or shingles. But this latter malady will not develop unless the patient has dropped appreciably in resistance. With some persons, loss of sleep, irregular and improper meals, or overexposure will bring on the symptoms promptly. The chances are that the causative agent is present in or about our bodies most of the time. It is held in check by a high reserve. When we lower the guard, it is likely to become active and start its merry antics.

In shingles, the eruption travels along the course of the nerves between the ribs. It, too, is supposed to originate because of a virus, but the exact variety has not been identified as definitely as has that of cold sores. Its worst feature is pain—which resembles neuralgia. Sometimes distress precedes the blemishes and may continue for a long time after the skin symptoms have disappeared. In the elderly, particularly, the suffering may injure health.

Iodine may be helpful, while spectacular cures have resulted from the injection of extract of the pituitary gland. In addition, large doses of vitamin B1 [thiamin chloride] have been employed with striking effects. In fact, B complex is an excellent remedy on the assumption that a nerve irritation is present. Naturally, the patient must be kept quiet and supplied with enough sedatives to relieve discomfort. A highly nutritious diet likewise is in order. If appetite flags, the feeding of extra quantities of B will prove of value.

Local applications must be soothing in character. The parts should be kept clean so as to avoid bacterial infection and covered with a sterile powder. Occasionally scars will persist after recovery or the involved areas may harbor deposits of dark pigment constituting permanent brownish blemishes.

Zoster is partial to adults, while cold sores favor children and young people. Few, if any, of these virus infections will attack us if we make it a rule not to invite them.

DROOPING LIDS.

REPLY.

Many individuals possess this characteristic altho no disease is present. If the condition appears gradually or suddenly, myasthenia gravis or some nerve lesion should be thought of. The sandman may be responsible.

MADAM PERKINS' SEA SHELLS.

Chicago, April 2.—Nero fiddled while Rome burned and Madam [Beachcomber] Perkins gathers sea shells on a California vacation while thousands of Americans are deprived of their right to earn a livelihood. Nothing can be done because she says the strikes don't "follow any of the rules." How ridiculous.

Perhaps I'm as dumb as Harry Hopkins says we Americans are, but I just can't understand the Roosevelts. Mrs. Roosevelt just talks and talks till she contradicts herself. On second thought I think I'll keep the few pieces of kitchen aluminum I managed to acquire with such difficulty. My few pieces can't possibly be any more important than a mess of sea shells.

The President doesn't care if he loses popularity with the bulk of Americans who have sons to be sacrificed just so his action [or inaction] pleases the union racketeers and strike agitators. He has his eye focused on trampled Europeans but he can't see the trampled Americans in Gary and Milwaukee, who are denied their right to go to work peacefully.

I thought for a while he was going to turn the country over to Britain, but now it looks like we're on our way to Stalin. Don't we have any real he-man senators with a backbone to take the situation by the horns?

I'm not a pacifist, nor pro-German, nor pro-anything else—just American and thoroly DISGUSTED.

Evanston, Ill., April 2.—It's ridiculous on the face of it for Madam Perkins to try to make us believe her main interest in California was to gather sea shells. We all know the long drawn out Bridges affair came up out there this week.

W. W. N.

Chicago, April 2.—"I'm anxious to get straight home with my sea shells," says the secretary of labor, while strikers riot at the gates of munitions plants.

For heaven's sake, Mr. Roosevelt, let the lady stay home with her sea shells. Give her job to some one who is primarily interested in the cause and cure of labor troubles; preferably a cigar smoking, whiskey drinking, poker playing ex-workman who knows the score and has some guts and gumption.

TAKE A BOW, MR. HAMPSON.

Chicago, March 24.—I read with great interest Philip Hampson's article on Diesel freight engine No. 100 which appeared in the Graphic section of SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE. I desire to compliment Mr. Hampson both on the accuracy of this story and on the other stories which he has written recently on this engine and the subject of Diesel transportation generally. He appears to have the happy faculty, missing in so many writers, of being able to combine strict accuracy of fact with an entertaining and pleasing style of writing.

I wish also to express my great personal appreciation of the very friendly interest which THE TRIBUNE is taking in the development of Diesel power.

REGULAR UNIFORMS FOR RESERVE MILITIA.

Chicago, April 1.—The National Guard has gone into camp and our city lacks the usual military force behind the police. However, volunteers are rallying to form the new home guard, the Illinois reserve militia.

Of course the new guard is entitled to the regulation uniform of the American army. But the regular martinets, always suspicious of volunteer encroachments, think not. They ought to know, but they don't. The civilian view is not theirs. As a guardhouse lawyer of the old school, I remind them that the ancillary markings tell of rank and service.

Let no one assume that the new guard is too green. About 40 per cent are veterans, and the officers are an outfit seasoned at Santiago, Chipilly Ridge, and in other campaigns, whence they came home hump-shouldered from toting medals. Tell those men they are not fit for the regulation uniform? I would not dare.

The regulation uniform is essential for the morale of the new force. In emergency it would be a military advantage. Those of us who have seen sadistic mobs in action are strong for the standard uniform for the I. R. M. Think of the folly of garbing veterans in such manner as to proclaim them rookies! How much better that seditious elements in our midst be impelled to think twice at the sight of the regular uniform.

THE PRICE OF BUTTER.

Chicago, April 1.—I want to know who is responsible for this crime against American childhood, to wit: the exorbitant price of butter—exorbitant, I say, because this commodity is listed as a "surplus product" by our government on its commodity surplus lists posted in all grocery stores.

If there is a surplus, why isn't the price within the limits of an $18 or $25 a week salary? Children of the working man also need butter, need the vitamin A it contains—need it because the lack of it in time will affect the eyesight.

Raising the price of vitally needed foodstuffs—raising them in the face of so-called surpluses—is an obnoxious crime against all ethical Christian reasoning. Certainly it can't be the American way of life!

CHICAGO MOTHER.

OCTOPUS ROOSEVELTI.

Battle Creek, Mich., March 31.—I have waited long to see some comment on the naming of an octopus by the National museum—"Octopus Roosevelti." How very appropriate the name seems when we look around us and see the giant tentacles of Octopus Roosevelti seizing upon every phase of our national life, and squeezing the lifeblood from every private business and individual thru taxation and regimentation. The octopus bids fair to seize and swallow our entire nation, leaving nothing but bloodless slaves to do its bidding!

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problems a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name and address are disregarded. A self addressed envelope will expedite handling.

CHANGE OF NAME.

Chicago Heights, Ill., March 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a problem I wish you would kindly solve for me. My mother was divorced and remarried. I was born during this first marriage, but my mother gave me my stepfather's name, which I want to keep, but she did not have it changed legally and I would like to know how I should go about this. Also could you tell me what the charges will be to have my name legally changed.

T. M.

"It is sufficient, in legal proceedings and elsewhere, that a person is designated by a name by which he is commonly known and called, even tho it is not his true name. . . . A marriage by the name by which the individual is commonly known is valid. . . . Where it is not done for fraudulent purpose, and in the absence of statutory restriction, one may lawfully change his name without resort to any legal proceedings, and for all purposes the name thus assumed will constitute his legal name just as if he had borne it from birth." 45 C. J. 380, 381.

In Reinken vs. Reinken, 351 Ill. 409, these principles were applied in holding that a divorced woman can resume her maiden name without court permission.

Chap. 96 of the Illinois Revised Statutes, provides that a person "may" file a petition and secure a court order, but it is held that such statutes do not abrogate the common law right of an individual to change his name without application to the courts.

In adopting a new name, one should for convenience give notice of the change to those persons to whom the information may be material. In a series of transactions beginning under the old name, for example, dealings with a real estate title, we suggest continuing to use the old name, or using both names coupled with such an expression as "formerly known as," to avoid confusion. If an additional showing is asked for, affidavits should suffice.

EXTEND DAYLIGHT TIME? ALDERMEN, MAYOR BACK PLAN

Only 4 in Council Opposed; Hearing Monday.

Mayor Kelly and a majority of the aldermen yesterday declared in favor of the proposal to extend daylight saving time thru October. Under the existing ordinance daylight saving time is in effect from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September.

Ald. John J. Duffy [19th] and Ald. John J. Grealis [44th] have asked the council to extend the daylight rule to the last Sunday in October because, in Duffy's words, "October is one of the most pleasant months of the year in this part of the country."

Mayor Tells His Stand.

"Aldermen Duffy and Grealis are entirely correct," Mayor Kelly said. "One of the prime reasons for daylight saving time is to give working people the advantage of daylight after they return home from work.

"October evenings are cool and enjoyable, and every little bit of daylight should be preserved. I see no reason why any one could logically oppose the extension of daylight saving time for one month."

A poll of the members of the city council showed that 33 are in favor of the proposal, eight are noncommittal, and four are opposed. Three members could not be reached for comment. The council has 48 members, and 25 would constitute a majority.

Ald. Grant Enthusiastic.

Ald. Benjamin A. Grant [3d] was one of the most enthusiastic of those in favor of the extension. "The colored people in my ward on the near south side need all the benefit they can get from daylight," he said. "They work long hours, and many of them do not arrive at home until late in the evening. To extend daylight time thru October would assist them to enjoy their leisure time."

On the far northwest side Ald. William J. Cowhey [41st] declared, "Ald. Duffy wants the time extended because he says people want to work in their gardens during October. That is one of the major reasons I favor the extension. Most of my constituents live in houses, and during October they are preparing their gardens and lawns for the winter. They want to get outside in the daylight after dinner."

Others Favor Measure.

Aldermen Bryan Hartnett [12th], Hugh P. Connelly [11th], Michael P. Hogan [13th], Thomas P. Keane [31st], and Edwin F. Meyer [45th] were others who were enthusiastic in their support of their measure.

Most of those aldermen who were noncommittal said they favored the extension personally but want to canvass their constituents before making a final decision.

A public hearing on the proposal will be held Monday by the council judiciary committee. Ald. H. L. Brody [39th] is chairman. Many aldermen who are not members of the committee but who favor the proposal expect to attend.

STEP RIGHT UP! CIRCUS IS COMING TO TOWN APRIL 18

An aerial ballet of 30 women trapeze performers will engage in precision routines to music. There are more than 200 performers in the circus.

OLD DAYLIGHT SAVING LAW IN INDIANAPOLIS IS RULED EFFECTIVE

Indianapolis, Ind., April 3 [Special]. —Daylight saving time, subject to heated controversy among Indianapolis citizens in the last few weeks, may go into effect automatically the second Sunday in May unless the city council takes some action in the meantime. It would continue until the last Sunday in October.

This possibility was revealed today in an opinion by Edward H. Knight, corporation counsel.

Action by the 1941 Indiana general assembly in repealing a state law which prohibited daylight saving time in first class cities [Indianapolis], has made a 1928 daylight saving ordinance effective again, in Knight's belief.

GRANGE'S FATHER WINS ORDER FOR RETURN OF JOB

Judge William J. Fulton of Sycamore, sitting in the Du Page county Circuit court, yesterday issued a writ of mandamus requiring the city of Wheaton to reinstate Lyle Grange as a member of its police force. Grange is the father of Harold [Red] Grange, former football star, and was Wheaton's chief until he resigned last October. He asserted that he had been forced to resign. City Attorney Willard Cain said he would appeal the court order and denied there had been any coercion of Grange, who is 67 years old. One of Grange's contentions is that he quit only as chief and had not intended to leave the police force.

GRAND JURY ENDS QUIZ ON GREEN'S RELEASE ORDERS

The grand jury yesterday completed its investigation into the release by Judge Thomas A. Green of a score of prisoners from the county jail before the expiration of sentences he imposed on them. The jury will report today.

Emmet Olin, 1509 North Lockwood avenue, whose wife said she paid $165 to two public employés for his release after he served 5 days of a 30 day term for drunken driving, appeared before the jury but declined to testify on the ground he might incriminate himself. Another witness yesterday was Attorney Fred Malley. Mrs. Della Butters of Kankakee said she paid Malley $90 when introduced to him by a Safety court bailiff, and that later her brother, John Rogacz, was freed after serving 2 days of a 10 day sentence for drunken driving. Malley said the $90 was a legal fee.

In the regular monthly assignment of Muncipal court judges yesterday, Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby assigned Judge Green to the civil branch. Judge Green, who had been in the Safety court in February, had been sitting in the criminal Jury and Auto courts.

WOMAN'S TEARS CLOSE U. S. TRAP ON ALKY SELLER

Elusive Alien Is Convicted After 10 Year Career.

A true detective story about a wily lawbreaker who evaded federal investigators time after time for 10 years, only to be trapped finally by the tears of a woman agent, was told yesterday in the federal courtroom of Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

The lawbreaker is Gil Miranda, 38 years old, of 535 West 115th street, a bootlegger. He is a Portuguese alien who has lived in Chicago most of his adult life. The woman who, by a clever ruse, collected the evidence against him is Miss Lumilda Hunter, 35, a comely brunette.

Martin S. Gerber, assistant United States attorney, and Miranda told the story after Miranda and two companions had pleaded guilty to making and selling untaxed alcohol.

Called Clever Operator.

"This man," Gerber said, pointing at Miranda, "is one of the biggest independent operators of illicit stills in Chicago and has been so for 10 years. He is also one of the cleverest. We have traced the ownership of five stills to him. We had secret agents, informers, and regular agents of the alcohol tax unit trailing him for years, but this is the first time the law ever caught up with him.

"He slipped last December when he sold 50 gallons of untaxed liquor to Miss Hunter and another undercover agent, Cyrus B. Thomas, for $115. It was the first time any agent had succeeded in buying from him. Previously his spies had tipped him off when to expect government agents and he always refused to sell."

Miranda, at Judge Sullivan's direction, then took up the story.

"She [Miss Hunter] came into my place [Miranda owns the Columbia Liquor store at 11447 South Michigan avenue, Gerber said] and she was crying like a baby—just like a baby," said Miranda. "She said she had to have some liquor to sell so that she could raise a little money to care for her sick mother.

"I told her I didn't have any, but she wouldn't go away, and she cried and cried. Finally I told her I would try to help."

Gerber then told the court that Miranda had sold the 50 gallons of liquor to her and Thomas, who posed as her sweetheart.

Two Aids Ask Leniency.

Peter Chiolero, 30, 12054 Perry avenue, and Manuel Pires, 33, of 11542 Yale avenue, who helped deliver the liquor, pleaded for leniency on the ground they had never been in trouble before and that they have families to support.

Miss Hunter, seated in the rear of the courtroom, smiled faintly as Judge Sullivan read the terms of the sentences to his clerk, William Keeley: Miranda, 28 months; Chiolero, 8 months; Pires, 4 months. Execution of the sentences was stayed until April 22.

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.

Dorothy Roberts.

Play Broadcast, W-G-N's fun quiz, moves to a new period tonight. The program will be scheduled tonight and next Friday at 7:30 p. m., and following that will settle down to a regular period of 8:30 p. m. each Friday. Play Broadcast employs special sound effects and musical clues in presenting the brain teasers. Dorothy Roberts, Bill Anson, and Marvin Mueller, who have a range of voices and characters of nearly 200 types, are featured. Also sharing the spotlight will be Announcer Guy Savage, June Baker, home economist, and Harold Stokes and the W-G-N Dance orchestra.

Another quiz, Shoot the Works, will be aired for the first time over W-G-N at 9:15 p. m. Marvin Mueller is master of ceremonies. The show will be heard each Friday at the same hour, offering a battle of wits and comedy.

Lawrence Tibbett will be the guest soloist with the Philadelphia orchestra during its broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 2:15 to 3:15 p. m. today. Eugene Ormandy will conduct the orchestra.

I Want a Divorce, the dramatic series starring Joan Blondell, is scheduled at 8:30 p. m. Raymond Gram Swing, W-G-N Mutual news analyst, will be heard at 9 p. m.

MUM'S THE WORD NO LONGER FOR MUSEUM MUMMY

The secrets of Harwa, who 2,800 years ago was custodian of storage houses on a large agricultural estate in Egypt, will be exposed to public view beginning today at the Field Museum, where he will be on display.

Harwa is a mummy. Once just a mine-run mummy, who had lain neglected in the basement of the museum since 1904, he came into his own when the General Electric company borrowed him for an exhibit at the New York World's Fair and rigged up an X-ray machine to bare Harwa's bones to the public. After the fair the machine was given to the museum.

Visitors to the Egyptian hall will first see Harwa in his conventional dress, the external wrappings of fine linen. Then a fluoroscopic screen will glide across his figure, and an electric current of 125,000 volts will activate X-rays which reveal his ancient skeleton. Examination will disclose that Harwa is lacking a 12th rib and may have had an abscessed tooth when death cut him off in his prime, somewhere betwen his 25th and 40th year.

3 EXPERTS HIRED TO SEEK CUTS IN COUNTY SPENDING

The Cook county survey committee, authorized by the county board to make recommendations for reducing county expenditures, has hired a three man staff and set up offices at 127 North Dearborn street, Lee J. Howard, chairman, said yesterday. Harland C. Stockwell, assistant secretary of the Civic Federation, will head the staff, and will be assisted by John W. Ingram and Corbett Long, efficiency experts. The survey, for which the county board appropriated $20,000, is expected to take several months.

ORDER TAX SALES OF 256 LOTS IN ELMHURST TRACT

Circuit Judge Win G. Knoch of Du Page county yesterday ordered the sale of 256 vacant lots in an Elmhurst subdivision to satisfy tax delinquencies. Lee Daniels, state's attorney, and other officials said that the delinquencies in some instances run to more than the value of the properties and have been accruing for 10 years. Owners have 30 days to pay or appeal the order. The sales are to be made at the end of that period. The properties are all in the Goss, Judd and Sherman Crescent Park subdivision.

WIFE OF LOVE THEFT SLAYER ACTS TO AID HIM

Hints of a reconciliation between Mrs. Waneta Appelt, 28 years old, and her estranged husband, Walter, 32, who is awaiting trial for slaying his wife's suitor, Joseph R. Lorenz, were given to Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday. Mrs. Appelt's mother, Mrs. Ida Koontz, whom Appelt described as the "perfect mother-in-law," said she and her daughter were willing to do anything possible to help Appelt in his forthcoming trial.

Mrs. Appelt's lawyer, Norman Becker, asked a continuance in her divorce action so that the criminal case against Appelt will not be prejudiced. The judge continued the case until May 5. He remarked that he had received a letter from Appelt saying that there might be a reconciliation. "I have seen my husband in jail," Mrs. Appelt said, "and a friendly feeling exists between us."

After Appelt shot Lorenz March 10 near the victim's home at 4521 Malden street, Mrs. Appelt said she would do nothing to help her husband.

Four in Family Killed When Fire Destroys Home

Philadelphia, Pa., April 3 (AP).—Four members of a family of seven perished early today in a fire that destroyed their home in suburban West Manayunk. The victims were Charles Merman Sr., 63; his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elsie Merman, 28, and her two small children, Betty and Charles. All were asleep when the blaze started.

KIN OF SLATTERY QUITS POST ON STATE PAY ROLLS

Norbert Johnson, a son-in-law of ex-Senator James M. Slattery, has resigned his position as a senior auditor with the state finance department, it was announced yesterday by David Shillinglaw, head of the Chicago office of the department. Johnson left Wednesday to enter private industry, Shillinglaw said.

Johnson had a civil service rating and his salary in the department was $2,700 a year.

20 Who Became Policemen in April, 1917, Plan Party

Twenty policeman—two captains, four sergeants and 14 patrolmen—who were among 48 policemen who joined the force on April 6, 1917, will hold their annual reunion Sunday in Barney's Market club, 741 West Randolph street. The officers are Capt. Louis Klatzko of the Fillmore station, Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's office, and Sergeants William Schultz, Thomas Cooper, Steven Casey, and Arthur Wentzel.

Firemen Lift a Street Car, Save Woman Underneath

A woman pedestrian, pinned beneath a street car, was extricated in less than five minutes yesterday by rescue squad No. 1 of the fire department. The victim, Mrs. W. R. Murdo, 54 years old, of 57 West Erie street, was struck at State and Ohio streets. Squad No. 1 lifted the street car with jacks, removed Mrs. Murdo, and she was taken to Henrotin hospital. Her condition is serious.

HEWITT MOVES TO RID AIRPORT OF RAIL TRACKS

Road Contends New Route Not Completed.

Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, asserted last night that he will send an engineer to Chicago airport today to determine when the new railroad tracks which the city has constructed to replace those of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad, which now bisect the airfield, will be ready for use.

The new tracks were constructed along 55th street, north of the airport, under an agreement with the railroad to make the entire mile square field available. The new half of the field—the north half—cannot be used until the old tracks are removed.

Recently, Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes told Hewitt the new tracks were ready. Hewitt subsequently notified the railroad to remove the old tracks. Yesterday J. R. Barse, vice president of the railroad, said the new tracks together with an interlocking switch system are still not complete.

Control Intersecting Lines.

The interlocking system has been constructed to control switches of the C. & W. I. and the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad which intersect at the new tracks.

In addition to ordering his own engineer to survey the work, Hewitt sent letters last night to the chief engineers of both railroads, telling them he had been informed the work was completed and asking their confirmation. He asked them to tell him when the work will be finished, if it is not now complete.

Early this week Barse informed Joseph Grossman, first assistant corporation counsel, that unless the city agrees to pay an estimated $10,627 for certain legal fees and mortgage releases in connection with land the railroad formerly owned along the right of way crossing the airport, the railroad will not accept the new tracks.

Yesterday Barse said that the connections of the new tracks to the railroad's main line have not been completed. He said it will be some time before they are ready.

Says Fees Won't Hold Up Project.

The estimate of the railroad for $10,627 in fees for the release of mortgages and transfer of the new right of way would not affect the ultimate removal of the present tracks which bisect the airport because any difference with the city over that amount will in all probability be settled before that time arrives, Barse said.

He explained that the amount named is an estimate of charges which may be made against the railroad by trustees of the railroad's mortgages against which bonds have been sold. He said such charges may possibly be for legal expenses, appraisals or engineering fees.

Grossman said: "The $10,627 estimate of the railroad is for costs incident to the railroad's corporate obligations and not the removal of tracks. If the railroad has an agreement with its trustees about fees to be charged for executing a release of mortgages, that is the business of the railroad and not the city. Such a fee is as unjust as if the railroad said it had an agreement with a trustee to pay $100,000 for a release of a mortgage."

Expenditures Itemized.

Gross said the railroad has given the city an itemized statement for $9,373 in expenditures in connection with the track removal prior to February, 1939, when the contract between the city and railroad was signed. The $10,627 is to apply to expenditures by the trustees since that time.

"Besides," Grossman said, "The railroad asks that the city deposit $20,000 with the escrowee, the American National Bank and Trust company, to cover the $10,627 estimate. As part of the agreement the city now has on deposit with the escrowee more than $240,000. There is more than enough there to pay all bills and cover the $20,000 if it should happen to be a just debt."

Appear on W-G-N

Jane Pickens singing on W-G-N program, In Chicago Tonight.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Bob Evans, ventriloquist, and his dummy, Jerry, also on program.

Hilarity and harmony were offered to W-G-N and Mutual listeners last evening during the In Chicago Tonight program. The comedy was provided by Dave Apollon, a specialist in frenzied dialect, and by Bob Evans, the ventriloquist, and Jerry, his boxwood boy. Sweet music was provided by Jane Pickens, Crooner Jerry Cooper, and the W-G-N orchestra and chorus directed by Harold Stokes.

Apollon regaled his listeners with a discusion of making and enjoying borsch, the Russiah ragout. This captured the interest of Michael Wilkomirski, the W-G-N concert master, so that he pitched in a mouthful or two of Slavic syllables, too, to flavor the dish.

Miss Pickens, who with Cooper and Apollon are featured in the Ed Wynn revue, "Boys and Girls Together," at the Selwyn theater, sang "I Do, Do You?" and "Two Hearts That Pass in the Night." Jerry Cooper sang "Lazy River" and "May I Never Love Again." Evans and Jerry, who are at the Palmer House, gave listeners a look-in on the life of a draftee. Lou Jackobson produced the show.

PLAN FOR 60 NEW FLYING SCHOOLS TOLD BY STIMSON

Washington, D. C., April 3 (AP).—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson announced today the army air corps plans to establish more than three score new schools to permit training of 30,000 pilots a year.

Stimson said stepping up pilot training from the present annual rate of 12,000 would entail creation at the outset of 10 additional army flying schools. Ultimately 31 others are to be established. In addition, the civil flying schools which give elementary training to fledgling pilots are to be increased from the existing 28 to 48.

Under the latest air force expansion for which congress voted funds last week, 100,000 technicians are to be trained annually instead of the present 45,000. Stimson said this would require an early 29 million dollar outlay for new schools at Biloxi, Miss., and Wichita Falls, Tex., and for additional housing at existing schools.

Crime Body Restates Stand Against Ward-Rennick Bill

The board of directors of the Chicago Crime commission yesterday restated the commission's opposition to passage by the Illinois legislature of the Ward-Rennick bill, which would curb the powers of the state parole board in releasing inmates of penitentiaries by enabling judges to fix more definitly the length of sentences. The commission's stand had already been outlined in a bulletin a month ago. The commission also opposed the similar Ward-Schnackenburg bill, which was vetoed by Gov. Henry Horner.

INDIANA PRISON PROBES DARING ESCAPE ATTEMPT

Officials of the Indiana state prison at Michigan City are conducting an inquiry to learn how six convicts obtained hacksaws with which they sawed their way out of their cells in a break for liberty Wednesday night.

Each man had sawed thru three bars of his cell, a total of 18 bars. Two of the blades were recovered. Warden Alfred E. Dowd said that all saws used in prison work are checked in and out daily by a guard. A count is to be made to determine whether any of them are missing. Dowd will report on the escape attempt at a meeting of the prison board today.

The six men who tried to get away are Arthur Skusewich, Richard Sweet, Paul Pierce, Fred Adams, Kenneth Rogers and Theodore Hulbert. All except Hulbert are lifers. They held one guard captive for more than an hour, and tied another to an outside flagpole. Rogers was about to lead the way in a climb over the prison walls when a tower guard saw him and fired two shots. Rogers fell, fracturing his wrists. All six men were seized and placed in solitary confinement.

DISABLED VETS LAUNCH CRIME FIGHTING DRIVE

More than 200 Disabled American Veterans of the World War met last night in the Hotel Sherman to honor the national commander, Vincent E. Schoeck, of Detroit, Mich., and to launch an educational crime prevention program.

Schoeck was presented with a large cake which was inscribed, "Crime Does Not Pay," the warning that is to be printed on posters to be put up in public places thruout the nation. Industrial houses will be given stickers to place on packages.

Col. W. D. Jones of Rockford, the state commander, and Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin, commander of the Illinois Reserve militia, were among those present.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & CO

NAB JOHN CAPONE IN RAID ON BOOKIE CLEARING HOUSE

Police Seize Five Others at Telephones.

Evidence to show that the Frank Nitti syndicate has taken over a considerable share of the bootleg information service for bookmakers was uncovered yesterday when Capt. Ray Crane of the Woodlawn police district raided a well hidden clearing house and arrested six men, one of them John Capone, brother of the notorious Alphonse.

The place, on the second floor at 6233 Cottage Grove avenue, was described by the police as the nerve center of the bookie network over a large area of the south side. Those arrested were all at work on a battery of telephones. It is believed that the place had a dual function—to clear large bets for its patrons and to furnish race results.

Capone Gives False Name.

Capone, who is 39 years old, gave the alias Phil Cohen and said his home was at 5107 Blackstone avenue. His real identity was disclosed by finger prints. He has a small police record, but has not been under arrest since 1932, when he was released without a charge being placed against him. In 1922 he was fined $5 and costs as an inmate of a disorderly house, and in 1930 was arrested as a vagrant in Florida.

The others taken into custody gave their names as Frank Milano, 41 years old, of 753 Arthington street; Max Berg, 46, of 5101 Blackstone avenue; Al Meyers, 31, of 5130 Dorchester avenue; Ben Wilson, alias Ben Weiner, 36, of 5130 Dorchester avenue, and Albert Weiner, 28, of 1935 East 71st street. Of the five only Wilson has a record. He was charged with extortion in 1931 and was put on probation for a year.

Capone was never prominent in gang affairs during his brother's rule over the Chicago underworld in the prohibition era, but he is known as a close friend of Nitti.

Nitti Places Discovered.

Bertram J. Cahn, head of the Chicago Crime commission, last night said that the commission's investigators had discovered several places running as gambling headquarters under Nitti control, and that these had been raided after being reported to the police.

"The syndicate is seeking more power in this field," Cahn said.

The Cottage Grove office was over a furniture store and gave no outward indication of its real status. All its work was done by telephone and no patrons were received.

Only Entry Thru Store.

Capt. Crane said that the place operated under the name of the Ace News service and that the only entry was thru the furniture store. He added that it had been operating only since Monday.

"None of the prisoners will be booked until we have made a thoro investigation," the captain said.

Crane was transferred to the Woodlawn district last Sunday. His predecessor, Capt. Eugene Barry, was sent to the Brighton Park district by Police Commissioner Allman's orders.

AMERICAN USE OF SINGAPORE IS TOPIC AT MANILA

MANILA, P. I., April 3 (AP).—American use of Britain's naval base at Singapore in event the far eastern situation becomes intensified was said by reliable sources today to have been discussed in two informal conferences between Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, British commander-in-chief in the far east, and high ranking American authorities.

The discussions took place at a luncheon and dinner honoring Sir Robert and centered on tactical questions, informants said, in which use of Singapore was featured. The dinner was tendered by Francis B. Sayre, high commissioner. Guests were believed to have included Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, and Major General George Grunert, commander of the Philippine department.

Sir Robert visited Fort William McKinley in the forenoon. The visit was featured by a mass flight of 100 American military planes. Sir Robert left for Hongkong late today by plane.

GREEN'S ADVISERS MAKE REVISIONS IN TAX PROPOSALS

Gov. Green's advisory tax committee met yesterday in the Union League club to make revisions in its preliminary report which proposes an overhauling of the state's tax and financial structure. Deneen A. Watson, chairman, said the committee will make a final report to Gov. Green in two or three days. The report, as now prepared, urges a reduction in the state's 15,155 taxing units, prescribes methods for more efficient assessing and collecting activities, and proposes many administrative changes. The only new source of revenue suggested is a tax of 5 cents a barrel on oil production.

Robs Woman of $450 Rings After Knocking Her Down

Mrs. Viola Laris, 4854 North Washtenaw, was robbed of a purse containing $6 in cash and two diamond rings valued at $450 yesterday by a bandit, who knocked her down at Washtenaw avenue and Gunnison street. The robber fled in an automobile driven by a second man. Walter Norlund, 50 years old, of 2527 Ainslie street, a passing motorist, gave chase in his automobile, but lost sight of the bandit car at Kedzie and Lawrence avenues.

GREEN PLANNING TO OFFER BUDGET OF HALF A BILLION

Topped Only by One Which Stelle Submitted.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 3.—Governor Green publicly indicated his intention today to submit to the general assembly a budget of more than half a billion dollars.

He gave out general figures resulting from his many conferences with the legislative budgetary commission, which placed the total of the contemplated budget at $503,953,422.

With one exception, this is the largest budget ever proposed for the state. On the eve of his retirement last January, John Stelle, who succeeded the late Henry Horner but served as governor only three months, proposed a budget totaling $523,664,374. It was not taken seriously.

Some Previous Figures.

Figures vary on the total appropriations of the last general session. Gov. Green's press release said it was $508,778,706. The state auditor's biennial report says it was $495,640,646. The total used by the budgetary commission in its report last year was $490,278,253.

The present finance department, which prepared the figures for the governor's press release, reconciled these figures by saying it had deducted from the total of 1939 appropriations $25,000,000 voted to make up deficiencies of the preceding biennium and had added $38,000,000 in similar appropriations this year, arriving at the $508,778,706 total.

By the use of this figure the official release announced a decrease of $4,825,284 over the appropriations for the present biennium. It was pointed out, however, that the administration's total covers only its own bills and not the other appropriations that will be originated in the general assembly itself and the increases that it probably will add to the administration bills.

Considered a Record.

On this basis, unprejudiced experts say that the total appropriations by the 62d general assembly, the present one, will be the largest in history.

The biggest single item listed on the decrease side in the Green release was $30,642,000 from the appropriation for relief. This amounts to $1,250,000 a month.

On the other side of the ledger, explaining why the $30,000,000 cut was not a net saving, were listed increases amounting to $16,764,544—and the list was not complete. The biggest item was an increase of $8,759,000 for old age pensions—bringing the total state appropriation for this purpose to $49,001,390 and, since the federal government matches this amount, meaning a total expenditure for aged Illinoisans during the next biennium up to $98,001,780.

List of Increases.

Some of the other larger increases mentioned in the release were these:

University of Illinois	$1,125,653
Common school fund	1,886,000
Public welfare department	2,879,682
Finance department	500,000
State Normal schools	455,000
Department of public health	200,000
Attorney general	474,580
State auditor	225,000

The one place a decrease was reported—and this was not in the press release—was in the estimate for the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, the one Democratic office holder in the statehouse. It was reliably reported that the budgetary commission, in its sessions with the governor, had voted to cut his appropriation $55,500. The secretary, it has been understood, preferred to take his chances with the legislature rather than the commission.

An Earlier Release.

In a release earlier in the day the administration dwelt on the difference between appropriations for general purposes and those made from funds raised exclusively for special purposes—funds such as the gasoline tax fund, automobile and driver's license funds, and federal funds restricted to specific purposes.

In this way the release sought to show a reduction of $16,865,482 in the proposed appropriations from general purpose funds. The appropriations from special purpose funds increased $11,940 under the estimate.

SEEK TO LIFT BAN ON INDIANA'S NEW REVAMPING LAWS

Indianapolis, Ind., April 3 [Special].—Four Republican state officeholders, restrained by a county Circuit court temporary injunction from proceeding under state decentralization acts of the 1941 Indiana legislature, appealed today to the Indiana Supreme court.

The injunction was sought before Judge Earl Cox, Democrat, by Gov. Henry F. Schricker, only Democrat to be elected to Indiana state office last November. The legislature, Republican controlled for the first time since Democrats in 1933 put unprecedented appointive power in the hands of the governor, repealed the "little New Deal" laws, and restored appointive power to various boards of state officials. Schricker would be the minority member of each of these boards and thus shorn of practically all statehouse patronage.

AGE PENSIONER PROPERTY LIEN PLAN EXPLAINED

State Gets Little of Its Money Back.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 3.—Reasons behind the proposal of Deneen Watson, chairman of Gov. Green's tax conference, that the legislature levy a lien on the real estate of old age pensioners were revealed today.

The relief law provides that beneficiaries may own property or have assets within certain limits, but that in such instances the state shall be reimbursed for pension payments from recipients' estates following their death. However, figures obtained at the division of old age assistance disclose that only a minor fraction of payments made under these circumstances have been returned.

The Law's Requirements.

In addition to requirements that a recipient be not less than 65 years old, a citizen, a resident of Illinois for five of the last nine years, and a continuous resident for the last year, the assistance law states he must show that his annual income does not exceed $360 and his total assets are not valued at more than $400. Homesteads are exempt. If property other than homesteads brings the assets beyond the $400 limit he must offer it for sale at his own price, before becoming eligible.

Since pensions began in April, 1936, a total of $65,045,712 of state money has been paid to recipients, who now total 144,389, but only $202,655 has been recovered—either from estates, from relatives of deceased pensioners, or from recipients themselves who had a financial windfall and honored their obligation to the state.

State Comes Sixth.

Officials of the division have only one explanation for the infinitesimal size of the return. They said today that it is caused by the provision in the probate law placing the state's claim in the sixth class—which means that almost all other charges against an estate are paid before the state's claim is considered.

Taking the precedence over the state debt are these: Funeral and estate administration expense; widow's and children's awards; debts due the federal government; physicians' fees and money due employés for the last four months of the last illness, and money held in trust.

When these claims have been satisfied, then the state gets what is left.

Watson proposes that the law be changed so that a lien would be placed on the real estate of all pensioners. This would be filed by the state with the county clerk of the recipient's county and would operate against all real property owned by the individual in that county. If he had property in other counties, similar liens would be filed there.

Under such a lien, property could not be transferred, except subject to the incumbrance owed the state, and upon death the lien would take precedence over all other claims against the estate save for taxes.

Gov. Green was asked today if he wanted to express an opinion on the advisability of such a law.

"Not at this time," he replied.

Opinion Expected Soon.

It was regarded likely that the governor would express an opinion when the tax conference submits its program to him, which it is expected within a few days—perhaps next week.

The Illinois pension law was passed in 1935 for a $30 maximum, based upon need, and the first payments were made for the month of April, 1936. In the first three months of operation, pensions averaging $11.71 were paid to 4,486 recipients.

Since that time the roll, and the average pension, have increased tremendously until last month an average of $22.56 was paid to 144,389 recipients. The state and the federal government share the burden equally and their combined payments in Illinois since the law became effective total $130,091,423. Recoveries reached $405,310, which was split between Springfield and Washington.

From figures supplied by Wallace Clark, acting head of the old age assistance division, it is possible to present a table showing the fiscal year increases in pensioners, pensions, and recoveries. It follows:

	Pensioners.	Total assistance.	Recoveries.
1936	4,486	69,624	....
1937	115,560	16,239,813	$ 8,393
1938	125,154	24,717,742	43,499
1939	132,518	28,226,371	76,461
1940	138,082	33,062,852	137,668

Recoveries are increasing, Clark said. Between July 1, 1940, and March 1, 1941—eight months of the current fiscal year—they totaled $139,289.

TAXPAYERS DEMAND FIRE, WATER SERVICE IN SHAWNEETOWN

Shawneetown, Ill., April 3 [Special].—Five residents of old Shawneetown today petitioned Circuit court here to require the city government to return tax supported services to their community. Most of the city has been moved to a new site three miles inland from the Ohio river's damaging flood waters but both communities are under the same government.

The petitioners demanded that the city be compelled to show cause why money collected from them as taxes for the upkeep of the fire department, for water service, and levee protection have been diverted to the new town, denying them of these services.

They contend that new Shawneetown is merely a housing addition to the legally established city whose boundaries were fixed by the federal government in 1818, and is not entitled to usurp Shawneetown's governmental jurisdiction.

PLANNING BOARD INDORSES TOLL SUPER-ROAD BILL

Advisory Body Backs Act to Give City Highways.

By a vote of 35 to 10, the city planning advisory board last night recommended the passage of an enabling act authorizing the appointment of a special highway authority with power to construct and maintain toll superhighways for Chicagoland.

The meeting was held in the city council chambers. Morton Bodfish, chairman of the board, presided. He is vice chairman of the Chicago Plan commission, whose members are also members of the board.

100 Attend Meeting.

More than 100 persons representing neighborhood associations, civic groups and clubs attended. James E. Bulger, vice president, appeared for the Chicago Motor club.

The board's recommendation, as adopted last night, will be transmitted to the legislature at Springfield, which has been considering the toll superhighway project. The enabling act would apply to any county with 300,000 or more population, thus restricting it to Cook county.

Under the toll superhighway plan, the authority would be empowered to sell 30 million dollars' worth of bonds for the construction of superhighways. The interest and retirement of the principal would be paid from toll revenues. The authority would be empowered to reconstruct and widen existing streets, or open new streets within municipalities to provide connections with superhighways and existing street systems. It could also build bridges, grade separations, and tunnels. The authority would require approval of the county board or the state department of public works for some of its activities.

Reports Motorists Agreeable.

Vice President Bulger of the Motor club said that a test vote among 5,000 of the club's members showed almost 63 per cent in favor of toll superhighways.

Ald. George D. Kells [28th], chairman of the council traffic committee, said that the project is simply the first step in a long needed plan to solve Chicago's traffic congestion problems.

VISITOR IN CITY IS STRUCK AND KILLED BY AUTO

George Collar, 32 years old, of R. R. 1, Crawfordsville, Ind., who was staying in Chicago at the New Michigan hotel, 2135 South Michigan avenue, was struck and killed last night in front of the hotel by an automobile driven by Lawrence Johnson, 39, of 5006 St. Lawrence avenue, colored.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 203 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 154 were killed in Chicago, where 5,329 were injured in the same period.

MYSTERY WOMAN SOUGHT IN PROBE OF HOTEL DEATH

Toledo Police Puzzled by 3 Telegrams.

A mystery woman was being sought yesterday as police investigated circumstances surrounding the strange death of Elmer G. Hamel in a Toledo, O., hotel early in the morning. Hamel, who was 53 years old, was sales manager for the Crescent Mapleine company, 130 North Wells street. He lived at 1424 South 13th avenue, Maywood.

Elmer G. Hamel.

A clerk at the Hillcrest hotel in Toledo said Hamel and a woman registered Wednesday evening as Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Batson of Chicago. Several hours later the woman left the hotel alone and boarded a Chicago train at 1:30 a. m.

White Powder in Glasses.

Three hours later the hotel clerk, Henry Duvall, received a telegram which read: "Please look in on Mr. Batson. He is very ill." The telegram, signed "Mrs." had been sent from Elkhart, Ind. Duvall went to the room and found Hamel dead in bed. Two glasses which had contained a white powdery substance were on a table.

Coroner Frank G. Kreft of Toledo ordered a chemical analysis to determine whether Hamel died of poison or natural causes. A report on the analysis is expected today.

The mystery deepened about two hours after Hamel's body was found when a telegram was received at the hotel addressed to Mrs. Hamel. From Seattle, Wash., where Hamel's company's home offices are located, the telegram read: "So sorry your husband is ill." It was signed with a man's name, which police refused to reveal.

Telegram from Wife.

In another two hours a third telegram was received, but it escaped police notice until early yesterday afternoon. It was addressed to Hamel, sent from Maywood, and signed "Mrs. Hamel." The wire stated: "Will arrive 8:30 in the morning."

At the same time this wire was opened, a woman telephoned the hotel manager from a drug store booth in Chicago. "Is Mr. Batson all right?" she asked. "I was with him." When the manager stalled while police began tracing the call, she hung up.

Hamel is survived by his widow, Mrs. Oakley Hamel, who left for Toledo yesterday, and by two daughters, Shirley and Mary Alice.

ESCORT ROBBED, GIRL IS HELD 2½ HOURS BY BANDIT

Police are seeking a young bandit who robbed John Butero, 26 years old, 459 North Peoria street, of $9, stole his automobile, and held his companion, Miss Anne Policello, 22, of 3563 Lituanica avenue, captive for two and a half hours early yesterday.

The couple were sitting in the car, parked at Commonwealth avenue and Surf street, when the robber appeared, took Butero's money, forced him into the street, and drove away with Miss Policello. Butero notified police.

Miss Policello said the bandit parked near the Edgewater Beach hotel, molested her, then took $8 from her purse, and drove her to a street car line and released her.

MRS. MARY ROSS' FUNERAL SERVICE DRAWS OFFICIALS

State, county and city officials attended the funeral yesterday of Mrs. Mary Nash Ross, only daughter of Patrick A. Nash, chairman of the Democratic county central committee, in St. Matthew's Catholic church. Burial was in Calvary cemetery.

Msgr. Daniel Frawley was celebrant of the mass, and the Rev. H. M. Shea, pastor of St. Matthew's church, preached the sermon. Among pallbearers were Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state; Chief Justice James F. Fardy of the Criminal court; Ald. George D. Kells [28th] and Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley of the Superior court.

Among those in the procession from the Nash home at 3240 Washington street were Mayor Kelly, Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago park district; Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board; members of the county board and the city council, and judges of the Circuit, Superior, Appellate and Municipal courts.

Mrs. Ross died Sunday in Miami, Fla., of a heart attack. She was 36 years old. Surviving are her husband, George R. Ross, secretary of the Democratic County Central committee; and a son, as well as her parents.

MRS. WAIDLEY, 80, MOTHER OF TWO WAR DEAD, DIES

Mrs. Lena Waidley of 301 Prairie street, Aurora, who was known as the "All-American Gold Star Mother," died at the age of 80 yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital, Aurora. Five of Mrs. Waidley's sons served with the AEF in the world war and two of them were killed in action. A sixth son, Richard, is registered in the current draft and at his mother's request did not claim exemption. Her husband, Frank Waidley, died 32 years ago. The Waidley post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was named for the family. In addition to her sons, four daughters survive. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. in the chapel at 332 Downer place, Aurora.

A HUSBAND TRIES BUT FAILS TO GET HIS WIFE'S GOATS

George Murphy, 46 years old, complained yesterday to Judge William V. Brothers that his wife, Ada, 48, was running a hillbilly farm at their home at 6452 North Kenton avenue. He said she kept eight goats outside and eight dogs inside and that that was the reason for their marital difficulties. Mrs. Murphy's pending divorce suit charges cruelty.

"I don't like the goats any more than he does," Mrs. Murphy said. "His stomach's in such tender condition from too much drinking that he has to be nursed with goat's milk. That's why the goats are there. He even sold all the electric light bulbs in the house to get money for liquor."

Mrs. Murphy was granted temporary alimony of $20 a week, and the goats will stay.

Charles H. Bedwell Named to Indiana Appellate Court

Indianapolis, Ind., April 3 [Special].—Charles H. Bedwell of Sullivan, member of the Indiana senate for the last eight years, was named a member of the Indiana Appellate court by Gov. Henry F. Schricker today to fill a vacancy caused by death of Judge William H. Bridwell, also of Sullivan. Bedwell was the Democratic candidate for congress from the 7th district in 1940 but was defeated.

YOUTH CARRIES BABY GIRL FROM FLAMING ATTIC

Sergt. Walter Radowski of the Chicago Lawn station spent several hours yesterday in a futile attempt to find a high school boy who police said, deserved the praise due a hero. The boy entered the burning home of Luther Meadows at 5818 South Wolcott avenue to carry out Meadow's 10 month old daughter, Mary Kathleen, then disappeared before his identity was fully learned.

The fire started in the attic of the 1½ story frame cottage, where Mary Kathleen and her brother, Norman, 4 years old, were sleeping. Both Mr. and Mrs. Meadows were at work, and a girl who was taking care of the children was away for a moment.

When the girl returned, the attic was ablaze and young Norman had run outside to safety. Then the high school boy appeared, climbed the outer wall of the house, broke a window and entered the attic. Firemen found him trying to leave the house, the baby in his arms. After Mary Kathleen was taken to Southtown hospital, where she died of burns later, the boy disappeared. He gave his name as Calvin McKane and said he was 15 years old.

FRANK GETS INTO FINANCIAL BOG; THEN CALLS HELP

Frank Jurgites, 33 years old, 2028 Indiana avenue, was a $20 a week clerk who never was good at arithmetic. Yesterday he turned himself over to Central police and dumped the job of unraveling his finances on their shoulders.

"I'm easily talked into buying things on time," Jurgites told Desk Sergeant Stephen Naughton. "First he bought a watch and clothing on time; he got a loan to make a payment; he pawned the goods to pay on the loan; bought more clothes and another watch on time, etc.

A few days ago the system caught up with him, Jurgites related. A clothing store garnisheed his wages, he lost his job, and found he had a handful of pawn tickets and $579.91 in debts.

"So I just gave up," he said.

Police started investigating as he rested in a cell.

CHINA GETS NEW FOREIGN CHIEF IN CABINET SHAKEUP

CHUNGKING, China, April 3.—Dr. Quo Tai-Chi, Chinese ambassador to London, has been appointed foreign minister in a government shakeup decided upon by the Kuomintang [National Party] central executive committee. Dr. Quo replaces Wang Chung-Hui, who was named secretary general of the supreme national defense council. Dr. Quo's surprise appointment is seen as strengthening China's ties with Britain and America. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.

Two new ministries, food and trade, also were created by the committee session in its eighth plenary session which closed yesterday. A three year wartime reconstruction plan was adopted. The national food administration and the foreign trade commission were abolished. Liu Weitse, a Honolulu-born Chinese, was named overseas affairs minister.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK IN CHURCH.

Joseph Winkler, 74 years old, 3445 North Bell avenue, died in St. Benedict's Roman Catholic church, Irving Park road and Leavitt street, yesterday, apparently of a heart attack.

BY MARY MEADE.

Quality counts as much as price in determining a food bargain and you'll be made aware of it when you shop for fresh vegetables this week-end. Even more than last week, the effects of heavy rains are showing in the poorer quality of fresh vegetables.

You'll have to rely on spinach and carrots for vitamin A if you're budget conscious. These are two of the best vegetable buys available. Mustard greens and turnip tops are reasonable also and Irish potatoes are a good buy. Cabbage is slightly lower in the wholesale market, but hardly enough to change retail prices appreciably or to bring the price down to its prerain level.

Try California Asparagus.

Plan to serve some of the very excellent California asparagus now widely sold. Its price is moderate. Moderately priced also are bunch beets, celery, and dry onions. The onions are a little cheaper than last week, but are still not down to last winter's low level.

Expect to pay well for green beans, cauliflower, cucumbers, tomatoes, and green peas. These items need to be looked over carefully for quality. Lettuce is selling at last week's price level varied greatly with quality. Lettuce quality is only fair. Good heads cost more money.

There is little change at the fruit counter. Delicious and Rome Beauty apples are a little higher, but other varieties are priced about as usual in the last few weeks. Strawberries are slightly higher. The first Louisiana berries, looking rather pale, have arrived.

Oranges, grapefruit and rhubarb continue to be the stellar fruit bargains. Grapes, honeydews, nectarines, peaches and plums from South America still are around. They're very good, but costly.

Smelts the Buy in Fish.

Smelts are an outstanding fish buy. They come from Lake Michigan where they are caught thru the ice. The height of the spawning run, at which time smelts are still more plentiful than now, is expected in a couple of weeks.

Rough fish [these have large scales and tend toward boniness] are also cheap. Frozen fish fillets of all kinds and frozen halibut and sablefish are good buys. Most of the shellfish are very high, but if you feel an extravagance coming on you might take it out in spiny lobster tails. These are fine for broiling or for use in salads. They come to market without claws and body—you buy only the tail.

Pot roast and poultry are the topnotch Sunday dinner buys at the meat counter. You'll find tempting price tags on beef rib roasts, round and sirloin steaks in some stores. Lamb, particularly leg, shoulder chops and stewing cuts are on the bargain table. Smoked pork is widely featured and veal is a "special" in some stores.

There are plenty of bargains in staples and other grocery items this week. Look for them when you shop, or better yet, check the grocery ads and put the good buys in your menu plans. You'll need to save on these items to make up for the extra pennies spent on fresh vegetables.

Omelet for Easter Morning

Try this puffy, golden brown omelet made with cream cheese and chives for your Easter morning breakfast. To make the omelet, soften ¼ pound cream cheese and chives, then blend in the 3 beaten egg yolks, one at a time. Add 2 tablespoons milk and season with salt and pepper. Fold in 3 stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a well buttered heavy frying pan and cook over low heat until the bottom begins to brown. Then place in a very moderate oven, 325 degrees, or under low broiler heat, until the top is dry and the texture is firm. Fold and serve with a garnish of parsley.

ALMOND TOPPING MAKES AN ANGEL FOOD THE 'TOPS'

Angel food cake is always good, and when it's used in this almond topped refrigerator dessert, the result is really luscious.

ANGEL DESSERT
[Serves eight]

1 tablespoon plain, unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon lemon extract
¼ teaspoon almond extract
3 egg whites, beaten until stiff
8 slices angel food cake
½ cup shredded toasted almonds

Soften the gelatin for five minutes in cold water. Combine milk, salt, egg yolks, and sugar and cook in top of double boiler for five minutes, stirring frequently. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool mixture and add flavorings and stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into loaf pan lined with the cake slices. Sprinkle with almonds and chill until firm. Cut into squares and serve on dessert plates.

VEAL CHOPS AND PEANUTS! THERE IS SOMETHING!

Peanuts make something new and different of stuffed veal chops. The peanuts go into a tasty dressing.

PEANUT STUFFED CHOPS
[Serves four]

8 thin loin veal chops
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups cubed bread
2 tablespoons butter, melted
⅔ cup chopped, roasted peanuts
1 tablespoon minced parsley
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons hot milk
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
½ cup water

Wipe off chops with damp cloth. Dredge with flour and brown in hot fat. Season with salt and pepper. Arrange in pairs, spread with bread mixed with butter, peanuts, parsley, seasoning, yolk, milk, salt, and paprika. Lightly press together in pairs. Hold in place with wood picks, arrange in baking dish, add water, and cover. Bake for one hour in a moderate [350 degrees] oven.

Here's Good Cake Frosting That's Made of Sour Cream

Ever try a cake filling and frosting made with sour cream? Here's one that is delicious. Combine 1 cup sugar, 1½ cups thick sour cream, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 beaten eggs, ¾ cup chopped raisins, and ¾ cup blanched shredded almonds in the top of a double boiler. Cook over rapidly boiling water until thick enough to spread, stirring constantly. Cool and spread between layers and on top and sides of cake.

IF YOU WANT COOKIES TO GO IN A HURRY—FILL THEM WITH JAM

Spicy, jam filled cookies can be made in a jiffy, and they'll be gone in a hurry, too, when the children discover them.

ALMOND JAM BARS
[About 28 bars]

1½ cups sifted flour
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ cup shortening
½ teaspoon almond flavoring
1 egg
¾ cup jam

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, cinnamon, and cloves together. Cream shortening, add flavoring, and cut or rub into flour mixture. Add beaten egg and mix until well blended. Spread half the mixture in greased pan [7"x11"], cover evenly with jam, and spread with remaining mixture. Bake in moderately hot oven, 400 degrees, for 25 to 30 minutes. When cool, cut into bars.

This Crisp, Appetizing Salad Needs No Dressing

Here's a crisp, appetizing salad that requires no dressing to enhance its goodness. To serve six combine 3 cups of shredded raw carrots, sprinkled with a little lemon juice and sugar, ½ cup chopped walnuts, and 1 cup of grated coconut. Serve in individual lettuce cups or in salad bowl.

GIVE YOUR GLASS COFFEE MAKER THE BEST OF CARE

Treat It Right and It'll Do Likewise by You.

Heat resisting glass that can be used on top of the stove is one of the kitchen miracles of the age. Glass coffee makers are perhaps the most widely used of any of the glass utensils.

With proper care a first class glass coffee maker will last a lifetime. There are certain precautions which you must take if you want to avoid breakage. Of the following the first three are the ones which most frequently cause breakage and if violated even once will weaken the glass for future use.

Watch the Flame.

To prevent breakage of your glass coffee maker:

1. Handle carefully to avoid striking hard blows against sharp or hard objects.
2. Avoid placing the coffee maker on a hot surface when empty or nearly empty.
3. Make sure that the flame or intense heat does not reach above the liquid in the lower glass. There is greatest danger of this type of breakage when the burner is wider than the base of the coffee maker, thus overheating the bulging sides of the pot. Even with such a burner there will be no dangers of breakage if the pot is full.
4. Avoid twisting the upper glass loose from the lower—a rocking motion will loosen the top section which may then be easily removed. In some coffee makers the cover on the lower section may be pressed against the upper section [hold the lower section firmly by the handle at the same time] to loosen the top without danger of burning.

Remove the Filter.

5. Turn the upper section upside down immediately after removing, or if a holder is provided place it in that.
6. Wash both sections separately from other dishes. Do not place them in the sink along with other dishes.
7. Remove the filter before turning the upper section upside down to remove grounds. The filter may fall against the glass and break it—or in the case of glass filters may become broken itself.

If you do break any part of your coffee maker it can usually be replaced by your dealer, but with careful handling there should be no need to buy new parts.

THE B VITAMINS in HAM

B_1 (THIAMINE) INTERNATIONAL UNITS	B_2 (RIBOFLAVIN) SHERMAN UNITS	ANTI-PELLAGRA FACTOR MILLIGRAMS
500	96	11

Based on ¼ pound edible portion, before cooking

WHEN you get that Easter ham this year don't forget the nutritional essentials that come along with its ruddy color, tender texture and appetizing flavor.

The newest discovery about ham is its high content of B vitamins, particularly vitamin B_1 (thiamine).

As this chart shows, ham—like all lean pork—supplies 500 International Units of this important vitamin per ¼ pound.

Vitamin B_1 is considered necessary for healthy nerves, good digestion, the growth of children and good appetite.

Other B vitamins contained in ham are vitamin B_2 (riboflavin), considered necessary for growth and maintenance of health, and the highly important anti-pellagra vitamin.

Ham is a rich source of complete, high quality proteins and is 96 to 98% digestible, and contains essential minerals: iron, copper, phosphorus.

Remember, many of these food essentials (proteins, vitamins, minerals) are not stored in the body—must be supplied daily in the food you eat.

Buy a whole ham for economy, with its delicious leftovers in mind or, if you prefer, ask your meat-man about the thrifty butt or shank ends.

Strange Judas

By Douglas Newton

[Copyright: 1941: By Wilfred Douglas Newton.]

INSTALMENT XXIX.

TRAITOR.

"I am just beginning to see thru her," Don said tonelessly. "You mean Hertha has gone over to the enemy, taking Darmal?"

"She has succeeded at last," Knust said with bitter gusto. "Her last betrayal is—triumph!"

Twysden burst out: "I can't believe it yet—not of Hertha. She of all people playing Judas all the time—it's incredible."

Knust burst out: "So a pretty face always fools men. But me—I have always known her!"

Don Barron was beginning to wonder if he had always known her, too; beginning to see so many things in a new light. And beginning to see how men could be blinded by a pretty face. Even now, with this new understanding, it seemed impossible to think of Hertha as a traitor.

Knust was jeering: "Not that she wasn't a masterpiece. Not only her looks, but her manner, always so gentle, always so frank, always so ready to give way to others' opinion—yet all the time laying her own plans, enforcing her own will thru her very gentleness. The way she used it to twist her poor old grandfather around her pretty fingers, while all the time she was using his obstinacy to insist on the schemes she had planted in his mind. She was a genius, that one, yet I saw thru her."

"If you did," Don Barron said grimly, "why didn't you expose her, Knust?"

Knust goggled at that. Sigi said quietly:

"He didn't. Only suspected. I who have known her, lived with her, lived with her as a sister never did more. Do you think I'd have run such risks with grandfather—with us all, had I known?"

Her eyes touched Don Barron. He knew she especially meant him. Yet acrid with the memory of the way he himself had been fooled, he said harshly: "But you knew. All this secrecy of yours makes it plain you knew her."

"No," she said huskily. "Suspicious, yes, but there was no certainty."

"Enough, surely, to share your fears."

"With a stranger, and against a sister? O, no, Don, that's easier to say now than to have done at the time."

"But with so much at stake—your grandfather's life . . . ?"

"Don't you see that grandfather was my greatest difficulty? In his blind devotion to her she controls him completely. He'd believe nothing against her. Even to hint it would have set him against us. You know him. Once she has instilled an idea into his mind it is unyielding."

"The scheme for doubling back thru Germany to the Dutch or Belgian frontiers," he said, "is that hers?"

"I think it was. It would make his capture easier—but can we prove it? In our discussions did she press it? Didn't she actually appear to favor our side even more than his?"

Don Barron had to nod agreement. He remembered how Hertha's support of his plan had actually silenced her grandfather yesterday. He saw the subtle cunning of her method. By seeming to agree she had disarmed him—and then proceeded to eliminate him.

"That," he said grimly, "was why she had to get rid of me last night."

He saw Sigi stiffen and go white, while the others looked startled. He said to Sigi:

"That, I suppose, was your real proof at last that she is what she is."

"What proof?" Knust asked sharp-eyed.

"She put chalk marks on my back in order to have me arrested."

"Impossible!" Twysden almost shouted.

"She is a devil, as well as clever as one," Knust said with an oath. Don Barron was looking at Sigi.

"That was your final proof?"

"Yes," she said with a shiver. "But can even you swear she did it?"

"No, she was diabolically cunning. She even saw that suspicion might be fixed on you. Yet you saw at once that she alone could have done it. And so do I—now."

Nausea passed thru him at the memory of Hertha clinging to him in lovely fear—as she passed her arm around his shoulders chalking on his coat the marks that might have cost him his life.

"It's too horrible to believe," Twysden cried. "We mustn't accuse her of everything, just because. . . ."

"What happened last night?" Don Barron interrupted grimly. "She told you I'd gone out to look around. Well, what followed?"

"She was quite matter-of-fact about it," Twysden said, "until after midnight, when you had not turned up. Then she began to get more and more anxious, and ultimately to soothe her we all went looking for you."

"Including you?" Don Barron asked Sigi.

"Including me," she said tonelessly. "I'd been back some time. I was getting anxious, we all were, but not unduly so. I knew you could look after yourself and never dreamt of—arrest. It was only at last, when she said she was terrified because you'd dropped a hint that you were going to look for Otto Schmarz that I went."

"Otto Schmarz! He seems her trick card. And what then?"

"Nothing," Sigi said. "When we got back she was gone. She and grandfather had vanished."

"No clues?"

"The people of this house say a big black salon drove up. They thought it was a car Knust had got. Grandfather, no doubt, thought the same, and went with her as part of our plan."

"That's the car Reinhard reports having left town heading west," Twysden said. "He's trying to get more details."

"He will," Knust said. "Reinhard is a good man. Well, we have all been very prettily fooled."

"More than that," Don Barron said. "This is a carefuly worked out plan. It began when I refused to agree to go back to Germany, her original plan for getting Darmal into the hands of the Nazis. She then put me—all of us—off our guard by pretending to agree. All the time she was thinking out a new scheme. To carry that out she had to get us, and, it seems, especially me, out of the way last night. She managed me easily. I didn't go out just to nose around, but because she was terrified that Sigi was in real danger."

"But Don," the girl wailed. "You must have known that was not true."

"As in my case with you," he grinned harshly, "she made the danger exceptional. And in the same terms. It was Otto Schmarz who threatened you."

"Schmarz again!" Knust grunted. "What does she know of that fellow?"

"Enough to use him as a bogie, anyhow. Well, she tricked me into going out, chalking my back in her last fond embrace." His face was grim, and he did not look at Sigi as he spoke. "That made sure I'd be off the scene as long as she needed. And it also served its purpose with you. When the time came—and she was plainly working to time table—she developed that anxiety for me that got you out of the house. And when you were away the big black car came as she already arranged it to come, and so she was able to get Paul Darmal away without hindrance—or clue."

They were all silent for a while, until the woman of the house put her head into the door and said Herr Knust was wanted on the phone. As he went out Twysden said in fierce misery:

"It's almost unthinkable—a girl like that. But she must be under somebody's thumb. . . . She must be working with somebody. . . ."

"Obviously, and all the time," Don Barron shrugged. "In all her betrayals—even in our escape from Schloss Einstweilen."

"But, she couldn't have done anything there; it was impossible for her to make any sort of contact," Twysden insisted.

"She tried other ways," Don Barron frowned, recalling Hertha's strange fainting fit at the critical moment. "Also, I think she left some message. A paper dropped on the ground while she and her grandfather waited in the dark by those birches would have done it. In fact, that is why he was waiting for us at Hjammerborg."

"He!" Twysden said sharply. "Does that mean you know?"

"I think so," Don Barron said, and turned as Knust came into the room.

"That was Reinhard," Knust said. "He has found out who sent that car here—it was Otto Schmarz."

Eggs in a Cream Sauce Make a Good Lenten Dish

For a Lenten luncheon dish, try putting chopped hard cooked eggs in a cream sauce in which grated cheese has been melted. Serve over large, split baking powder biscuits.

HERE ARE TWO TASTY SUNDRIES—SOMETHING TO VARY MEAT MENUS

If meat sundries means nothing more than liver once a week to you, you'll not be interested in this. But if you like occasionally to treat your family to a real meat change, you'll be clipping these two recipes, one for tripe and the other using ox tails.

TRIPE OYSTERS.

[Serves 4.]

1 pound fresh honeycomb tripe
Salt and pepper
Fine bread or cracker crumbs
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons water

Clean tripe carefully and simmer for one hour in water to cover. Drain and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cut in pieces the size of large oysters. Dip in fine crumbs; then in beaten egg to which water has been added, and back in crumbs again. Brown in hot fat, turning on all sides. Serve with lemon wedges, or cole slaw made with lemon juice.

BRAISED OXTAIL.

[Serves 4.]

1 2 pound ox tail [cut in 2 inch pieces]
Flour
2 tablespoons fat
3 whole cloves
1 cup tomatoes, canned or fresh
2 bay leaves
1 cup water
4 small carrots
2 stalks of celery

Wash and cut ox tail in pieces. Dry well and roll in flour. Sauté in fat until well browned on all sides. Add cloves, tomato, bay leaves and water and simmer gently, about three or four hours or until meat falls from the bones. Add celery and carrots last half hour of cooking. If liked, sliced mushrooms and a little sherry [about four or five tablespoons] may be added during the last 5 or 10 minutes of cooking.

AN EASTER LAMB CAKE IS TASTY AND DECORATIVE

An Easter lamb cake, baked in a mold, and covered with a snowy white coconut frosting, serves as a table decoration and as dessert for the holiday meal. Cake molds, especially designed for this purpose, are available at most of the department stores.

The following recipe is one for standard white cake, but a plain gold cake recipe may be used if you prefer.

EASTER LAMB CAKE.

2 cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sifted sugar
¾ cup milk
3 egg whites, beaten until light
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift the flour once, then sift again with baking powder and salt. Sift the sugar once, then sift gradually into the shortening, beating constantly. Cream the mixture until light and fluffy. Add small quantities of the sifted flour mixture alternately with portions of the milk, and beat until smooth after each addition. Fold in flavoring and stiffly beaten egg whites and fill the face side of a well greased mold level with the top. Close the mold and place it on a cookie sheet so that it will stand level on the oven rack. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for one hour. Allow cake to stand for 15 minutes after removing from the oven. Carefully remove cake from the mold and let cool. Frost with boiled or seven minute icing. Sprinkle heavily with coconut and use bits of candied fruit and raisins for eyes, nose and mouth.

STEP UP AND GET SOME MEAT: YOU NEED VITAMIN B-1

Here Is What to Buy for Balanced Diet.

Tables no longer groan with several varieties of meat, two or three game dishes, and a selection of fish. But meat, as it always has, still plays an important part in the diet.

We serve and eat meat because we like its savory flavor, the way it gives zip to soups and vegetables. And now that more is known about nutrition, we are beginning to eat it for its valuable mineral and vitamin content. For some time now, liver has been included in the homemaker's weekly menus because of its high iron content. More recently it was discovered that pork is an excellent source of thiamin [vitamin B-1].

Cheap Cuts Good, Too.

Fortunately, the expensive tender cuts of meat have no monopoly on food value. The low cost cuts are equally as nutritious. Properly prepared they add just as much flavor to the meal. Following is a list of meats which sell for 15 cents or less per pound. The list is based on prices in the Chicago area on March 1.

Cuts Costing 15 Cents or Less.

The greatest number of these are in specialties and sausages and include: Beef brains, kidneys, and heart, oxtails, and tripe; calf's tongue, brain, and heart; pickled and fresh tongue; pork hearts, snouts, brains, kidneys, and liver; pig's feet, tails; lamb's brain, liver, and heart; bologna, frankfurters, liver sausage, head cheese, and pork sausage meat.

Other beef buys include the shank bone, neck, plate, brisket, short ribs, and corned plate and brisket.

The breast, shoulder roast, foreshank, and riblets of veal are in this group. Also the picnic, spareribs, neck bones, foreshanks, and ham hocks of fresh pork and the salt pork, jowls, bacon squares and ends, ham shanks, and ham shank slices of cured and smoked pork.

Then There's Lamb.

Lamb cuts included are shanks, breast, boneless breast, and breast with pocket for stuffing, riblets, neck and shoulder, and shoulder stew. Mutton cuts in this price range are neck, shoulder chops, shoulder, breast, stew, and shanks.

If you have been watching chain store prices on pork you'll remember that quite frequently the end cuts of pork loin have sold for less than 15 cents a pound during March in Chicago. The same thing is true of some of the other cuts. Prices vary greatly according to the quality of the meat and the locality in which they are sold, of course.

For an extra 10 cents per pound the list of meat cuts available is greatly increased.

Cuts Costing 25 Cents or Less.

BEEF CUTS: Rolled neck, chuck rib, arm pot roast, blade steak, Boston cut, rolled Boston cut, arm steak, triangle pot roast, ground chuck, rolled brisket, rolled plate, boneless shank meat, boneless sixth and seventh ribs, standing ribs, rolled ribs, rib steak, club steak, flank steak, short ribs, sirloin steak, pin-bone sirloin, round steak, bottom round, heel of round, rump steak, stew, Salisbury steak, heel of round, Swiss steak, and flank stew.

VEAL CUTS: Boneless stew, shoulder chops, rib chops, loin chops, sirloin steak, sirloin roast, rump roast, leg roast, rolled shoulder, rolled breast, arm steak, patties, and ground veal.

FRESH PORK CUTS: Pork butt, boneless Boston butt, blade steak, cushion shoulder, arm steak, shoulder end chops, end loin chops, loin end roast, rolled loin, country backbones, side pork, fresh ham [shank half], fresh ham butt, ham butt slices, rib end, and center loin chops.

CURED AND SMOKED PORK: Picnic, boneless picnic, ham, half ham [shank and butt halves], ground ham, bacon, and sliced bacon.

LAMB CUTS: Blade chops, arm chops, shoulder, and leg.

MUTTON CUTS: Steaks, loin chops, rib chops, rolled shoulder, rolled leg, sirloin roast, and ground mutton.

SAUSAGE AND SPECIALTIES: Beef tongue and liver, veal loaf and sausage, minced and spiced ham, Berlinger, Thueringer, fresh liver, pork, blood, summer, salami, kosher, and Polish sausages.

Here's New Garb for an Old Friend—String Beans

Freshly cooked string beans or even leftover beans step out of the ordinary vegetable class when they are prepared this way.

SAVORY STRING BEANS.

3 tablespoon fat
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tablespoons minced pimiento
2 cups cooked string beans
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of paprika
3 tablespoons catsup

Heat fat in frying pan, add onions and pimientos, and sauté for about three minutes. Add remaining ingredients, cover pan, and cook over low fire until beans are thoroly heated. Serve at once.

CARP IS A TASTY AND ECONOMICAL DISH THESE DAYS

Carp and other "rough fish"—so called, because of the rough appearance of their scales—have been a good buy in the Chicago markets in recent years. Like many of the less expensive meats, they take kindly to a little dressing up as in this Rumanian recipe.

RUMANIAN GEVETCH.
[Serves 8.]

1 large carp or any 2 or 3 pound fish that can be cut into individual serving pieces].
3 green peppers
1 pound potatoes
5 medium sized tomatoes [about 3 cups drained, canned tomatoes].
3 carrots
2 onions
2 cups string beans
¾ cup uncooked rice
Salt, pepper, and paprika
⅓ cup salad oil

Cut fish into individual serving pieces. Dice all vegetables. Season with salt and pepper. Place with washed rice in baking pan and sprinkle with one cup water. Top with fish. Sprinkle fish with paprika and pour salad oil over all. Bake uncovered in a slow [300 degrees] oven about one and one-half hours. Do not stir during baking.

TWO POPULAR FLAVORS MEET IN A PUDDING

The chocolate and mint flavor combination is an extremely popular one and there's probably no place where the two flavors meet under better circumstances than in a refrigerator pudding.

MINTED CHOCOLATE MOLD.

2 squares chocolate, shaved
⅔ cup granulated sugar
2 egg yolks
1½ cups milk
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 drops oil of peppermint
2 egg whites, beaten

Cook in double boiler until blended and a little thick, chocolate, sugar, yolks, milk, and salt. Stir in gelatin which has been softened in cold water for five minutes. Stir until blended. Cool and fold in flavoring and stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into pudding mold and chill until firm.

THIS IS A CAKE THAT ISN'T CAKE, BUT IT IS TASTY!

It's neither cake nor pudding, but both, and it's good. You bake it like a cake, and it comes out of the oven with the cake on top and the custard under it. When cut in serving pieces and turned out, the custard tops the cake.

LEMON CAKE 'N' CUSTARD.
[Serves 6.]

1 tablespoon butter
1 cup sugar
Grated rind and juice of 1 lemon
¼ teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks, well beaten
⅓ cup sifted flour
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup water
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Cream sugar and butter together. Add grated lemon rind and juice, mixing well. Add salt and beaten egg yolks. Beat until smooth. Add flour. Add milk and water and beat untilt horoly blended. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into greased baking dish and set in pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate [375 degress] oven for 45 minutes, or until set. Serve hot or cold.

A CORNED BEEF PUFF IS AN IDEA FOR QUICK DISH

Base your next emergency meal on corned beef puff. Leftover mashed potatoes work beautifully in this recipe.

CORNED BEEF PUFF.

1 can corned beef, chopped
2 cups mashed potatoes
1 tablespoon fat
⅓ cup milk
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon parsley, chopped
1 teaspoon onion juice
1 egg, beaten

Mix chopped corned beef with the mashed potatoes. Melt the fat, add the flour and milk and cook until thickened. Add this and the remaining ingredients to the meat and potato mixture. Beat well. Pile lightly into a greased casserole and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] until browned, about 20 minutes.

Better change to McLaughlin's
MANOR HOUSE COFFEE

It's like magic! Even when your man "gets up on the wrong side of the bed" . . . you can start him singing with rich, exhilarating McLaughlin's Manor House Coffee. But don't try to do the trick with "fading flavor" coffees that keep getting weaker and weaker after you open them! Manor House is one coffee that's fresh when you drink it—not just when you buy it!

FRESH when you buy it! STAYS FRESH as you use it! STILL FRESH through the last cup!

Manor House is packed in a special "flavor-preserver" jar . . . with a seal-tight cap and rubber ring that thoroughly re-seal its fragrant freshness every time you close the jar. Thus, unlike other coffees, Manor House stays rich and flavorful as you use it, right through the last delicious cup.

To begin with, every single bean of Manor House Coffee is a prize beauty—specially picked for flavor. So the McLaughlin's refuse to use those highly-advertised dry-heat roasters that dry up the coffee beans. They roast Manor House the old-fashioned way . . . over a slow, open flame . . . to carefully seal in all the delicate flavor oils. Then they grind it roaster-fresh—and Manor House is even ground differently from ordinary coffees!

For 89 years, the McLaughlin's have been supplying the perfect mate for every type of coffee-pot. Today, Manor House is the only coffee that comes in 3 scientifically correct grinds—for regular pot or percolator, drip, or glass coffee-maker. So don't change your pot or your method . . . just change to McLaughlin's Manor House, and you can't help but make better coffee!

Looking at Hollywood

by John Chapman

San Diego, Cal., April 3.—The navy is helping the Warners and Errol Flynn make a movie called "Dive Bomber"—but "helping" is a weak and uninteresting word with which to indicate what the officers and men of the Balboa island naval air base here are doing.

They are providing the setting and doing the flying; they are bombing, diving, setting up squadron sky patterns, lending a great aircraft carrier—and doing everything for free. The movie company doesn't even have to buy gas; for this picture, like "I Wanted Wings" and a dozen more to come, is part of the defense program and will show you and me how a part of our armed forces works.

It's an experience for the Hollywoodians. An experience for Flynn and Fred MacMurray, because they got courtesy rides in bombers. A couple of navy flyers, perhaps amusedly interested in discovering what film stars really were made of, took the boys up a couple of miles and gave them power dives, wide open. Flynn, a hardy soul who has tried almost everything, admits he felt awful funny, particularly during the pull-out. MacMurray got sick.

It's an experience for Director Mike Curtiz and for Bud Haskin, head of the special effects unit; for when they ask that something be done it is done with almost frightening precision and speed. It's an experience for 150 or so other men in the company [there are no women in this story] because of the wartime strictness which surrounds everything.

And it's an experience for the men of the naval air base. They're just as curious as anybody else about movie celebs, and those off duty are always watching the stars and color cameras at work, and asking for autographs. The population of the base is around 3,000 and shifting, so that means a lot of autographs. These flying sailors have a new angle: They ask for signatures on dollar and two-dollar bills.

One pay day a lad asked Flynn to sign a $10 bill. Flynn suggested that a one or a two might be better, but the navy man insisted the 10 would be okay. An hour later he came back and said, "Well, I made two bucks on you. Sold it for 12."

First step in making "Dive Bomber" was to send the studio's official diplomat, Bill Guthrie, to Washington to get permission from naval operations. Permission and 18 pages of rules were granted. Next step was moving to the air base—a process that must be repeated daily.

Working hours are confined to 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.—and every piece of equipment, in a dozen trucks, must be off the base by 4:30. Every piece is inspected as it enters each morning. Every person must have an identification badge and a pass, and no aliens are allowed in. Hungarian born Curtiz is a naturalized citizen; Irish born Flynn has his first papers.

Restrictions are firm but clear—and outside these the navy gives a kind of generous, precise and intelligent help which has the Hollywoodians babbling gratefully. "What time," Curtiz once asked Commander Seth Warner, the liaison officer, "are the planes coming?" Commander Warner looked at his wrist watch and said, "in five and one-half minutes." And the ships were there in just that time. This saves a lot of 20 cents a foot technicolor film.

State Street Gives Easter Style Preview

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

While the weather man was deciding whether it should hail or rain yesterday there was no question of the season inside the Palmer House. It was Eastertime, with its flowers and frills, frock coats and toppers, bunnies and baskets.

This festive scene was the 1941 edition of the State Street council's annual Easter style preview. There was no parading and pirouetting of models in the ordinary show fashion style. Instead, a score of pretty mannequins posed against "props" of Easter lilies and pastel clusters of hydrangeas. They chatted with young officers of the army and navy who were present.

One of the outstanding costumes, designed to give romance a capital "R," was a beautiful, navy blue crêpe dressmaker suit with a deep peplumed jacket banded in navy taffeta and a full skirt whose hem repeated the banding. A fresh, dainty jabot of eyelet embroidery surged over the jacket. A hat, which really was not a hat at all but merely a froth of violet tulle topped with gigantic cabbage roses, completed the outfit.

One costume was an excellent compromise between the patriotic and the Victorian trends. It was an imported red wool regency coachman's coat with soft, caped shoulders which suited this season's style decree for sloping shoulder lines. With it, the model wore a modified coachman's topper of navy felt and spanking white gloves.

High stylists this year are demanding that skirts be pencil slim and, in truly American fashion, there was no slavish following of this rule. One suit, however, that hewed to the line, was of beige twill with a slender, box pleated skirt and long torso jacket. A bid for elegance was made with gemmed fastenings on the jacket. A sable dyed kolinsky scarf of many skins, a large, brown, pompadour hat and a deep, brown envelope bag were the accessories.

Dresses seemed to be competing with suits for a place in the Easter parade. An example was a chic, navy blue wool whose slight peplum, flaring around the waist, imitated a jacket. Jeweled buttons paraded down the front and a slightly flared skirt afforded walking comfort. With brim to the sun, a large scoop shaped navy hat trimmed with a modern motif of white pique, lent breadth to the gown.

In traditional cut away coats, striped trousers, and toppers, young men sauntered around the room completing the Easter picture. They tried not to be conscious of it, but there was one new fashion note to be detected. Broad-shouldered as ever, their suits were slightly tapered at the waist.

FOR DAZZLING WHITE WASHES

PLAY SAFE-BY USING NEW AMERICAN FAMILY SPEED FLAKES! SAFER THAN STRONG GRANULATED SOAPS FOR YOUR FINE FABRICS AND DELICATE WASHABLE COLORS!

HOW WOMEN VOTED

On the North, South and West sides of Chicago—hundreds of women who do their laundry at home—were interviewed by a well-known independent research organization. And asked which washday soaps they chose for (1) whiteness, (2) safety, (3) best results in washing machines! Here's their choice!

For Washing White . . . ☑ American Family Speed Flakes won by more than 3 to 1 over nearest competing soap.

For Washing Safely . . . ☑ American Family Speed Flakes won by more than 5 to 1 over nearest competing soap.

For Washing Machines . . . ☑ American Family Speed Flakes . . . won by more than 3 to 1 over nearest competing soap.

AMERICAN FAMILY SPEED FLAKES win smashing victory over all other soaps in city-wide vote of hundreds of practical housewives

STRAIGHT from Chicago housewives themselves—women with washing problems as practical as your own—comes this verdict on laundry soaps. In their opinion American Family Speed Flakes stand out above all other soaps for getting their linens and white clothes dazzling white!

Yes, they named American Family Speed Flakes their favorite by more than 3 to 1 over any other soap, including the strongest granulated soaps—for washing clothes sparkling white and bright!

Their Favorite For Safety, Too!

Moreover, in this independent city-wide survey among hundreds of Chicago women—American Family Speed Flakes was given first honors for washing safely, too. Actually received more votes for washing white with safety than all other soaps combined . . . All granulated soaps, chips and powders put together!

Remember, this is not the opinion of some one in the soap business. It's what practical housewives think after years of experience in doing their washing at home! With so many of these Chicago women preferring American Family Speed Flakes—aren't you missing something in not trying these marvelous flakes yourself?

Recently American Family Speed Flakes have been wonderfully improved. Made tissue-thin—so they suds up almost instantly! No "mysterious" new chemicals added—these Flakes are simply marvelously rich in soap content. Actually safer for delicate washable colors and fine fabrics than strong granulated soaps. Gentler on your hands, too.

So make sure you try these rich, gentle Flakes—especially made for the hard water of this area—next washday. Get American Family Flakes today . . . And see your white clothes come out dazzling white. All your clothes floating on the line thrillingly clean—color bright and snowy white.

Illinois U. Band Wins Plaudits of Audience in Concert Here

BY CECIL SMITH.

The University of Illinois band, appearing last night for the first time in the Civic Opera house, attracted a large and responsive audience. The concert quickly developed an agreeable air of informality, for Austin A. Harding, the veteran conductor, frequently turned toward his listeners and took them into his confidence about the program, and just before the intermission led the throng in singing "Hail to the Orange."

Mr. Harding has been a great pioneer in school band music, and his band now is probably unsurpassed by any similar college or university organization in the country. The tone is smooth and well blended, and the rhythm is exact and excellently pointed.

* * *

While the most infectious performances were of marches and light music, the young players acquitted themselves remarkably well in portions of Strauss' "Thus Spake Zarathustra" and in the Bacchanale from Wagner's "Tannhäuser." These arrangements, presumably by Mr. Harding himself, were well conceived for the band, altho the monotonous and strident tone of a group of clarinets is certainly no adequate replacement for the violins of the symphony orchestra.

After the intermission Mr. Harding gave his audience what he called a "bedtime story," as Clarence E. Sawhill, narrator, and the band presented Prokofieff's "Peter and the Wolf" in brisk and amusing fashion. The concert, sponsored by various alumni organizations, was a benefit for the Illini Union equipment fund.

The University of Chicago will play host to the American Musicological society today, as a two day session begins on the university campus. Siegmund Levarie of the University of Chicago and William G. Hill of the University of Illinois will address today's audience. This evening the Collegium Musicum of the University of Chicago will present a concert of old music under Dr. Levarie's direction in Joseph Bond chapel on the campus. The Chicago Musical college and the Newberry library are joint hosts with the university.

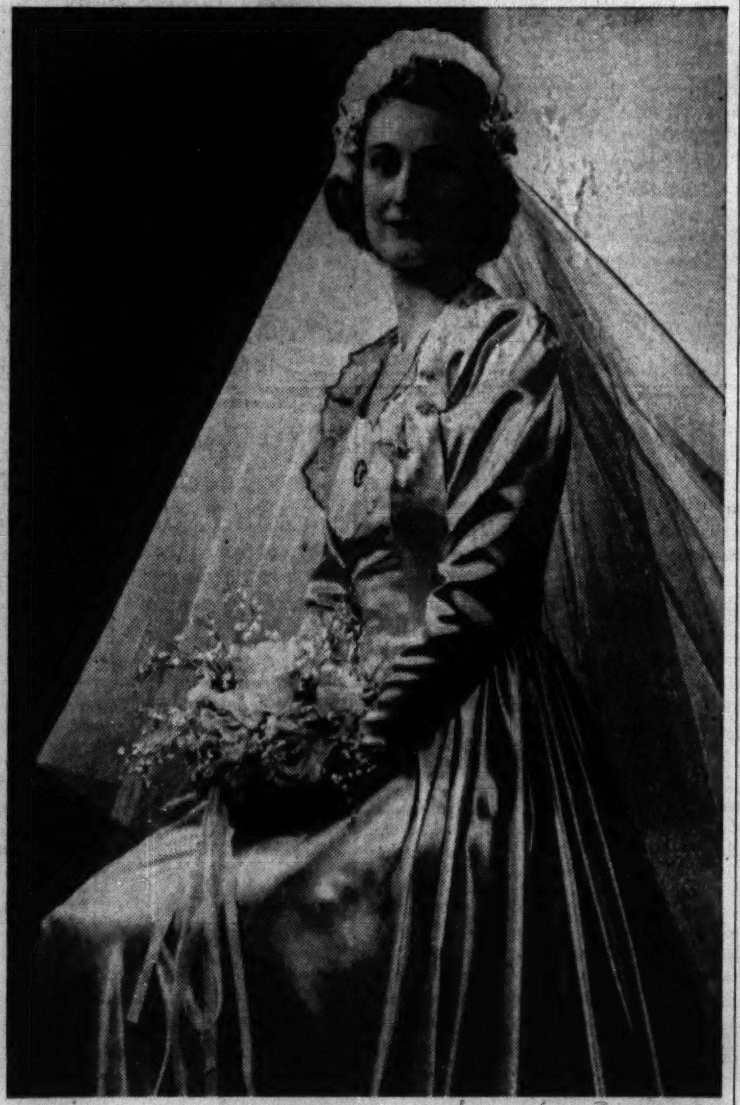
On Wedding Trip in South



[Bachrach Photo.]

Mrs. John Wyllys Baird, the former Marian Wood, and her bridegroom are in the south on a two-week wedding trip. They were married last Saturday in historic First Parish church, Brookline, Mass., with a reception following at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Grant Wood. Mr. Baird, son of the Warner G. Bairds of Scott street, and his bride will make their home here.

Clippety-Clop.

A woman who had an errand to do at Field's drove into the area way between Wabash avenue and State street and left her car parked while she dashed to the notions counter. She came out, found no police ticket on the car, and, according to Dr. O. E. Van Alyea, who relates this loop incident, got into her car, drove into Washington street and headed for State. She heard a horse behind her, but as she had the green light at State, she thought perhaps she could slip away without being caught for her traffic violation. She still heard the horse behind her, as she reached Randolph and headed toward Wabash. Stopped by the red light at Wabash she said crossly to the officer directing traffic, "I don't see why that officer on the horse behind me doesn't give me a ticket, or else quit following me," she said.

"There's no one on that horse, madam," said the traffic officer. "And if you knew whose horse that was you'd untie it from the back of your car and get away as quickly as possible."

Nonfloral object of interest at the Garden show—Droxie, the mechanical cow in an ice cream company exhibit, with a black moist looking nose, sides that expand and contract as it breathes, a head that rolls, and a realistic rotary jaw motion as it chews its cud.

DEAR APRIL.

Dear April, bring
Some blossoming
To my own hill
Who's wearing still
Last autumn's gown,
Sere shabby brown.

If spring's begun,
Why cannot one
Unpedigreed
Upshoot of weed,
Spring's color, green,
Be herewith seen?

Your Chicago and Mine.

Passengers who were unable to board the first car on the Ravenswood special on the "L" Wednesday morning might like to know the reason! A farewell party for three draftees who are regular passengers was being given. The car had been hastily decorated at Loomis with colored paper streamers and signs reading "Kiss the Boys Good-by." The three lads who left to join the army were members of the "Gotta Catch the 8:03 "L" club, and the front car was reserved for members of the club. The last members to get on boarded the car at Halsted street amid a shower of confetti.

Easter Parade to Be Followed by Bonnet Show

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALL women are devoting long hours to choosing Easter bonnets these days, and children already are preparing green paper nests for the Easter bunny. Both generations are promised definite rewards for their efforts in the parties to be given on Easter Sunday.

After promenading their Easter finery up and down the boulevard, those who have reservations will gather at the Camellia House in the Drake to have their bonnets surveyed again—this time by a critical board of men judges. They will pass verdict on each chapeau as it crosses their vision, and the lady adjudged the best-hatted will receive another hat—a smart original. James C. Thompson, Orville J. Taylor, Richard Hackett, Percy Waram, Ed Wynn, Alexander Woollcott, and Benjamin H. Marshall are the seven judges invited to answer the moot question of whether men prefer the more conservative chapeaux, or what are called "crazy" hats.

Among those who have taken tables for the Camellia House breakfast are the William E. Vogelbacks, Mrs. Welch Dickinson, Mrs. Gilbert Fitzpatrick, the George Swigarts, the Frank Folsoms, Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Lagorio, Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Simmons, the Stanley Zarings, and the Robert Harveys.

Casino Club to Have Usual Easter Luncheon-Musical.

The Casino club is one of the few private clubs planning an Easter party. Following their custom of each Eastertide Casino club members will gather after the Easter parade for a gay luncheon and musical. Details for the party still are incomplete, as Mrs. I. Newton Perry, the club's president, and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer, chairman of the entertainment committee, have been out of town.

The spacious grounds of the Saddle and Cycle club will provide a perfect hiding place for the brightly colored eggs to be concealed for the club's Easter egg hunt. If the weather doesn't permit an out-of-doors party, the youngsters will have their hunt within the clubhouse. The John Roots are making arrangements for the Saddle's Easter buffet luncheon, to be served from 12:30 o'clock until 3.

The Russian Yar will see two Easter celebrations within a week, for the Russian Easter falls on April 20, one week after ours. Altho there will be parties at the Yar on April 13, too, the Russian Easter date will see more, among them a midnight supper on April 19, which Col. Yaschenko will give. The Nicolas Starosselskys will give a Russian Easter breakfast in Lake Forest the following morning.

Elizabeth Fabian Webster Becomes Bride Today.

In 1875 a young Cincinnati woman, Miss Emily Fabian, made herself a stunning gown to be maid of honor for a friend. It was of cream colored watered silk made with a square neckline edged on the inside with shirred lace. The tight bodice buttoned down the front and was trimmed with pearl beading. The skirt was caught up in the back into a bustle, and fell into a short train. Inserted into the front of the voluminous skirt were two rows of accordion pleated satin.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Is Chosen for Rotary Club Merit Award

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen.
[Moffett Photo.]

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, a pioneer resident of Chicago, will be given the Chicago Merit award, a high honor in recognition of civic activity, at a meeting of the Chicago Rotary club in Hotel Sherman on Tuesday, April 15. She is the first woman to be chosen for the honor since it was established in 1929.

Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the jury of 25 prominent citizens which selected Mrs. Bowen, said the vote was unanimous. The award was conferred for Mrs. Bowen's social service work in Hull House and other community welfare enterprises.

* * *

The Rotary award, which is given only when the jury considers there is a person meeting its qualifications, has been bestowed upon four other Chicagoans. In 1931 it was conferred on Julius Rosenwald; in 1934 on Rufus C. Dawes; in 1937 on Dr. Graham Taylor, and in 1939 on Frank J. Loesch. Loesch is the only living winner of previous awards.

Mrs. Bowen, once called "the conscience of the city," was born in Chicago on Feb. 26, 1859, the daughter of John and Helen Hadduck de Koven. Her mother was born within the palisades of the original Fort Dearborn.

Mrs. Bowen, who was named Louise, was educated at Dearborn seminary, Chicago, and received honorary degrees from Knox college in 1922 and Tufts university in 1926. In her long career of public service, she has fought for and won the first anti-sweat shop laws in the west, the first juvenile detention home in the world, the first use of policewomen, the first juvenile court, and the first Boys' club in Chicago.

* * *

She was one of a group of women who formed the Visiting Nurses Association of Chicago, a charitable organization. Mrs. Bowen joined Hull House at the suggestion of the late Jane Addams and for 17 years filled various positions.

In memory of her husband, Mrs. Bowen gave 72 acres of property near Waukegan to the Hull House association. The property, which she named the Joseph T. Bowen Country club, has accommodations for 250 children.

She has been president of the Women's City club and for 35 years was president of the board of directors of the Juvenile Protective association. She now is honorary president of both organizations. During the world war she was the only woman member of the State Council of Defense. She has served as a member of the Republican National committee.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Olsen of Janssen avenue announce the approaching marriage tomorrow of their niece, Miss Eileen Oakes, to Elmer Stonehouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stonehouse of South Hamilton avenue. The wedding will take place at 6:30 o'clock in St. Chrysostom's church with a reception at the Chicago Towers club following. After a wedding trip to the west coast Mr. Stonehouse and his bride will be at home on the south side. Miss Oakes attended DePauw university and her fiancé studied at the University of Illinois.

Simplest Garb Is Made Swank by Accessories

BY REA SEEGER.

This spring costume accessories make the smartest and most unusual ensembles. Extremely plain dresses and equally simple suits are changed at the will of the owner with snappy and decorative accents such as gloves, bags, collar and cuff sets, trios of matching bag, belt, and gloves or bag, umbrella and gloves. Huge scarfs of exquisite colorings are worn tied round the throatline or in a bow. White pique achieves a new high fashion in vestees, blouses, collar and cuff sets and in cutout trim for hats.

* * *

Huge bags flash with gold or silver metal nail head trim with the stunning alligator affairs leading the parade. Red, green, tan, copper, black, and navy are the color range, and size is outsize. There are smoothies made of the best looking calfskin that looks like expensive kid, in square outlines with wide carrying straps. One successful model features three sizes, small, medium, and large. Gloves to match exactly are easy to find, a shopping aid that is gratefully welcomed by all . . . and the price marks are incredibly low.

* * *

Costume jewelry makes a new record for decoration plus amusement, for instance, the new trio of pink enamel cherubs doing the "see no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil" admonition with their little pink fists, and flapping a pair of green wings for accent. Brand new matching earrings and chest clip look like gold pennies and a huge gold dollar. . . . On the flat side are the script initials.

A Chinese dwarf pine tree in a tub is made of red, black, and green enamel and flashes with rhinestones.

seamstress' great-niece, Miss Elizabeth Fabian Webster, will wear this afternoon when she becomes the bride of Lloyd Lewis at 4:30 o'clock in St. Mark's church, Evanston. Miss Webster will wear also the rich lace veil that Miss Fabian wore to become the bride of Charles G. Fall. Unfortunately, Mrs. Fall, who now is 87 and resides in Boston, is unable to be here for the ceremony.

Miss Webster and her sister, Miss Emily Webster, a Wellesley student, who will be her only attendant, are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Webster of Evanston. Their brother, Ronald Jr., who is a senior at Williams, and three cousins of the bride, Roderick Webster, Towner K. Webster III., and Johnathan Strong, will be among the ushers. Winston Bostick will be best man.

Mr. Lewis is the son of Mrs. James Perry Lewis of Redmon, Ill., who is here for the wedding. He is working for his Ph. D. at the University of Chicago, at which Miss Webster is a research assistant in pharmacology.

John Edward Turner to Wed Missouri Girl.

Interesting romantic news is contained in the announcement that has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Mitchell of Lewiston, Mo., of the engagement of their daughter, Martha Ann, to John Edward Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy L. Turner. The wedding will take place later this spring, probably in May.

Mr. Turner is the youngest of the Turners' four sons. He is a graduate of Rollins college in Winter Park, Fla., where Mr. and Mrs. Turner have a winter home, and is engaged in business in Chicago.

Martha Walter and Henri Laurens, the two artists whose exhibitions are opening today at the Arts club, will not be present at the tea, but guests will have the opportunity to meet the George Chavchavadzes. Mr. Chavchavadze, Russian pianist and distant cousin of Prince Rostislav, will give a concert on Sunday in Orchestra hall.

Mrs. Potter Palmer, hostess at the tea, will be assisted by Mrs. Jacob Buchbinder, and Mrs. Edith Weis. Pouring at the tea tables will be Mrs. Errett Van Nice, Mrs. Paul Russell, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Daniel Catton Rich, Mrs. Harry Boysen, Mrs. Neil Cowham, Mrs. John C. Murphy, Mrs. Noel Flint, Mrs. Emily Roby, and Mrs. Gilbert Hall.

Mrs. Donald Bowey Giving Tea for Benefit Workers.

Mrs. Donald F. Bowey of Commonwealth avenue is giving a tea this afternoon for the women of the box and program committees for the Margaret Etter Crèche benefit on Saturday, April 19. Mrs. William J. Kelly, Mrs. Ray P. Johnson Jr., Mrs. Thomas Smyth, Mrs. Chester Ihle, Mrs. Leslie Olmsted, Mrs. James Westcott, and Mrs. William Gehl are among those working to make a success of the benefit, which will be a concert by Lily Pons and Andre Kostelanetz.

Mrs. Herbert E. Hyde, who spent most of the winter in Santa Fe and California with her sister, Mrs. Clarence Woolley, is to be the hostess at the Cliff Dwellers' tea this afternoon.

Mrs. Stanley Carleton and Mrs. Walter Kuhlmey will pour at the Chicago College club's regular Friday afternoon post-symphony tea today.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Fine lines around the eyes are one of the worst bugaboos of maturity. It's maddening to watch the little character lines that may have been one of your most charming facial features in youth develop into deep, definite wrinkles.

What to do?

First of all discipline yourself about facial mannerisms. Don't squint or frown or wrinkle up your eyes when you smile. It's easy to fall into mannerisms and not easy to work yourself out of them, but if you consider that deep creases will sprout where now there are only fine lines you should be able to whip up the necessary strength of character.

We all know now that dry skin is the fertile area for wrinkles. The skin around the eyes is usually particularly delicate, and unless it's kept nicely oiled it will crinkle early. The answer to that one is oiling and lots of it.

Use an eye cream if you like. A rich one, not so heavy that you have to pull the skin while you massage it. One of our favorites isn't light in texture, but it must be rubbed down in the palm of the hand before use. The temperature reduces it almost to liquid form. It's a tremendous success as a lubricant for the thin, parched skin.

2 Mistakes Wives So Often Make

Because of inward shyness or ignorance, many married women make needless mistakes—risk health, happiness. Why? Generally because feminine hygiene is considered too personal to be discussed. And so many women use over-strong solutions of acids which can burn or scar delicate tissues. Today risks are needless. For science has given womankind Zonite. Non-poisonous, non-caustic, yet kills germs, bacteria on contact. Destroys undesirable odors. Protects personal daintiness. Most important, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles already bought. Free Booklet Tells Intimate Facts. Get this frankly written booklet, "Feminine Hygiene Today"—FREE, sent postpaid in plain wrapper. Auditors Thrill to Intensity of Great Soprano

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Rose Pauly is not a musician who needs a long warming up period in order to get fully into the spirit of what she is doing. On the contrary she is able to throw herself into a veritable frenzy at the drop of a hat.

Appearing with the Chicago Symphony orchestra last night under Frederick Stock's direction, the great Hungarian soprano closed her eyes to the electric lights of Orchestra hall and, at the orchestra's first announcement of the aria from the third act of Wagner's "Rienzi," identified herself completely with the anguished, distracted Adriano. The tingling excitement of the performance sprang as much from the singer's terrible sincerity as from the size and quality of her voice and the skill with which she used it.

◆

But what Mme. Pauly did in the "Rienzi" air and in the monolog from Strauss' "Ariadne aux Naxos" which followed was hardly a preparation for the towering passion of the "Elektra" excerpts which closed the program. The disordered mind of Agamemnon's daughter was explored with an almost clinical expertness and mercilessness. Her brooding over the dead, her tempest of hatred for the living, her lust for a frightful and speedy vengeance—all of these things boiled underneath the music and guided the selection of every voice coloring.

◆

An out and out piece of escapist music is William Walton's comedy overture, "Scapino," which last night received its first performance anywhere. Written for the orchestra's jubilee season by the young Englishman, William Walton, and worked on during whatever intervals of leisure his work as a wartime ambulance driver would allow, the overture turns out to be the sunny, exuberant sort of thing which one would least expect to spring from amid such horrors. It is receiving the unprecedented honor of an almost immediate repetition—at the concert of April 17.

Last night's program also held Respighi's Old Dances and Airs for the Lute, Bach's Fantasia and Fugue in G Minor, and the Strauss tone poem, "Don Juan."

Universay day—Be up and doing today. The emphasis is on getting from here to there!

If you were born in March—your childhood was probably a fairly happy one with pleasant memories now of the joys of playmates and association with interesting and kindly grownups. The March child often is too lively and asks many "whys" but it couldn't be called a dull child. If you can look back on your youth with a pleasurable feeling that you enjoyed it, then you lived out the true possibilities of your number three which governed your early environment. If there was too much strife for it to be a pleasant memory then you may have been a little too noisy, talkative or too mischievous, restless and irresponsible to get the best out of those early years. You should have expressed early a friendly personality and had many friendships.

Advice to This Husband Is: Avoid Affair

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright:1941:By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"I have been married for seven years and am very happy with my wife and child. My home life always has been, and I'm certain always will be, happy.

"About a year ago I began working with a young woman who has become very close to me in business. There has sprung up between us such a friendship that we actually miss each other when we are not together. My feelings for her have grown so strong that I have kissed her many a time when leaving the office. She is unmarried.

"Let me impress upon you that my home life is not, and I know will not be, affected by our friendship. I have sufficient will power for that, and I never will allow anything to break up my home, because I sincerely love my wife and child.

"Still, I feel for this woman somewhat as I felt when I was courting my wife. Is it possible, Miss Blake, for a man to love twice? Can he really find another woman who seems to fit into his life just as the woman he married seems to fit?—P. S."

It might be possible to be somewhat in love with two women at the same time, for different reasons, but it is dangerous business to encourage such a situation. Don't be too sure that you will be immune from emotions which have gotten the better of men just as fine and honorable as you believe yourself to be. While you still think you are strong enough, don't trifle with the affections of your business associate. Keep your relationship on a strictly business basis. It isn't fair or honorable to make her fall in love with you. As a married man, you must protect your wife and child against outside "interference." While loving two women you cannot give all your love to either. So about-face, before it's too late.

Jugo-Slavs Here to Offer Prayers for Young King

Jugo-Slavs from the entire central west will hold a religious celebration for the assumption of the Jugo-Slav throne by the youthful King Peter II. Sunday morning at the Serbian Eastern Orthodox Church of the Holy Resurrection, 1905 West Schiller street. Prayers for the king's long life will be offered by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Dionisije, head of the Serbian Church of the United States, and by the Very Rev. Petar O. Styachich, rector of the church. The Brancho Radichovich a cappella choir of the Serbian Singing society will sing the music of the mass.

Don't Ignore First Born if There's a Baby

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright:1941:By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

When the second baby comes, what happens to the first? Lots of things, if you're not careful.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I have a little girl, almost 3 years old, who will not mind and who has tantrums if she doesn't get her own way. I see that they do not gain her anything and yet she continues to have them. I can't always be punishing her, and yet she is very unruly. Please tell me where I have failed.

"She has a new baby sister and I have tried not to let the baby seem too important. Do you suppose that has anything to do with her behavior?

"She was very unhappy without me while I was in the hospital, and for days after I came home she could not see the dress I wore home without getting upset for fear I would put it on and go again.

"I do not mean to give the impression that she thinks of me to the exclusion of any one else, because she thinks the world of her daddy, but it is just that she and I have been alone a great part of the time and naturally she missed me."

The mother who wrote this letter must, first, give more thought to the older child. She must observe this growing personality, and figure out what she needs.

Then she must try to supply those needs in the interest she shows, in the understanding and patience she expresses.

But, besides that, she must try definitely to make the older girl feel secure in the family affections, feel still important to Mother and Daddy. Parents really need to do this definitely, as I say, because a new baby is so thrilling to everybody and requires so much care that it's the most natural thing in the world to lose one's sense of proportion.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

There is not one single "rule" of bridge that never should be broken. In this game, more than in any other within my knowledge, it can truly be said that "circumstances alter cases." Take the matter of leading away from tenace positions, for example. Sitting over declarer with A Q x in a suit, it almost always is correct to wait for declarer [or one's own partner] to make the first lead in that suit. But here, too, "it all depends." If West, in the following hand, had played this waiting game, he would have cost his side three tricks.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	2 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

West carefully weighed the respective merits of a spade and a heart opening and decided in favor of the latter. His jack was taken by East's king and the ace was cashed. A third round followed, and West ruffed away declarer's queen.

Now West was under some temptation to lead a club in the hope that his partner had the queen. This would preserve the diamond tenace position in case South had the diamond king. But as West saw it, the only good chance to defeat the contract depended on finding East with the diamond king; and since West was not greatly interested in possible overtricks [this was rubber bridge] he properly determined on a bold course. Thus, at the fourth trick, he laid down the diamond ace and was delighted to see East follow suit with the nine spot, surely an encouraging signal. A low diamond was continued and taken by East with the king, and the fourth heart was led. Declarer was helpless to avert defeat. As the only possible chance to save his contract, he ruffed in with the nine of spades, but was promptly overruffed by West.

As may be seen, if West had failed to start the diamond suit, but instead had exited with a club after ruffing declarer's queen of hearts, ten tricks would have become a lay-down.

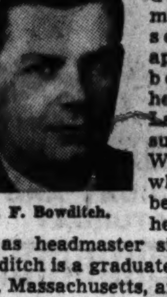
Lake Forest Academy Names E. F. Bowditch as New Headmaster

McPherson Holt, president of the Lake Forest academy board of trustees, announced yesterday that E. Francis Bowditch, headmaster of Park school, Indianapolis, Ind., had been elected headmaster at Lake Forest. He succeeds John Wayne Richards, who has retired because of ill health after serving as headmaster since 1913. Mr. Bowditch is a graduate of Milton academy, Massachusetts, and Harvard university, where he was formerly assistant dean of freshmen. His appointment to Lake Forest becomes effective July 1.



E. F. Bowditch.

The Esquire
Conrad Veidt and Valerie Hobson perform competently in a spirited spy drama which is both timely and entertaining. Identities remain cleverly concealed until the last minutes of a picture which is contrived for suspense and skilfully shaded with comedy. The film is called "Blackout" which indicates only the time of the action; war scenes being totally absent. It's more fun if seen from the beginning at 2:22, 4:24, 6:26, 8:28 and 10:30

EXPECT 15,000 FOR BATTLE IN STADIUM RING

Veteran Finn Has Weight Advantage.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Billy Conn will attempt to convince Chicagoans of his qualifications for a heavyweight title bout with Joe Louis this summer in a 12 round match against Gunnar Barlund of Finland in Chicago Stadium tonight.

The 23 year old Pittsburgh challenger, who will be making his Chicago debut, did a good job of convincing skeptics of his skill in gymnasium workouts, but only a fight, such as the one he faces this evening, will tell the true story.

As a result Promoter Bill Rand is preparing to handle a crowd of 15,000.

Sentiment Has Changed.

When Conn started training he gave the impression of being a flash-in-the-pan built up to his present position by glowing newspaper and magazine accounts of his achievements since entering heavyweight competition in 1939. He created this impression by being content to stand flatfooted and slug it out with sparmates. After a few days Johnny Ray, his manager, changed mates and the slender, boyish Pennsylvanian was forced to revise his style. It gave the lad an opportunity to show his versatility. He continued flatfooted, however, until his last sparring session on Wednesday. Then he displayed burning speed, his chief asset.

Billy Conn.

Gunnar Barlund.

Conn, who is matched with Joe Louis for a heavyweight championship bout this summer, will battle Barlund, veteran Finnish fighter, in a scheduled 12 round bout in the Stadium tonight.

Is He Too Light?

One of the common criticisms of Conn as a heavyweight is his low weight. When he scored a fifth round knockout over Dan Hassett in Washington, D. C., March 6, His weight was recorded at 181 pounds, one less than he was said to have carried for a four round technical knockout of Ira Hughes in Clarksburg, W. Va., previously. The victory over Hassett was his seventh in seven appearances against the big boys. In addition to Hassett and Hughes, his victims were Gus Dorazio, Henry Cooper, Bob Pastor, Al McCoy, and Lee Savold.

With the exception of the 204 pound Hassett, Barlund will be the heaviest opponent Conn has opposed. Gunnar weighs 196 pounds. Last night Conn's handlers were unable to say what he will weigh when he steps on the scale in the Illinois Athletic commission office in the Steger building this afternoon at 1 o'clock, but he is not likely to carry much more than 175 pounds.

Allen Battles Beckwith.

A 10 round semi-windup will bring together Altus Allen, 1939 international Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, and Booker Beckwith, 1938 intercity Golden Gloves middleweight winner. They will meet as light heavyweights. Allen has lost three matches in 15 professional starts, while Beckwith is undefeated in 11 bouts since entering the money ranks two years ago.

Tommy Spiegal, Pittsburgh junior welterweight, is paired with Nick Castiglione of the west side in an eight round event. A six round match is scheduled between Johnny Colan, competent New York middleweight, and Settimo Terracina, and a four rounder between Johnny Cregan, Pittsburgh welterweight, and Mike Sopko.

BAER MEETS NOVA

New York, April 3 [Special].—Lou Nova, winner of their last fight two years ago, today was installed a 7 to 5 favorite over Max Baer in their 12 round fight in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Both fighters were reported taking it easy today after finishing their heavy training yesterday. Baer went two rounds with Bob Nestell at his Lakewood, N. J., training quarters, while Nova did some roadwork.

Baer, who is expected to enter the ring at about 220 pounds, has expressed confidence that he will be able to even the score with Nova. Nova expects to weigh about 203.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, who returned from Chicago today, said that the advance sale for the fight already had reached $40,000 and predicted a gate of $85,000. Baer and Nova each will get 27½ per cent for his services.

WOOD SCORES 66 TO TAKE LEAD IN MASTERS' GOLF

Nelson, Little, Hogan, and Goggin Tie at 71.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Augusta, Ga., April 3.—Craig Wood, the big New York blond who is going around this semester proving that you can play great competitive golf in the 40th year of your life, gave another convincing demonstration today by firing a 66 for the first round lead in the eighth annual Masters' tournament at the Augusta National club.

Perchance there's poetic justice in a situation which gives the handsome Wood a five stroke lead on the field of 50 starters in this exclusive party. Maybe Craig is being repaid for the breaks which have made him one of all-time hard luck champions of golf. Consider that he tied for the British Open of 1933 and lost the playoff. Remember that he yielded the 1934 PGA title only after a 38 hole final. And what of two years ago, when he lost the National Open after a double playoff.

Twice the Runnerup.

These would be enough to break the playing spirit of most golfers. But Wood remembers the Masters' more vividly, probably than any of these. He was a runnerup for this title in its first two years. In the second, Gene Sarazen's double eagle frustrated him again just when they were about to add Craig's name to the winner's check. Four years ago, he turned in the most amazing pair of consecutive rounds in American golf history, an 88 and a 67, in this event.

Of course, there remain three more 18 hole rounds before this show is over, and Masters' climaxes are unpredictable. But Wood's advantage is such that the four 71 shooters who are nearest him are going to have to bear down, for the tournament never witnessed such a rapid start by one competitor.

Four Tie at 71.

The quartet of 71s includes three of the pretournament favorites and a man who never has come to be regarded as a long shot in any tournament. The latter is Willie Goggin of Purchase, N. Y., who missed a two foot putt on the final green this evening for a 70 and a second place by himself. Joining him in the second place tie were Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., leading money winner last year and so far of this; Lawson Little of San Francisco, National Open champion, and Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., American professional boss. A Young Man Faces the Future.

He swears he'll set the world on fire some day,
And I've no doubt he really means it, too;
When once youth has its fling at carefree play
He'll set out for his goal and follow thru.
The bright resilience that is the mark
Of untried fledgling years belongs to him,
Wrapped up in dreams that penetrate the dark
And unknown time ahead that naught can dim.
For in such glowing dreams the young in heart
Find superb courage in these parlous hours,
Daring to face the world—to rend apart
The hidebound forces of life's ruthless powers.

The future beckons with its shining goal,
And may he win it, and still keep his soul!

Bruins Defeat Leafs, 2-1; Gain Play-Off Final

Boston, Mass., April 3 (AP).—Mel Hill, hero of the Boston Bruins' 1939 Stanley cup campaign, sent his teammates into the trophy finals against the Detroit Red Wings by blasting in a third period goal that meant a 2 to 1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in the seventh and final game of their National Hockey league playoff series.

Hill, considered the weakest of the Bruins until he suddenly regained his old-time form in Toronto two nights ago, brought the overflow crowd of 16,200 roaring to its feet during the 15th minute of play when he hooked the puck out of a scrimmage in back of the Toronto net, wheeled around and drove a 25-foot shot into the left corner of Turk Broda's cage.

Brimsek's Save Helps.

Just before Hill supplied that clincher, Goalie Frank Brimsek had snuffed out the Leafs' hopes by kicking out a close up shot fired by Sweeney Schriner, who took a forward pass from Billy Taylor inside the Boston defense.

The puck rebounded back to Eddie Wiseman and he flashed down the left, only to be trapped at the far end by Defenseman Wally Stanowski. As they struggled for possession, Taylor and Hill joined them and the latter broke away to decide the game.

Both sides registered 40 foot shots within about a minute of each other during the first period.

Smythe Wins Argument.

In the second period Conn Smythe, Toronto manager, dashed onto the ice to demand that Referee Mickey Ion impose a major penalty on Jack Crawford for cutting Pete Langelle's head with his stick. Ion agreed, after a long argument and a prolonged shuffling match with Smythe.

The Bruins, who have been in four previous Stanley cup finals, two of which had successful endings, will launch another four out of seven series against Detroit here Sunday

ATHLETICS RALLY TO TAME CUBS FIFTH STRAIGHT

Novikoff's Homer Wasted in 5-4 Setback.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Yuma, Ariz., April 3.—The Philadelphia Athletics made it five victories in five tries against the Cubs this afternoon as they whipped the Chicagoans, 5 to 4.

Claude Passeau, who never cared much for the A's in Philadelphia's city series when he was a Philly, was the second and losing pitcher, his second setback this spring by his former fellow townsmen. Crash Davis' third single, a double by Bob Johnson and a single by Sam Chapman in the seventh were the salvo that sank Claude. Chapman drove in the winning run today on his only hit, a mere single. On March 16 he nicked Passeau for a first inning homer with the bases loaded.

Novikoff's Homer Wasted.

The Cub offense was nothing like it was just before the last set of California cloudbursts set in. Nevertheless the Cubs wasted a pinch triple by Dom Dallessandro, which effected a tie in the fifth inning and a two-run homer by Lou Novikoff which put the team ahead briefly in the sixth.

Bill Beckman was the winning pitcher, tho not nearly so good as his predecessor, Jack Knott.

Knott, the mild mannered Texan who was swapped by the White Sox for Dario Lodigiani last Dec. 16, had no difficulty in taming the 13 Cubs who faced him in the four innings he pitched.

Athletics Start Strong.

French, the Cubs' starting pitcher, did all right after a bad start.

The A's had a total of four hits before the second putout of the game, but derived only two runs from the inning. Eddie Collins beat out a bunt to get things under way and went to third on Davis' first hit, a single to left. Johnson flied to Bill Nicholson, scoring Collins, then Frankie Hayes beat out a tap in front of the plate and Dick Siebert singled to right, scoring Davis. Sam Chapman struck out and Pete Suder flied to Augie Galan.

Beckman Is Too Good.

The Cubs made only one hit off Beckman in the fifth, but succeeded in tying the score momentarily. Galan, first to face Beckman, walked and reached second on a wild pitch. Augie went to third on Bill Herman's infield out, then Lou Stringer walked. Phil Cavarretta batted for Al Todd and drove Galan home with the first Cub run on a fly to Collins. Dallessandro batted for French and tripled, scoring Stringer with the tying run.

Passeau took over at the start of the sixth and Suder doubled. Al Brancato fouled to Clyde McCullough but Stringer fumbled Beckman's grounder, Suder scoring. Collins hit into a double play. The Cubs took the lead for the only time in the sixth on Novikoff's homer, which scored Stan Hack, who had walked.

The teams will play tomorrow in Tucson. Score:

As Pros Considered Rule Changes

Layden Takes Office Today as Pro Football Commissioner

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Elmer Layden, the Davenport, Ia., boy who rode to fame as a Horseman at Notre Dame and carried on there to become the country's foremost athletic executive, takes office today as commissioner of professional football.

Owners of the National Football league, meeting in executive session in the Palmer House, will induct the new commissioner as the first order of business in the annual league meeting, which begins at 2 o'clock.

As commissioner of professional football, Layden's authority will supersede that of Carl Storck, president of the league, who will call the meeting to order. Storck, who left a sick bed in Dayton, O., after a seven week's siege to attend the meeting, then will turn proceedings over to Layden.

Storck One of Founders.

Among the orders of business will be a clarification of Storck's position in future affairs of the league. As manager of the Dayton Triangles, Storck was one of the founders of the league in 1920 and since that time has served in various capacities, first as secretary and treasurer and, after the death of Joseph F. Carr in 1939, as president.

Storck has come to the meeting with all the requirements of his office fulfilled, as provided by the constitution. He has drawn the 1941 schedule, listed the recommendations for rule changes, etc. A new constitution has been drawn, however, and whether the schedule will be adopted or whether the owners will draft a new one has not been decided.

Submit Decisions Today.

Preliminary to today's meeting proper, the rules committee met twice yesterday to consider recommendations for eight changes in the professional code. Its decisions will be submitted to the executive committee, which meets at 11 a. m. today, and later to the league for final action.

Trade talk was plentiful around the lobbies as more coaches arrived yesterday. George Halas of the Bears, was reported dealing with the Cardinals for Marshall Goldberg, the former Pitt star. Goldberg is ideally suited for the Bears' quick opening offense. Owner Charles Bidwill of the Cardinals was said to have asked for two Bear players, whose identity was not revealed.

LEE AND SMITH POUNDED HARD BY PITTSBURGH

Each Team Gathers Two Homers.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

El Centro, Cal., April 3.—The White Sox had no difficulty piling up base hits today, but there were other developments less pleasing, so their effort to exhibit themselves successfully against Pittsburgh's Pirates availed nothing. The National leaguers did some hitting, not only with consistency but also for distance to fashion an 8 to 5 victory for themselves and at the same time cause additional grief for James Dykes, the Sox boss. Dykes has rescheduled his promised clubhouse tirade on indifference for tomorrow afternoon.

What made Dykes so annoyed that he snarled like a hungry wolf thruout the unhappy display was the ease with which the Pirates pushed around his two southpaws—Thornton Lee and Eddie Smith. The former labored thru five innings during which there were six hits, two of them homers, as well as some passes. Smith was no improvement unless he deserves credit for his successful dodging of the home run item. He was rocked by seven hits, all singles, and was caused some extra trouble by four passes.

Three Singles for Lodigiani.

Dario Lodigiani made another noisy speech in behalf of his claim on third base by collecting three singles against the pitching of Bob Klinger and Dick Lanahan. The little Italian was the only consistent workman in Dykes' ensemble, altho shaded momentarily in a couple of spots by home run contributions in which Lee and Julius Solters played the big rôles.

Garms slapped Lee for a home run to right in the first inning and the Sox were presented an opportunity to get back the run with interest in their opening attack on Klinger, but the latter escaped when Luke Appling hit into a double play. Luke also ended the game by hitting into a double play.

DiMaggio Gets Homer.

Lee dished up another home run ball in the second inning. Elliott, who had opened the inning with a single, was forced by Fletcher whereupon Vince DiMaggio rifled a drive over the left field barrier, giving the National leaguers a 3 to 0 lead. Lee recovered these two runs in the same inning. After Kreevich had scratched a single to Gustine, Lee sailed his homer over the barrier in left.

Gustine opened the third with a triple to right and scored on Van Robays' fluke single along the third base line. A double play helped Lee out of this jam. In the fourth he walked Fletcher and DiMaggio with none out and one of these scored on Klinger's blooping single before another double extinction halted the disturbance.

Solters Really Connects.

Solters took charge of one of Klinger's pitches in the fifth and it vanished beyond the wall in left center for the Sox third run. They picked up their next tally as soon as Lanahan took over the enemy pitching job in the sixth. The newcomer was welcomed by Knickerbocker's double off the left field barrier. He finally was driven home on Lodigiani's third hit, a single to left.

Smith worked satisfactorily in the sixth, his first inning, but tumbled into such confusion in the seventh that he was lucky to get away with the damage limited to one run. With one out, Gustine and Garms singled and Vaughan walked. No harm was done by Van Robays' popup which Knickerbocker handled. But Elliott also was handed free transportation, forcing Gustine to score. Fletcher grounded to Knickerbocker to close the inning. The Sox didn't get this run back until the eighth when Knickerbocker doubled, went to third on Smith's single and home on Lodigiani's long fly.

Smith Encounters Trouble.

Smith encountered all sorts of trouble in the ninth. Garms, Vaughan, Van Robays, and Elliott smacked him for singles, two scoring.

The Sox and Pirates will go to work at noon tomorrow in the second of the series here, the early assembly being necessary so that the National leaguers can get a train for El Paso. Ted Lyons and Bill Dietrich will share the pitching against John Lanning and Ken Heintzelman.

HUBBELL-FELLER DUEL JUST FIELD DAY FOR HITTERS

Walker Bats In Six Runs as Indians Win, 11-4.

Talladega, Ala., April 3 [Special].—A crowd of 1,300 who turned out to see Carl Hubbell and Bob Feller match pitching skill today saw instead a batters' field day. The Indians blasted out an 11 to 4 triumph over the Giants, pounding Hubbell for eight hits, including two homers, three doubles, and six runs in five innings. Feller worked six innings, but gave up two homers, a triple, double, and three singles — and walked eight. Gee Walker was the batting star, driving in six Cleveland runs with a homer, double, and two singles. Score:

New York [N. L.]	021	000	100—	4	10	1
Cleveland	200	040	32*—	11	12	0

Batteries — Hubbell, Carpenter and O'Dea; Feller, Krakauskas and Desautels.

DODGERS, 5; DALLAS, 1.

Waco, Tex., April 3 [Special].—Joe Medwick again hit the game winning homer today to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 5 to 1 triumph over the Dallas Rebels, only club to beat Brooklyn since the team left Florida.

Brooklyn	000	120	101—	5	9	1
Dallas	000	010	000—	1	6	1

Batteries—Fitzsimmons, Carleton and Owen; Mann, Maltberger, Overman and Cronin.

AUKER, BROWNS WIN.

Texarkana, Ark., April 3 (AP).—Elden Auker, the St. Louis Browns' submarine baller, pitched one of the best games of his career today and also hit a homer, but he had to be rescued in the ninth inning to provide the American leaguers with a 7 to 5 victory over the Boston Bees.

Boston [N. L.]	100	000	004—	5	8	3
St. Louis [A. L.]	000	020	41*—	7	13	1

Batteries—Tobin, Ferrell and Statz; Auker Allen and Swift.

CARDS CLUSTER RUNS.

Columbus, Ga., April 3 (AP).—Stan Musial and Clarence Beers of the Columbus club of the Sally league held the St. Louis Cardinals hitless for six straight innings today but the major leaguers won, 14 to 6. St. Louis got six runs in the first, three in the second and five in the ninth largely because of the wildness of Columbus pitchers.

CUB OFFICIAL DENIES PLAN TO RELEASE LEE

Knickerbocker Bolsters Sox; Cubs' Sturgeon Back to Stay

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

El Centro, Cal., April 3.—If the White Sox have any luck, and they should, in the American league race, some of the credit will have to go to Bill Knickerbocker, so far the regular second baseman, and after Knickerbocker to Casey Stengel, manager of the Boston Bees. Stengel's connection with the case goes 'way back to 1930 when Stengel, who just snoops around in California where he winters, saw a kid named Knickerbocker playing baseball with a team at Sawtelle.

Bill Knickerbocker.

The humorously inclined Stengel, who several years before had been a world series hero for the Giants against the Yankees, was managing the Toledo club at the time. He figured the kid infielder at Sawtelle would fit in perfectly with the Mudhens, so he performed the customary contract ritual with the athlete. That's what started Knickerbocker on a big league career which thus far has had stopping places at four American league points.

Made Good in Hurry.

Knickerbocker made good in a hurry. After two seasons at Toledo he was shifted to the Cleveland Indians. As a shortstop who could field he hit only .226 in 1933. The next season he was a great improvement as a bat swinger. He hit .317 in 1934, .298 in 1935, and .294 in 1936. All this time he played short regularly, but despite his excellent work he was traded to St. Louis in January, 1937. It was a wholesale transaction that involved, among others, Julius Solters, now of the Sox outfield. After one season in St. Louis, Knickerbocker was traded to the Yankees for Infielder Don Heffner and in his three years with the Yanks he was used only in emergencies.

One of those emergencies arose when Joe Gordon was injured and Knickerbocker took over the second base chores for quite a stretch. Dykes saw him during that stretch, in which he not only hit an approximate .330, but also fielded so well that even the spectacular Gordon wasn't missed.

Dykes Remembered Him.

Last season Knickerbocker filled in at third when Red Rolfe was incapacitated, but it was the second basing of two years previous that was uppermost in Dykes' mind when he asked for Knickerbocker this winter in return for Catcher Ken Silvestri.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Yuma, Ariz., April 3.—Some folks were surprised to see infielder Bobby Sturgeon leave California with the Cubs. This group included even Bob's pappy, a Long Beach furniture dealer.

Bobby Sturgeon.

But Bobby is along, and probably will be carried all season as a spare infielder. Manager Jim Wilson says he likes the young man's spirit, speed, and batting. Sturgeon, it will be recalled by some, was being hailed as a boy wonder a year ago. Tho he was only 19, he was told early in the exhibition season that he was to be the regular Cub shortstop, quite a load for a 19 year old with only three years of experience in organized ball.

Bob started the season, was pressing every minute and was far from a boy wonder. After nine games he found himself benched and a bit later he was playing for Jersey City in the International league.

Improves with Experience.

Bob joined up this spring more mature and remarkably improved in poise. As a shortstop, however, Bob faced competition that seemed insurmountable, what with Bill Myers imported from the world champion Cincy Reds and three other shortstops, Harvey Storey, Len Merullo, and Rabbit Warstler hanging around.

Storey, Merullo and Warstler were left in California. The Cubs now have in Lou Stringer a regular shortstop who never played short before, but his boosters predict he's going to be a sensation in his new position, even as he was as a second baseman for the Los Angeles Angels.

Bob Didn't Give Up.

With Stringer converted into the regular shortstop and the 1940 world series shortstop standing by as his alternate, Sturgeon found his problems entirely different than they were a year ago. But he never slowed down. His batting mark in spring competition is .583 and, so Manager Wilson says, he has won a job as utility infielder. In the past Cub utility infielders have had plenty of work during the course of a regular season.

Sturgeon, always a shortstop, apparently likes to play third, second, and short with equal skill and enthusiasm. He will help the Cubs.

VANDER MEER IS IN FORM AND REDS BEAT RED SOX, 5-1

Johnny Goes Nine Innings; Yields Six Hits.

Montgomery, Ala., April 3 (AP).—It fell to Johnny Vander Meer to be the first Cincinnati Red pitcher to hurl the full nine innings in spring training, and the southpaw did himself proud today as the Reds beat the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 1.

Johnny, who hasn't been right since pitching two successive no hit games in 1938, held the Boston sluggers to six hits. He walked five and fanned five. Score:

Cincinnati	010	002	002—	5	14	0
Boston [A.L.]	000	001	000—	1	6	3

Batteries—Vander Meer and Lombardi; Rich and Pytlak.

YANKEES MAUL TULSA.

Tulsa, Okla., April 3 [Special]. — The New York Yankees and Tulsa played ball for two inings this afternoon, after which a Yankee attack as devastating as a dust storm broke loose and the ex-champions piled up a 14 to 5 victory. Charley Keller was the Yanks' siege gun, getting two homers and two singles. Score:

New York [A. L.]	007	001	132—	14	18	0
Tulsa [T. L.]	101	000	300—	5	9	3

Batteries—Peek, Stanceau and Dickey, Rosar; Bertram, Wyse, Sharp and Montgomery, McDougal.

WEARING ILL-FITTED SHOES?

IN THE EASTER PARADE "1 Man in 3" WILL BE WEARING ILL-FITTED SHOES!

• In a few days, thousands of well-dressed men will swing along in "America's greatest parade" on Easter Sunday. And one of every three will be wearing dangerously misfitted shoes — as indicated by X-ray tests conducted by the Regal Shoe Company in principal cities!

• In offices and industrial plants, Regal has been taking actual X-ray photographs of the feet of hundreds of well-dressed men — showing position of foot bones inside the shoes — and submitting them for analysis to famous foot specialists. Their verdict: 1 MAN IN 3 is wearing shoes too short, too narrow, or both!

1. GOOD FIT. This X-ray shows sufficient length and width to allow bones of feet to function naturally.

2. BAD FIT. These shoes are too short and too narrow! Bones are crowded dangerously, style of shoe ruined.

A MISFITTED SHOE is a dangerous shoe! Not only does it lose its shape and style — it may result in serious ailments, even though you may be aware of only slight discomfort while wearing it!

That's why the Regal Shoe Company has spent more than $100,000 to develop "PRESCRIPTION FIT"— the exclusive system which measures and records the length and width of both feet in sitting, standing and stepping positions! So when you're "Prescription Fitted," you know you're getting not only one of the greatest shoe values from the standpoint of AUTHENTIC STYLE and QUALITY — you're also getting SOLID COMFORT, and PROTECTION against dangers that lurk in improperly fitted footwear!

Remember, only in Regal Stores can you buy Regal Shoes! No dealers or middlemen — no multiple profits! Don't watch the Easter style parade — GET IN IT, with a pair of "Prescription Fitted" Regal Shoes!

HERE'S HOW REGAL GIVES YOU A "PRESCRIPTION FIT"

Because your feet may be longer or wider when you're standing or stepping, Regal measures the length and width of both your feet in three positions:

REGAL SHOES

Because Regal standards of quality are never lowered, Regal's nation-wide price—always as low as possible—is always subject to change based on cost of materials.

CHICAGO TOWERS TEAM FAVORED IN AAU SWIM TODAY

Michigan Cast in Strange Underdog Role.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 3 [Special].—For the first time in two years, Coach Matt Mann's University of Michigan swimming team, present national collegiate and A. A. U champions, will enter a meet tomorrow in the rôle of the underdog.

When the brilliant field of 98 swimmers and 24 teams from all parts of the nation churn the Wolverines' home pool for the 1941 National A. A. U. indoor swimming championships, the Chicago Towers club's squad of 10 star performers will be favored to end Michigan's reign over the amateur swimming world.

Wolverines Are Hopeful.

Coach Stanley Brauninger predicts 40 points and victory for his Towers team which is paced by Adolph Kiefer and Otto Jaretz, who hold three national individual titles between them. Michigan's Mann characteristically refuses to concede a thing.

Five finals will be held tomorrow night and the remaining five Saturday night, with preliminary heats being run off in the afternoon each day. Tomorrow's events will be the 220 yard free style, 220 yard breast stroke, low board diving, 300 yard individual medley, and the 400 yard relay.

Three Records May Fall.

With seven intercollegiate individual champions present and all but two A. A. U. title holders competing, world records in at least three events are in danger. Johnny Weissmuller's 100 yard mark of 51 seconds, which has stood since 1927 will be assaulted by Jaretz, defending champion, and others.

Kiefer is expected to lower his own 150 yard backstroke record of 1:32.7 and the accepted standard of 3:31.3 for the 400 yard relay is due for a fall.

Michigan's only seeming certainty for a first place is the 220 yard breast stroke where Sophomore Jim Skinner will go after the American record of 2:38.4.

Tom Haynie of the Detroit A. C. is defending champion in the 220 and 440 yard free style races.

Platak Seeded No. 1 for AAU Handball Meet

Eight players were seeded and pairings completed yesterday in the National AAU singles handball tournament to be played in the Lake Shore club starting Monday. Last minute entries swelled the singles bracket to 59, an AAU national tournament record.

Joe Platak, Lake Shore star who has monopolized the title for six years, was seeded No. 1, with Jack Clements of San Francisco, runner-up in 1938-'39-'40, in second position. Other seedings were: third, Angelo Trulio, New York, national champion in 1932; fourth, Ed Rawlings, Kansas City, Mo.; fifth, Jack Emas, Philadelphia, Pa.; sixth, Angelo Tocchini, Oakland, Cal.; seventh, Earl Srenco, St. Louis; eighth, George Brotemarkle, of Hollywood, Cal.

First round play in singles opens at 11 a. m. Monday. All three courts will be used to handle the opening round load of 27 matches. Play in the National AAU doubles tournament will open Tuesday. Singles and doubles will run concurrently for the remainder of the week, with the finals scheduled for Saturday, April 12.

TILDEN BEATS FACULTY.

Jack Loshbough and Bob Burke each scored eight points to lead the Tilden junior basketball team to a 28 to 22 overtime victory over the faculty in the Tilden gymnasium yesterday.

Earl Boxes Grod Tonight in Show at Madison A. C.

Robert Earl, 1941 city Golden Gloves lightweight champion, will meet Mickey Grod in a five round amateur bout tonight in Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street. . . . Another amateur show will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Harrison High school, 2850 West 24th street boulevard. The card, sponsored by the Harrison Letter Men's club and under the direction of Earl Carlson, will determine champions of the school in the various weight classes. . . . Still another amateur program this evening will be offered in Northwest gymnasium, 2418 West North avenue. . . . Ramey McKnight, Milwaukee welterweight, will oppose Dempsey McPhail of Detroit in an eight round contest Monday in Marigold Gardens. Ray Simmons, heavyweight, also of Detroit, will meet Eddie Camp in an additional match of eight rounds. . . . Leo Rodak will leave today for Baltimore, where he faces Slugger White next Wednesday.

Navy to Place Boxing on Intramural Basis

Annapolis, Md., April 3 (AP).—Boxing, the swankiest of all Naval academy sports from a spectator attire standpoint, will be discontinued as an intercollegiate sport and placed on a strictly intramural basis, Rear Admiral Russell Willson, superintendent, announced today.

Champions Again Win in Table Tennis

New York, April 3 (AP).—The seeded lists in the men's and women's divisions of the national table tennis championship tournament were jolted today, but most of the shaking up was done by favorites. Tonight, at the end of two sessions, Lou Pagliaro of New York and Sally Green of Indianapolis, the defending champions, still were very much in the picture.

Pagliaro led the advance into the semi-final round with a 21-17, 10-21, 21-12, 11-21, 21-14 triumph over Sol Schiff, eighth-seeded New Yorker.

Meets Hungarian Star.

Pagliaro's semi-final opponent will be Tibor Hazi of Hungary, who moved ahead at the expense of Bernie Grimes of New York, 21-18, 21-14, 17-21, 21-13, and third-seeded Bill Holzrichter of Chicago, 21-14, 21-13, 7-21, 11-21, 21-18.

The lower bracket semi-final match will be another New York-Hungary affair, with Ed Pinner facing Lazlo Bellak. Pinner's victims included Bob Anderson of Chicago, whom he beat 22-20, 7-21, 21-8, 21-13.

Women Reach Final.

The women's tournament reached the final round with Miss Green and Helen Germaine of New York, seeded eighth, slated to meet tomorrow. Miss Green turned back Mayo Rolph, sixth-seeded of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Reba Monness of New York, seeded third. Miss Germaine's two victories were scored over Mrs. Mae Clouther of Arlington, Mass., and Mrs. Magda Gal Hazi of Hungary, fifth-seeded.

Pepsi-Cola Quintet Wins Windy City League Title

The Pepsi-Cola basketball team, with Benny Budrick leading the way, last night won the Windy City league championship by defeating the Palmer House Panthers, 38 to 27, in St. Philip gym. Budrick accounted for 15 points. The Bronzeville Merchants won third place from Burton-Dixie, 31 to 26.

MISS DONOVAN, STEPHENS LOSE IN BADMINTON

Cleveland, O., April 3 (AP).—Two seeded players were eliminated today in the opening rounds of the national badminton tournament. Clinton Stephens of New York, rated fifth, lost to Clair Hanley of Santa Barbara, Cal., in the men's singles, 11-15, 18-15, 15-12. In the women's singles, Patricia Donovan of Buffalo, N. Y., ranked third, was beaten by Eleanor Coambs of Chicago, 11-8, 8-11, 11-5.

The defending men's champion, 20 year old Dave Freeman of Pasadena, Cal., received a severe test from John Prest of River Forest, Ill., after drawing a first round bye. Freeman defeated Prest, 17-14, 15-10.

Meanwhile Evelyn Boldrick, a junior at the University of California at Los Angeles, entered the second round by crushing Betty Mathews of Chicago, 11-5, 11-0.

THE Sophistocrat OF CIGARS IS Still THE Young IDEA!
From the time when photography was in the "horse-and-buggy" stage until today when streamlined studios rule, there's one picture that hasn't changed at all. » » Any smart scene will reveal that the Robt. Burns Panatela de Luxe is the choice of young men accustomed to the best in everything. » » For here's a cigar that boasts an all-Havana filler, specially cured tobaccos that contribute the mildness, mellowness and richness that sum up to a deeply satisfying smoke. » » And the graceful aristocratic shape of this Sophistocrat of Cigars not only measures up to the preference of smart young men but wins the approving glance of young ladies of good taste.

TEXANS TAKE 5TH PLACE ON 2,922 IN ABC TEAM EVENT

St. Paul, Minn., April 3 [Special].—The Dr. Peppers of Wichita Falls, Tex., rolled 2,922 to take over fifth place in the American Bowling congress tournament team standings tonight. They opened with 923, then tacked on 1,039 and 960.

Chicago's top team of the evening was the Detloff Park View Flower Shop five, which hit 2,800. Edward Schlichting led the Detloffs with 621.

Avondales Get 2,782.

Early's Avondale Recreation got 2,782, winding up with a 1,040 game, and Garden Recreation No. 1 totaled 2,735. John Urban was high on the Avondales with 607. Other Chicago scores included the Portage Park A. C., 2,635; Brunswick Official, 2,351, and Garden Recreation No. 2, 2,346.

ABC executives gathered here today for the organization's annual convention to be held tomorrow afternoon. Some 1,000 delegates will attend.

Veterans to Roll.

Veteran Chicago bowlers, including in their number Elmer H. Baumgarten, American Bowling congress secretary, will compete on tomorrow night's schedule and will roll in the minor events Saturday. Baumgarten will participate as a member of the Randolph "29" team, captained by Peter P. Howley.

The old Live Stock Press team of the Randolph league also is billed on the 11 o'clock squad tomorrow night. It includes Al Sindelar, secretary of the Chicago Bowling association; Herman Lehmpuhl, Harry Omberg, Joe Gauer, and Frank Getzler. Getzler is to pair with Baumgarten in the doubles Saturday. Another of the veterans scheduled is Art Meier, whose Gold Coast team is listed on the 9 o'clock squad.

McNEILL BEATS RIGGS, 3-6, 8-6, 6-3; EVERT VICTOR

Don McNeill, national tennis champion, rallied last night to defeat Bobby Riggs, 3-6, 8-6, 6-3, before a sellout crowd of 1,500 spectators in the University of Chicago fieldhouse.

Riggs outsteadied McNeill in the first set and led 6-5 on his own service in the second. McNeill then began to hit out with the speed that carried him to victory over Riggs in the national finals at Forest Hills last September. He swept three straight games to win, 8-6.

Riggs again led 3-1 in the final set, but McNeill stormed the net to win five straight games.

Jimmy Evert, Chicago's national junior indoor champion, defeated Seymour Greenberg, Big Ten titleholder, in the opening match, 6-4, 6-3, and then teamed with Bob Smidl, University of Chicago freshman, to whip Riggs and McNeill, 9-7, in an abbreviated doubles final. Proceeds from the exhibit went to the Chicago Junior Development Tennis committee.

Chicago Five Triumphs In National Y Meet

Reading, Pa., April 3 (AP).—Chicago whipped Norristown, Pa., 52 to 38, tonight in a first round game of the national YMCA basketball tournament. In other games Auburn, Ind., won from Baltimore, 54 to 25, and Reading, defending champion, trounced Portsmouth, O., 69 to 37.

COTTON

Growing confidence that congress would provide a high loan rate on the 1941 cotton crop led to general buying of futures yesterday. Prices advanced to peak levels since July, 1937, showing gains of .24 cent a pound above Wednesday's finish at one time. May contracts at New York sold at 11.47 cents before hedging sales and profit taking checked the upturn. Closing sales were .07 to .16 cent a pound higher.

Cash cotton closed .15 to .16 cent higher, with New York, 11.70 cents; New Orleans, 11.21 cents; Houston, 11.10 cents, and Galveston at 11.05 cents a pound. Futures prices follow:

FINDS 'BUSINESS AS USUAL' HARD TASK FOR NATION

Utility Man Warns Against Losses Thru Arms.

Between manufacturing military equipment and maintaining business as usual, the latter is the "harder" job facing industry, Chester H. Lang, manager of apparatus sales for the General Electric company, declared yesterday. He spoke to 750 utility executives and appliance makers at the closing session of the 8th annual sales conference of the Edison Electric institute in the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Declaring "we can make all the guns, planes, and battleships that may be necessary," he asserted that "to the best of our ability we must replace men and materials, keep prices stable, and guard against destroying either the roots or branches of our strong domestic plant."

A Less Spectacular Job.

Maintaining business as usual is the "harder" job because it is less spectacular, he said.

"The greatest challenge to our system will come after the war," Lang said, "when defense production drops, military camps give up their load of suspended man power, and the bills begin to come due. At that time we can't afford to begin all over again building up customers and markets. We must keep our channels of distribution open."

Lang asserted that the electric kitchen may prove more important to our continued existence than a flying fortress and that some such service as that represented by the electric sink may sponsor a future industrial revival.

No Reason to Curb Efforts.

"I see no reason why we should abate our efforts because an emergency exists," he said, "or because we may for a limited time have to wrestle with such difficulties as curtailed production, substitute materials, and the temporary intoxication of increased pay rolls."

Lang declared that the electric industry has orders for 17 million horse power of turbines to propel and furnish power for more than 200 new fighting ships of the United States navy. He asserted that "armament effort in General Electric factories is 2½ times what it was six months ago." About 500,000 man-hours per week are going into arms work, he said.

WHEAT FALTERS AFTER RISING TO NEW PRICE PEAK

Conflicting reports from Washington caused nervousness in grain markets yesterday. All deliveries of wheat, soybeans, and lard on the Chicago Board of Trade sold at new seasonal high prices early. May wheat sold at 93⅛ cents at one time and October lard brought $8.70 per 100 pounds, equaling the highest price since September, 1938.

Heavy hedging and profit taking sales developed in wheat on the upturn. Futures broke around 2 cents from the top and closed ⅛ to ⅞ cent lower.

Corn held within a range of 1 cent and finished at losses of ¾ to ⅞ cent a bushel. Oats lost ½ to ⅝ cent, and rye was unchanged to ¾ cent higher on the active futures. Soybeans for May delivery sold at $1.13⅛ early, the highest price at which any future has been quoted in over a year, but the market eased later with grains and closed unchanged to 1 cent higher.

SEC TOLD HUGE UTILITY WILL BATTLE TO END

Com. & Southern Is 'Shocked' by Plan.

Washington, D. C., April 3 (AP).—Asserting that it was "shocked" by the Securities and Exchange commission's tentative integration findings, the Commonwealth and Southern corporation told the SEC today that it would fight such a program in the courts "as far as we can go."

George Roberts, New York lawyer, speaking for the billion dollar utility holding company system, declared that the plan of geographic integration outlined by the SEC staff under the so-called "death sentence" of the utility act meant "dismemberment" of the system.

Says System Is Integrated.

Roberts argued in general before the commissioners that the system already is fully integrated. He said that before any steps such as those proposed by the SEC can be taken there must be an exhaustive study of all phases of the properties and the service rendered and additional information given the company as to what it could do within the limitations of the act.

"We can't be rushed in this matter," Roberts said. "We're fighting for our very life. We have no intention of committing suicide.

"If the SEC makes a final decision along the lines recommended by its staff it means litigation just as far as we can go."

Offered Choice of Three Units.

The staff had proposed that Commonwealth and Southern could keep only one of its major companies, and few if any of its minor subsidiaries. The major choice would lie among Consumers Power company, which serves most of lower Michigan; Georgia Power company, and Alabama Power company, the latter two serving virtually all of their respective states.

Roberts said that it was not until a few weeks ago that the company had any intimation that its southern properties were not integrated. He declared that as a matter of fact the southern properties were a "model of integration."

Asks Month's Delay.

He asked for a month's adjournment in which to prepare a further reply. Commissioner Robert E. Healy took this request under advisement and granted a one week delay pending his decision.

Roberts said that the SEC should make a comprehensive investigation and report of economic and other factors concerned with the operation of the system and then tell C. & S. just what constituted an integrated system and what could be kept in that system. He said also that he wanted to put into the record a comprehensive study to form the basis for a challenge of the constitutional power of the SEC to change the present C. & S. setup.

RAILROAD AGAIN ASKS COURT TO OVERRULE ICC

Attorneys for the Chicago and North Western railroad yesterday filed in federal court a new suit seeking to have set aside an order of the Interstate Commerce commission refusing to fix a maximum allowance of funds sought by the road to finance an appeal in its fight against the reorganization plan for the carrier. The suit asks the court to compel the commission to reopen the proceedings and fix a maximum.

The commission has approved the plan, which the road is opposing because present stockholders are eliminated under the program. The road recently asked Federal Judge John P. Barnes to order its trustee to pay certain costs of the appeal estimated at $16,000. Judge Barnes refused to do so because the commission had not set a maximum allowance. The new suit will be heard by a three judge court, one of the members of which must be a judge of the Circuit Court of Appeals.

MARCH BUILDING VOLUME IS THIRD BEST ON RECORD

New York, April 3 (AP).—Engineering construction awards in March, totaling $452,430,000, were the third highest monthly volume ever reported, Engineering News-Record said today. The total was two and one-half times that of the same month a year ago.

During the week ended Wednesday, however, the pace of new contracts slowed somewhat, the magazine's tabulation indicated. Comparisons follow:

	Last wk.	Prev. wk.	Year ago.
Priv.	$22,090,000	$48,693,000	$22,512,000
State & munic.	25,291,000	21,370,000	31,416,000
Federal	21,808,000	56,221,000	1,909,000
Total	$68,989,000	$126,284,000	$55,837,000

Lehman Corp. Buys Own Stock; Asset Value Up

New York, April 3 [Special].—Lehman corporation today reported the net asset value for each of its 2,018,436 shares was $28.58, as of March 31, against $27.45 on 2,075,780 shares outstanding July 1, 1940, the beginning of the present fiscal year. Robert Lehman, president, said the corporation purchased for retirement 49,944 shares of its own stock, at about $21.02 a share. Holdings of United States government obligations were cut from $6,800,000 to $800,000 and cash was increased from $2,468,118 to $7,782,279.

Vote to Extend Coal Control in Strike Crisis

Senator Bone, chairman of subcommittee.

Washington, D. C., April 3 (AP).—Administration leaders made arrangements today for speedy senate action on legislation to extend the bituminous coal regulation act for two years. Altho the act will not expire until April 26, a labor leader and a coal company executive told a senate interstate commerce subcommittee that removal of "uncertainties" as to the fate of the renewal measure would speed settlement of the industry's current strike.

The subcommittee quickly approved the measure and made ready to submit it to the full committee tomorrow morning, while Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] announced that it would be brought before the senate tomorrow afternoon if possible.

Continuation of the act already has been approved by the house. Any senate amendments would hold the measure up until after the house has returned from its Easter recess.

Urge Consumers Amendment.

Senators R. M. La Follette [Prog., Wis.], J. H. Ball [R., Minn.], and Arthur Capper [R., Kas.], have proposed an amendment which would permit consumers' wholesale coöperatives to buy coal at the mine at the same discount authorized for other wholesalers.

Chairman Homer T. Bone [D., Wash.] of the subcommittee said a decision on this and other proposed amendments would be left to the full committee for decision tomorrow.

Under the coal act the government fixes minimum prices at the mine equal to the average cost of production, including labor. Thus, an increase in labor cost would make possible an increase in minimum prices by government order.

Earl Houck, director of the legal department of the United Mine Workers, and George W. Reed, vice president of the Peabody Coal company, Chicago, testified before the subcommittee that a final decision by congress to continue the act for a two year period would aid in settling the current coal strike.

Aid in Settling Strikes.

Reed declared that it would be "much easier to reach an agreement with the mine workers than if we continue with the uncertainties of recent weeks."

Herman Mueller, secretary and general manager of the St. Paul Port authority, asked that the act be amended to prevent establishment of higher mine prices for coal to be transported by water than for coal to be carried by rail.

He contended that a differential in prices for coal shipped over the two forms of transportation was "discriminatory" against river communities and deprived them of natural advantages of location.

Howard A. Gray, director of the bituminous coal division, asserted that to equalize prices would destroy the markets of many mines which did not have access to river transportation.

NEW STRUCTURAL METHOD SPEEDS PLANE PLANT JOB

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 3 (AP).—Construction of a $7,000,000 airplane assembly plant in 130 days, or 45 days ahead of schedule, thru the use of prefabricated cellular steel, bomb resisting, insulated structural units, was reported today.

Developed in the steel laboratories of the H. H. Robertson company here, the new construction technique was used for the first time in building the North American Aviation corporation's plant at Dallas, Tex., which is scheduled to be opened April 7.

The plant, one of two which the plane company has under construction, is designed to turn out more than 250 bombers monthly. The other plant, of comparable capacity, is located at Kansas City, Kas.

Engineers said 20 acres of roofs were erected at the rate of an acre a day and walls at the rate of one-third acre a day.

STEEL ERECTED FOR STUDEBAKER ENGINE FACTORY

A block long section of steel framework has been erected at the Studebaker corporation's aviation engine parts plant along Cicero avenue near Archer avenue. Delays have extended from May 1 to June 1 the time for the start of machinery installation, officials said.

Three Chicago companies were among those awarded contracts yesterday in connection with the Studebaker aviation plant at Fort Wayne, Ind. The Consolidated Construction company was given the contract for the remainder of construction there, the M. J. Corboy company was given the plumbing contract and the Blaw-Knox company the sprinkler contract.

Bids are being received for final contracts for the Chicago and South Bend plants involving the completion of the structures and miscellaneous installations. Awards are expected to be made within a week.

Fastest Rally of Year Sends Stocks Ahead

New York, April 3 (AP).—Stocks broke out of the doldrums today with the speediest rally of the year. Rails and industrials ran up gains of 1 to more than 2 points. A number of trading favorites posted new 1914 highs.

Brokers attributed the upswing mainly to revival of "inflationary thinking" which served partially to obscure fears of an imminent Nazi thrust at Jugo-Slavia and the many disturbing labor rifts at home. More notice was taken of generally encouraging business news and advancing commodities.

Brokers reasoned the government's action in ordering a ceiling on iron and steel scrap and soft coal indicated the idea of soaring prices was coming to the fore.

Average Moves Ahead.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was ahead .6 of a point at 42.3, the best day's advance since March 10. It was one of the broadest markets of the year, with 831 individual stocks traded, against 700 yesterday.

The ticker tape picked up speed at frequent intervals and the day's turnover was 940,560 shares, the largest since Dec. 31, compared with 445,510 yesterday.

Rails advanced on the strength of last week's freight loadings showing more than seasonal increase to the highest total for the period since 1930.

Among stocks getting into new high ground for 1941 were Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, United States Rubber, and the preferreds of Gulf, Mobile and Ohio and Electric Power and Light.

CHICAGO PRICES AHEAD.

Prices moved up on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in the first definite rally in recent sessions. The rally carried volume to 26,000 shares from 23,000 Wednesday. Of the 102 issues traded, 57 advanced, 18 declined, and 27 were unchanged.

Midland United preferred, the volume leader in transfer of 2,350 shares, closed at 6⅝, unchanged, after setting a new 1940-'41 high at 7. United States Steel, another of the favorites, gained 1⅛ points to 58⅛.

Allow RFC Claim Against Goldberg Hairpin Estate

Acting Probate Judge Harry McEwen yesterday allowed a claim of $220,000 against the estate of Sol H. Goldberg, president of the Hump Hair Pin company, for balance and interest on a $478,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation loan. Claims aggregating almost $1,000,000 have already been allowed against the estate and additional claims of almost $2,000,000 are pending. Goldberg died last June 4 at the age of 53 in his home at 5555 Everett avenue. His estate is estimated at several million dollars.

Report Du Pont Will Build New Synthetic Rubber Unit

New York, April 3 (AP).—E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. will build a new plant at Louisville, Ky., to enlarge the company's manufacture of neoprene synthetic rubber, it was reported here today. It was said the Air Reduction company would build an adjacent plant from which acetylene, used in the manufacture of neoprene, would be piped to the new du Pont factory.

ARMY REPORTS TANK IN PRODUCTION YEAR AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

Washington, D. C., April 3 (AP).—The army reported today that production had started a year ahead of schedule on a new 25 ton medium tank "believed to be superior to anything of its type in the world."

It was designed and tested jointly by American and British experts in the light of European war experience. Preparations have been sped for months to get it into volume production.

The tank, which is armed with a 75 millimeter gun, will be put thru its paces tomorrow at the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds.

The army's new tank factory being built at Detroit by the Chrysler corporation and two locomotive plants have total orders for some 2,400 of the tanks, and others presumably are to be assembled at the Rock Island, Ill., arsenal.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC SETS NEW 1941 PEAK LAST WEEK

Revenue freight loadings by railroads in the United States during the week ended March 29 increased 23,617 cars, or 3.1 per cent, over the preceding week to a 1941 high of 792,125 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The week's total was the largest for any period since last Oct. 26 and highest for any comparable March week since 1930.

Shipments gained 163,204 cars, or 25.9 per cent, over the corresponding week a year ago and were 191,434 cars, or 31.9 per cent ahead of 1939.

The association reported that loadings for the first 13 weeks of this year totaled 9,382,201 cars, largest for the period in 11 years and well over a million cars ahead of a year ago.

Loadings of the various commodities compared as follows:

TREASURY MAY BAR BANKS IN NEW BOND SALES

Washington, D. C., April 3 (AP).—Banks which receive demand deposits, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau said today, probably will not be permitted to buy any of the new series F and G defense savings bonds, which the treasury will place on sale May 1.

He said the definition of who will be eligible to buy the securities had not been completed, but that it was his intention that the small denomination bonds should be reserved for the investment of savings of individuals and certain types of corporations and associations.

Banks, he said, will get ample investment opportunities when the treasury supplements the defense savings program with large sales of regular types of treasury bonds and notes.

The defense savings securities are stamps, baby bonds and other bonds ranging in denominations from 10 cents to $10,000.

Skilled Labor Crisis Near, Says OPM Aid

Paul G. Mertz.

The shortage of man power is "bound to come" to the middle west as it feels the full impact of the armament program, Paul A. Mertz, district representative of the training within industry program under the Office of Production Management, said last night.

He was one of eight speakers at the panel discussion on "Securing and Retaining an Adequate Labor Supply" sponsored by the Illinois Manufacturers' association in the La Salle hotel.

"We have to think in terms of emergency training, quick training," he declared, warning that an additional four million workers will be required this year to effect the 60 per cent increase in military production advocated by the OPM.

Says East Seeks Workers.

He cited a letter from one New England manufacturer requesting 600 skilled workers from the middle west as an example of the shortage of labor in the east and a foretaste of what may be expected here.

This year all the colleges of the country will graduate 12,000 engineers, of whom 25 to 30 per cent will be called into military service immediately, H. T. Heald, president of Illinois Institute of Technology and regional adviser of engineering defense under the federal office of education, said. About 50,000, however, are estimated to be needed for the armament activity, he added, emphasizing the necessity of training both in industry and in vocational and technical schools.

Other speakers explained methods of training workers in industry and the organization and courses offered by vocational and technical schools under a program financed by a $75,500,000 congressional appropriation.

Advise Schools, Says Dooley.

C. R. Dooley, Washington, D. C., director of the training within industry program, urged the 1,000 industrial leaders present to advise the schools on the type of training needed.

"Too much emphasis is being placed on the send-off of the selectee and not enough on the return," H. D. Grant, chairman of the subcommittee on training, Chicago branch, National Metal Trades association, declared. A service bonus should rank after recognition and security, he added.

Most draftees, he declared, would rather be assured of the security of their jobs upon return than receive a few dollars from their former employer while they are gone.

Brown, Harriman Reports Decline in Total Assets

Brown Brothers, Harriman & Co., private banking firm of New York City, yesterday reported that its total assets on March 31 were $148,053,927, compared with $155,257,408 on Dec. 31, 1940, and $132,264,664 on March 31, 1940. Loans showed an increase over both of the preceding dates.

INDUSTRIAL GAS FIRM HAS BIG QUARTER PROFIT

Some Divisions Run Near Capacity.

With some department's operating close to capacity, Charles J. Haines, president of the National Cylinder Gas company, told stockholders yesterday, the company's net income before excess profits taxes amounted to nearly $560,000 in the first quarter of this year.

The annual meeting was held at the company's main offices in Chicago.

"This first quarter has been the first time since our merger with Compressed Industrial Gases, Inc., that we can get an idea of what the two companies can do together," Haines said. "So many changes and consolidations were made in the final months of last year that it was impossible to get an accurate picture of combined operations."

Extra Capacity Available.

Altho operations are at near capacity levels for some divisions, Haines added that the company still had additional capacity in other departments. The merger of the company with Compressed Industrial Gases became effective last Aug. 31.

The stockholders approved a retirement annuity plan covering past services of all employés of the company. Haines said that the estimated cost of purchasing retirement annuities for employés qualifying under the plan would be around $480,000, with $120,000 of this amount to come out of earnings of the 1940 fiscal year. He said the company plans to pay off the remainder within the next several years.

A. C. Sossong, treasurer, was elected to the board of directors filling the vacancy caused by the death of M. Keith Dunham. All retiring directors were reëlected and officers were renamed at the annual directors meeting. The company produces oxygen and other compressed gases.

Simmons Operations Rise.

Grant G. Simmons, president of the Simmons company, maker of bedding equipment, reported on the company's increased operations at the annual stockholders meeting in New York City.

"With most properties operating at capacity, I expect the Simmons company to show a substantial increase in sales and earnings in the first six months of this year," he said.

Operations and unfilled orders of the Granite City Steel company are at the highest level in the company's history, Hayward Niedringhaus, president and general manager, reported at the company's annual meeting in New York City. With sales up 14 per cent in 1940, he said that operations during last year averaged 74 per cent of capacity, against 64 per cent in 1939.

Stockholders of the City Ice and Fuel company elected Richard C. Muckerman, St. Louis, Mo., and E. F. Rosfelder, company controler, directors at the annual meeting in Cleveland, O.

BANK CLEARINGS RISE IN CITIES THRUOUT NATION

New York, April 3 (AP).—Bank clearings in the United States in the week ended April 2 exceeded the $7,000,000,000 mark for the third time this year, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

The total in 23 large cities was $7,082,798,000, a rise of 12.2 per cent over the $6,313,879,000 in the corresponding 1940 period and $690,017,000 above the preceding week.

New York city turnover of $4,207,133,000 was the largest since December, 1939, and represented an increase of 6.6 per cent over $3,945,012,000 a year ago. Chicago clearings of $387,500,000 were 12.1 per cent above the $345,600,000 a year ago. All cities reported gains over last year.

Price Boosting to Fall Heavily on Consumers

Consumers will be required to pay higher than average prices for pork, milk, butter, eggs, cheese, and poultry products, market experts predicted yesterday after the department of agriculture announced a sweeping price pegging program. In placing a "floor" under these markets, the department listed prices generally above current and seasonal levels.

Market experts declared the department's statement that "consumer prices of dairy products, eggs, and chickens should not be much different than those prevailing now" failed to take into account the fact that prices of these products had already been raised to "artificially" high levels thru federal buying.

The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation has been buying vast quantities of products since March 15. Eggs have been purchased at prices considerably above Chicago wholesale levels, market experts said.

Flush Season at Hand.

The season of flush production of eggs is at hand and for milk is just ahead. Traders said that while prices normally would be declining the government has been pushing them up. In Illinois alone, dealers said, the FSCC raised the wholesale price of eggs at country points more than 4 cents a dozen in two weeks, yet it could have bought the eggs on the Chicago market at lower prices. As a result eggs have reached the highest pre-Easter levels since 1937.

Dealers attributed the current above average price of butter to FSCC purchases of dried and evaporated milk.

While department of agriculture officials estimated that consumer prices of pork would be raised 12 to 20 per cent, traders said that pork prices are at levels that couldn't have been attained without the vast FSCC purchases of lard in the last two weeks.

Trade experts said that if dairy and poultry product prices are pegged in the spring at the same levels as in the fall substantially higher prices would be paid next winter.

Pass Along to Consumer.

They based their statements on the fact that butter, eggs, cheese, and poultry are stored in the spring when production is flush to supply the winter demand when fresh supplies are scarce. The storer, they said, depends on the difference between the low price in the spring and the high price in the winter to pay storage and insurance charges. With a pegged price this differential won't exist, they said, but will be passed on to the consumer.

The department's pegged prices compare as follows with yesterday's and last year's wholesale prices:

	Announced peg.	Yesterday's price	Year ago.
Pork, cwt.	$9.00	$8.20	$5.25
Butter, lb.	.31	.33	.27½
Eggs, doz.	.22	.21¾	.16½
Hens, lb.	.15	.19½	.15

The top price paid in the wholesale market is used for pork in the table. The butter price is on 90 score, the grade the government has purchased in past operations. Quotations used for eggs are on "firsts," the grade the FSCC has been buying recently.

Cash Prices at Peaks.

Egg futures yesterday declined 0.25 to 0.30 cent a dozen on the Chicago Mercantile exchange under heavy offerings. The October delivery showed the larger dip at 24.35 cents.

In the cash market graded qualities advanced ¼ to ½ cent to new highs for the year.

The November butter delivery closed 0.20 cent a pound lower at 34.30 cents after an early climb.

Representatives of the dried and frozen egg industry who met department of agriculture officials in Washington Wednesday disclosed yesterday the government expects to buy between 3 and 5 million cases of eggs before June, 1942.

4,000 Whiting Standard Oil Workers Get Wage Boost

More than four thousand employés of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana at its Whiting refinery were given a five cents an hour wage increase yesterday. The employés are members of the Standard Oil Employés Association, Inc., an independent union. All are employed in nonsupervisory positions.

SWEEPING FARM PRICE PEGGING PLAN DISCLOSED

12 to 20 Pct. Increase in Pork Forecast.

Washington, D. C., April 3 (AP).—Declaring that it wanted to assure ample supplies of pork, dairy, and poultry products for the United States and nations battling the axis, the department of agriculture announced today a program of price pegging for these products.

The program meant that the department was prepared to go into the commodity markets and buy sufficient amounts of the products to keep prices up to the following wholesale levels [at Chicago]:

Hogs, $9 per 100 pounds; butter, 31 cents a pound; chickens, 15 cents a pound, and eggs, 22 cents a dozen. On the basis of butter prices figures for other dairy products will be determined later.

Price Effect Weighed.

From the consumer's standpoint the prices of dairy products, eggs, and chickens should not be much different from those prevailing now, officials said.

Prices of pork and pork products, on the other hand, can be expected to advance. The $9 minimum for hogs is between $1 and $1.25 higher than present prices at Chicago. This might result in an increase of between 12 and 20 per cent in pork prices, officials said.

The federal purchases will be used, the department said, to accumulate reserve supplies of food. These supplies, it explained, could be used for transfer to the British and other countries under the lend-lease act; for release upon the market in case of "unwarranted" speculative price increases; to meet requests from the Red Cross for shipment to war refugee areas, and for direct distribution thru school lunch programs or thru state welfare departments to needy families.

Larger Production Sought.

Officials said they hoped the price-pegging would induce farmers to expand considerably. The price-pegging operations will remain in effect until June 30, 1943. The department emphasized that the prices were "minimums" at which it would support markets and said these prices should be remunerative to producers.

The corn loan program for 1941 and 1942, which puts a bottom of 61 cents a bushel under the market, will be continued.

The department announced that no marketing quotas would be invoked on the 1941 corn crop. This was intended to make ample supplies of feeds available to farmers desiring to expand production of livestock and poultry products.

Officials said that hog production was below last year's level. Present prices in relation to corn prices had, they said, discouraged hog production.

Corn Used as Brake.

The department announced that it would continue making government-owned corn available to producers at the loan rate plus carrying charges. This policy was designed, officials said, as a brake on any tendency for corn prices to advance beyond current levels. They explained that should corn prices advance, the effects of the price pegging operations would be nullified.

The department said it would allow farmers in the midwestern commercial corn producing area to increase their 1941 corn acreage up to their "usual" acreage. Such farmers would be eligible for corn loans, full parity payments, and payments for soil conservation practices, but would not receive conservation payments allowed farmers planting within smaller AAA corn allotments. Parity payments are designed to give farmers the equivalent of preworld war purchasing power.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

A mild rise of 5 to 10 cents in the market for hogs at the stockyards yesterday brought prices to the highest April levels in three years. The various classes sold mostly from $2.75 to $3.20 a hundred pounds higher than on the corresponding day in 1940.

Farmers received $8.20 a hundred pounds for top loads of stock, against $5.15 the same day last year. The average at $7.80, compared with $4.90 a year ago.

Altho some steers and yearlings lost 15 to 25 cents of the recent price gains, returns from most cattle were above any corresponding day in four years. The general level of steer prices stood about 15 per cent higher than in 1940.

COTTONSEED OIL AND HIDES REACH 1941 PRICE PEAKS

Profit Selling Cuts Gains of Many Staples.

Trading in commodities for future delivery increased yesterday and some staples posted fair gains before profit selling brought a reaction. Hides and cottonseed oil reached new 1941 high prices and Santos coffee, rubber, and wool tops were higher. Copper, cocoa, and silk receded moderately, while domestic sugar and lead were narrowly irregular.

Hide futures, closing 0.09 cent a pound lower to 0.02 cent higher, went to a top 14.28 cents in the June position before dropping to 14.08 cents bid.

Cottonseed Oil Higher.

Cottonseed oil futures were unchanged to 0.16 cent a pound higher, down from the best levels, after a flurry of selling induced by reports the government would seek to expand hog production for export. May deliveries moved to 8.44 cents and ended at 8.33 cents.

Reports of the seizure of British ships by Japanese in the far east gave speculative support to both wool tops and rubber, traders in the former staple considering the possibility of curtailed Australian wool imports.

Wool Up 0.6 to 0.9 Cent.

Wool tops, also influenced by strength in other markets, advanced 0.6 to 0.9 cent a pound to $1.25 bid for May and the cash price added a cent at $1.26½. Rubber futures were unchanged to 0.15 cent higher at 22.18 cents a pound for May.

Copper declined 0.09 to 0.15 cent a pound to 11.40 cents for May futures. Lead futures were 0.03 cent higher to 0.01 cent lower at 5.71 cents a pound for that contract. Cash metals continued firm.

REPORT NEW USE FOR METHOD OF PLATING METALS

Corronizing Is Applied to Screen Making.

Progress in commercial application of a metal coating process which makes use of nickel to reduce the amount of tin and zinc needed to protect the surfaces of metal products is indicated by adaptation of the process to the manufacture of wire screen sold by a major retailing organization.

The process, called corronizing, was developed by Standard Steel Spring company of Coraopolis, Pa., and was announced early in 1939. At that time application had been limited to nickel-zinc plating to protect metal surfaces against corrosion.

In 1940, however, extension of corronizing to provide a nickel-tin plating method that would conserve tin was announced. Government and industrial leaders had begun to worry over a possible shortage of tin and zinc as a result of the European war, and the new application of the process was described as a contribution toward saving of those metals.

Said to Use Little Nickel.

Since then, acute shortages have developed in zinc and tin, tending to encourage use of the corronizing process. However, one hitch has appeared—nickel, too, has become scarce. But even with that drawback, the new process still can contribute to alleviation of scarcities, its sponsors assert, because it uses a relatively small quantity of nickel to replace a much larger amount of tin or zinc.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. offers corronized zinc plated wire screen in its current catalog and guarantees the screen for 15 years. Sears, it is reported, takes the entire output of a company which produces the corronized screen under license from Standard Spring Steel, and is studying application of the process to other products which it retails.

Electroplating Is Used.

Metal which is to be corronized is first electroplated with an extremely thin layer of nickel, over which a layer of tin or of zinc is applied by the electroplating method. A special heat treating process follows.

The process contrasts with the usual method of dipping the steel into a bath of molten tin or zinc. Standard Steel Spring claims its process permits regulation of the thickness of a tin coating to 1/100,000th of an inch, and that corronizing can cut by 65 to 90 per cent the amount of tin needed for such products as tin cans.

In normal times, half of the tin used in America goes to cover thin steel sheets of which tin cans, bottle caps, collapsible tubes and similar items are made.

BOND TURNOVER SOARS AS RAIL ISSUES REVIVE

New York, April 3 (AP).—Bond market activity stepped up today to the fastest pace since early this year as numerous rails and a few others advanced fractions to more than a point.

Reversal of the down trend of Tuesday and Wednesday was effected with little difficulty almost at the start of trading when sizable overnight buying orders uncovered a scarcity of offerings in some favored issues.

From then on it was an orderly advance, interrupted only momentarily by additional profit selling. At the close the more active rail loans and some others, especially utilities, were at the day's best prices.

The Associated Press average of 20 rails was at a new 1941 high at 66.1, up .6 of a point for the day.

In the scramble to buy speculative corporate bonds, United States government obligations were neglected. Activity was light both in the stock exchange and over the counter. The trend was lower with closing prices down 4-32 to 6-32 in the longer term treasury group.

U. S. TO 'DEFROST' FROZEN FUNDS FOR JUGO-SLAVS

Morgenthau Tells Check of Axis Assets.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. today expressed hope that he could soon release the 50 million dollars in frozen Jugo-Slav assets in this country.

Altho Morgenthau said that final decision on the matter rests with the state department, his comments were interpreted as a definite indication that this government has been assured of a firm antiaxis stand by Jugo-Slavia. Otherwise, it was reasoned, the administration would not consider release of the funds, impounded by the treasury when the old régime in Jugo-Slavia signed a pact with the axis powers.

Likes Word "Defrosting."

Morgenthau asserted that the word "defrosting" rather than "unfreezing" probable would apply to release of the funds, as the action would consist of complete liberation of the assets rather than a general license authorizing withdrawal of funds which have been frozen.

The latter procedure was followed in the case of funds of British allies previously subjected to licensing by the government.

Reports that a Canadian-American currency stabilization agreement is imminent, with the Canadian dollar being pegged at par with the American dollar, were given a qualified denial by Morgenthau. Pointing out that the Canadian finance minister had denied the reports, Morgenthau said that he would let that denial "ride without contradiction."

Check Axis Power Assets.

Meanwhile, as tension increased over the United States' seizure of German and Italian ships, Morgenthau asserted that all legal aspects of the seizures, together with their possible forefeiture to the United States government, were under study.

Reports increased of likely confiscation of American investments in Germany in retaliation for the seizures, against which Germany and Italy have vigorously protested.

A survey showed that approximately 432 million dollars in American assets in Germany are at stake if the Nazis should decide on confiscation. German assets in the United States amount to only about 107 million dollars.

Plant Investments Large.

The investments in Germany include 228 million dollars in direct investments, such as plants, real estate, and other properties; about 165 millions invested in German bonds, and 39½ millions in short term funds, such as bank balances. Of the German assets in the United States approximately 100 millions are direct investments and the remainder are short term credits.

American assets in Italy amount to about 145 million dollars, including 70 millions in direct investments, 73 millions in Italian bonds, and about 2 millions in short term funds. DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Geese Pair Off

April 3, 1941.

THE Canada geese on the Wheaton farm have paired off and are thinking about raising their goslings. It is possible to distinguish the confident ganders from their mates because the female wild geese are shy while the males keep their heads up, watching everything that goes on and ready to fight for their mates and their nesting sites. Now that the ice has left the big pond and the geese are preparing to nest, there is a definite atmosphere of spring around the open water.

Another obvious sign of the new season was the arrival of a flock of wild ducks. Every year various species of wild ducks sight the inviting aquatic refuges on the farm and drop down to enjoy a little rest and a few free meals. The fact that the geese are very much at home on the pond and that a few farm ducks usually are swimming around is invitation enough to the wild birds, and they swing into the big pond without much hesitation.

Birds Arrive from South.

Both in the fields and in the woods there are a number of wild birds that recently arrived from the south. The songs of these migrants is one of the most noticeable signs of spring's advance. Two weeks ago the woodlots were quiet. This week the birds are in the woods and again are heralding the new season. Robins are scattered over the farm.

The songster that typifies the first warm days of April and budding trees is the song sparrow, a species that came to the farm this week. This cheerful sparrow always furnishes some of the most delightful bird music. One male sparrow that we watched was bubbling over with song while perched in the top of a wild plum tree.

Beneath him on the ground 20 or 25 juncos flashed their white outer tail feathers as they scurried around looking for food. There are scores of juncos still on the farm. This week we counted 40 during a hike thru one field and woodlot.

Put Up Bird Houses.

The men on the farm are going to put up their purple martin houses this week-end, because from the south side has come the first report of martins in this area. Howard Shannon, who lives in Blue Island, reports that he has several pairs of martins in the house in his yard. Every year martins arrive on the far south side of the city before they are reported in the west or north sections but the south side report indicates that residents in that part of the city should have their houses up now and that martin fans in other sections of Chicagoland should be all set to receive these graceful fliers.

The martins that arrived at Shannon's house didn't give much advance warning. A pair of scouts came at 8:30 a. m. on April 1, and the same afternoon three pairs of birds moved in. They came to his yard earlier than in 1939 or 1940. They arrived on April 7 both those years.

AETNA CASUALTY.

I would appreciate receiving a summary of the history and financial results of the Aetna Casualty and Surety company.—O. C.

Answer: Aetna Casualty and Surety company, Hartford, Conn., began business on a small scale in 1884 as the Hartford Equitable Indemnity company. It was reorganized in 1907 and its present name was taken in 1917. The company is a leading unit in its field and is a member of the fleet of insurance enterprises headed by the Aetna Life Insurance company.

Results of the company's operations in recent years follow:

	Assets.	Policyholders' surplus.	Premiums written.
1936	$47,254,600	$19,528,000	$26,613,000
1937	51,954,000	17,408,000	31,291,000
1938	60,061,000	20,560,000	33,652,000
1939	66,693,000	23,520,000	34,632,000
1940	71,000,000	25,982,000	37,268,000

Aetna Casualty is a stock company with capitalization of 30,000 shares of $100 par value held by more than 1,800 stockholders.

SCOTT PAPER.

Has the Scott Paper company revised its earnings statement as a result of the excess profits tax amendments?—M. W.

Answer: The Scott Paper company reports that a re-estimate of its excess profits tax liability indicated that its net income for 1940 should be revised upward by approximately $140,000. The gain resulted from the application of recent amendments to the excess profits tax law, which relaxed some of the terms of the original act.

In its 1940 annual report, issued before the amendments were enacted, the company estimated its excess profits tax at $159,673 and its net income at $1,736,522, equal after preferred dividends to $2.22 a common share. Reduction of the tax to about $19,673 would raise net income for 1940 to approximately $1,876,522 or $2.43 a share, compared with $1,946,402 or $2.66 a share in 1939.

BIRDS EYE.

What company owns the Birds Eye Frosted Foods business? Is it a profitable venture? How many stores carry Birds Eye foods?—F. H.

Answer: Birds Eye Frosted Foods are processed by a division of the General Foods corporation. Development and overhead costs have kept the division from operating profitably. Clarence Francis, General Foods' president, asserted in his annual report that "Birds Eye still is in the development stage. It is not contributing to our earnings." Retail outlets for Birds Eye numbered approximately 10,000 at the end of 1940, compared with 5,798 at the end of 1939.

MARCH NEW CAR SALES IN COUNTY PLACED AT 18,324

Old '29 Record Exceeded by More Than 3,000.

Final figures on automobile sales in Cook county during March disclosed that a total of 18,324 new cars were delivered to purchasers in the area, establishing an all-time high. As predicted in THE TRIBUNE on Wednesday, sales passed the 18,000 mark by a substantial number. The previous record was 14,964, established in July, 1929.

The March sales boosted the first quarter figures to a total of 42,021 as compared with 31,487 in the first quarter of 1940.

Deliveries made during the last few days of March caused a change in position of a number of makes from the March 28 standings which THE TRIBUNE printed on Wednesday.

Buick Climbs to Third.

Buick with a total of 2,031, moved up to third position, which it also holds for the first quarter of 1941. At the end of the month Chevrolet and Plymouth occupied first and second positions, respectively, positions which they had held earlier.

Ford moved back to fourth position and Pontiac to fifth, with all the others in the first ten places on March 28 ending the month unchanged. The final March figures for the first ten showed the following: Chevrolet, 3,659; Plymouth, 2,271; Buick, 2,031; Ford, 1,892; Pontiac, 1,826; Oldsmobile, 1,416; Dodge, 1,171; Chrysler, 859; Nash, 492, and De Soto, 471. These ten held the same positions in sales for the first quarter.

THE TRIBUNE'S report is based on returns tabulated by the Bureau of Motor Advice, a semiofficial agency which obtains new car registrations from the office of the secretary of state at Springfield.

SALES SHOW BIG GAIN ON VARIANCE IN EASTER DATES

Sales of department stores in the United States last week exceeded a year ago by 34 per cent, the federal reserve board announced yesterday, but said that differences in Easter dates were largely responsible.

Chicago and 7th district trade surpassed the former 1941 peak levels established in the preceding week. The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago said that Chicago stores did 5 per cent more business than a week earlier and 22 per cent more than a year earlier. The 7th district's gains were 3 and 25 per cent respectively.

For the last four weeks the national gain has been 9 per cent over 1940. Chicago sales were up 5 per cent and 7th district sales 11 per cent.

BUSINESS LOANS OF BANKS CLIMB; IDLE FUNDS DIP

Reserve Board Reports Rise in Circulation.

Banks had less idle lendable money on hand Wednesday than a week earlier, business borrowings in Chicago and New York City increased, and more money was in circulation nationally, the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

Excess reserves of reserve system member banks dropped $70,000,000 to a total of $5,940,000,000, the first dip below the $6,000,000,000 mark in nearly a year. Member banks in Chicago reported they had $549,000,000 of business loans outstanding, $12,000,000 more than on the preceding Wednesday. In New York, such loans increased $9,000,000 to a total of $2,073,000,000.

In both cities, loans to brokers and dealers in securities showed a decline.

The amount of money in circulation thruout the nation increased $102,000,000 to a total of $8,944,000,000. The gain as compared with the circulation a year earlier was $1,423,000,000.
